The Process and Politics of Defense Acquisition David S. Sorenson, 2008-12-30 The United States government invests billions each year on equipping armed forces with the most advanced military equipment The root of the American defense acquisition system is driven by a combination of national interests and domestic political requirements While fundamentally the defense acquisition system has produced results for the United States military improvements are needed in order to continue to move forward in advancing military tactics and technology Exploring both the systemic and political levels of the system Sorenson argues that the United States will fall behind if the current defense acquisition system is not reformed This book brings together elements of this complicated system such as national security requirements and the changes that are needed in both the structural and political pillars A combination of political interests and the needs of the military serviced by an ever shrinking defense industry make a genuine acquisition reform even more difficult resulting in reform that is more symbolic than genuine

Propaganda and counter-terrorism Emma Briant, 2015-01-01 This book offers a unique account of British and United States government's attempts to adapt their propaganda strategies to global terrorist threats in a post 9 11 media environment It discusses Anglo American coordination and domestic struggles that brought in far reaching changes to propaganda These changes had implications for the structures of legitimacy yet occurred largely in isolation from public debate and raise questions regarding their governance The author argues that independent and public reexamination of continuing strategy development is essential for government accountability and the formation of systems and policies that both respect citizens and build constructive foreign relations The book's themes will appeal to a wide readership including scholars and professionals It draws on illuminating interviews with high profile British US sources including journalists PR professionals and key foreign policy defence and intelligence personnel Embraced and Engaged Ron Kirkemo, 2010-01-01 What do Joseph Joab Jeremiah and the Beatitudes have to do with a Christian young person in American foreign policy Can a Christian be a diplomat a spy a defense industry scientist Can a Christian impact foreign affairs as a member of Congress Amid counsels for Christians to withdraw from the worlds of government and its power and self interest Ron Kirkemo argues a person embraced by God s grace should be engaged in the nation s purposes and the movement of history Through such engagement God s children can impact history but they will inevitably face ethical issues This book is not about the policy of foreign policy but about people conducting policy the ethical issues they may and will face and strategies for keeping one s First Love their first love Is government ordained by God or history a movement of fate If not God s grace becomes a central factor in life Is America headed the way of Babylon If not or if maybe then Christians need to engage the intellectual and operational aspect of policy to prevent that decline and prevail against enemies Is there a disconnect between the traits for success in foreign affairs and the servant leadership model espoused by many Christian colleges and universities Kirkemo engages these issues and urges students to consider the Rhodes Ideal for shaping their years in college This book will at times provoke controversy but it always hopes to inspire and enlighten as it interprets history and Scripture describes professional life gives insight offers counsel and affirms one s openness to God and growth in spiritual life Defence Industrial Cooperation in the European Union Daniel Fiott, 2019-03-28 This book provides an empirical understanding of how EU level defence industrial cooperation functions in practice Using the Liberal Intergovernmental theoretical model the book argues that while national economic preferences are an essential factor of government interests they only explain part of the dynamic that leads to the development of defence industrial policy at EU level Moving beyond a simple adumbration of economic preferences it shows how the EU s institutional framework and corpus of law are used by governments to reaffirm their position as the ultimate arbiter and promoter of national economic preferences in the defence industrial sector To this end the work asks why and how EU member state governments European defence firms and EU institutions developed EU level defence industrial policy between 2003 and 2009 The book also analyses significant policy developments including the establishment of a European Defence Agency and two EU Directives on equipment transfers and defence procurement This book will be of much interest to students of EU policy defence studies security studies and International Relations in general American Book Publishing Record ,2007 Naval History ,2007 Choice ,2007 Emissions Trading, an Exercise in Reforming Pollution Policy Thomas H. With Honor Dale Van Atta, 2008-04-29 In 1968 at the peak of the Vietnam War centrist Congressman Melvin Laird R WI agreed to serve as Richard Nixon s secretary of defense It was not Laird knew a move likely to endear him to the American public but as he later said Nixon couldn t find anybody else who wanted the damn job For the next four years Laird deftly navigated the morass of the war he had inherited Lampooned as a missile head but decisive in crafting an exit strategy he doggedly pursued his program of Vietnamization initiating the withdrawal of U S military personnel and gradually ceding combat responsibilities to South Vietnam In fighting to bring the troops home faster pressing for more humane treatment of POWs and helping to end the draft Laird employed a powerful blend of disarming Midwestern candor and Washington savvy as he sought a high moral road bent on Nixon s oft stated and politically instrumental goal of peace with honor The first book ever to focus on Laird s legacy this authorized biography reveals his central and often unrecognized role in managing the crisis of national identity sparked by the Vietnam War and the challenges ethical and political that confronted him along the way Drawing on exclusive interviews with Laird Henry Kissinger Gerald Ford and numerous others author Dale Van Atta offers a sympathetic portrait of a man striving for open government in an atmosphere fraught with secrecy Van Atta illuminates the inner workings of high politics Laird s behind the scenes sparring with Kissinger over policy his decisions to ignore Nixon s wilder directives his formative impact on arms control and health care his key role in the selection of Ford for vice president his frustration with the country s abandonment of Vietnamization and in later years his unheeded warning to Donald Rumsfeld that it s a helluva lot easier to get into a war than to get out of one Best Books for Regional Special Interests selected by the American Association of School Librarians and Best Books for Special Interests selected by the Public Library Association

