

THE LOCAL WATER BUDGET

Before calculating a local water budget, it is necessary to understand the terminology that is involved. Look at the water budget below and notice the letters representing the months of the year across the top of the chart. Next, note the letters down the left-hand side of the chart, beginning at the top.

- P is precipitation. This represents the average amount of precipitation for a specific month in millimeters.
- AE refers to the actual (or true amount of) evapotranspiration that occurred for the month. Ideally, this should be equal to the potential evapotranspiration but may be less if soil moisture storage is depleted.
- PE is potential evapotranspiration. This is the maximum amount of water lost through evaporation and transpiration that could occur under given temperature and precipitation conditions.
- P-PE is a calculation of gain through precipitation minus potential losses from potential evapotranspiration. This may be a positive or a negative number. If it is positive, it means there is more than enough moisture income to fulfill the evapotranspiration requirements. If the number is negative, it means there is insufficient precipitation to fulfill the moisture needed. This deficiency will have to be supplied by another source.
- ST stands for soil moisture storage, or the amount of moisture that can be held in the soil. This amount can be compared with a savings account. When $P - PE$ results in a negative number, the deficiency can be corrected by withdrawal of moisture from this storage. It is imperative, however, not to confuse this soil moisture storage with groundwater or the water table. They are not the same. Also, moisture storage capacity varies widely among thin soils with little water holding capacity and thick soils with larger than average capacity. A limit of 150 mm of water