Doing More for Less? New Evidence on Lobbying and Government Contracts Ms.Senay Agca,Ms.Deniz O Igan,Fuhong Li,Ms.Prachi Mishra,2019-08-09 Why do firms lobby This paper exploits the unanticipated sequestration of federal budget accounts in March 2013 that reduced the availability of government funds disbursed through procurement contracts to shed light on this question Following this event firms with little or no prior exposure to the federal accounts that experienced cuts reduced their lobbying spending In contrast firms with a high degree of exposure to the cuts maintained and even increased their lobbying spending This suggests that when the same number of contractors competed for a piece of a reduced pie the more affected firms likely intensified their lobbying efforts to distinguish themselves from the others and improve their chances of procuring a larger share of the smaller overall These findings are stronger in government dependent sectors and when there is intense competition The evidence is more consistent with a rent seeking explanation for lobbying

Only the Most Able Stephen M. Duncan,2012-10-05 The nature of the threats facing America today has drastically reduced the margin for error in senior political appointments In Only the Most Able Stephen M Duncan draws on a lifetime of military public service executive and legal experience to critique the political appointment process focusing on departments that deal with national security the Department of Defense and the Department of Homeland Security He looks at how the current methods for making appointments put people in positions for which they are not qualified and not prepared Rather he argues appointments should be made on the basis of one s qualifications and merits those who lead our military should be people with military experience and those who must make executive decisions should be people who have served and excelled in an executive capacity Identifying the successful traits of leaders such as Winston Churchill General George Marshall nationally known business executives and others Duncan argues with unusual insight and candor why the quality and performance of senior political appointees who are charged even in part with the nation's security must be improved and offers specific recommendations on how this can be accomplished This timely book will appeal to Americans of all political persuasions as well as those with particular interests in political and military history

The Defence Industry in East-Central Europe Judit Kiss, 1997 In 1989-90 the collapse of state socialism and the end of the Cold War brought dramatic changes for the defence industries of East Central Europe Initially it seemed that the resources devoted to the Cold War confrontation might become available for investment in non military economic and social progress However by 1994 this optimism had given way to recognition that the transformation would involve significant costs and could not be accomplished quickly The Defence Industry in East Central Europe charts the development of the industries of the Visegrad countries Czechoslovakia and its successor states the Czech Republic and Slovakia Poland and Hungary In the first part national case studies underline the different approaches to reform adopted in the individual countries The second part uses unique information derived from extensive interviews at enterprises in each of the four countries to examine the transformation of industry from a producer perspective

Aid to Africa Gordon Cumming, 2017-07-05 The end of the Cold War forced Western donors to rethink their aid relations with Africa This book looks at two of these donors France and Britain and asks whether the development programmes of these former colonial powers have undergone radical changes since the end of the Old World Order It focuses on the introduction of a controversial new regime trend political conditionality and uses policy models to illustrate the driving forces behind this new development strategy and explain substantial differences in France and Britain's practice of political conditionality in Togo and Kenya Overall this volume the first comparative study of French and British aid in the post Cold War period offers fresh insights into the evolution of the political assistance agenda and into deeper forces at work within the French and UK policy processes
