Thinking about Contradictions Venanzio Raspa, 2017-12-04 This volume examines the entire logical and philosophical production of Nicolai A Vasil'ev studying his life and activities as a historian and man of letters Readers will gain a comprehensive understanding of this influential Russian logician philosopher psychologist and poet The author frames Vasil'ev's work within its historical and cultural context He takes into consideration both the situation of logic in Russia and the state of logic in Western Europe from the end of the 19th century to the beginning of the 20th Following this the book considers the attempts to develop non Aristotelian logics or ideas that present affinities with imaginary logic It then looks at the contribution of traditional logic in elaborating non classical ideas This logic allows the author to deal with incomplete objects just as imaginary logic does with contradictory ones Both logics are objects of interesting analysis by modern researchers This volume will appeal to graduate students and scholars interested not only in Vasil'ev's work but also in the history of non classical logics
A History of Modern

Political Thought in East Central Europe Balázs Trencsényi, Michal Kopeček, Luka Lisjak Gabrijelčić, Maria Falina, Mónika Baár, Maciej Janowski, 2018-10-18 A History of Modern Political Thought in East Central Europe is a synthetic work authored by an international team of researchers covering twenty national cultures and 250 years. It goes beyond the conventional nation-centered narratives and presents a novel vision especially sensitive to the cross-cultural entanglement of political ideas and discourses. Its principal aim is to make these cultures available for the global market of ideas and revisit some of the basic assumptions about the history of modern political thought and modernity as such. The present volume is a sequel to Volume I: Negotiating Modernity in the Long Nineteenth Century. It begins with the end of the Great War, depicting the colorful intellectual landscape of the interwar period and the increasing political and ideological radicalization culminating in the Second World War. Taking the war experience both as a breaking point but in many ways also a transmitter of previous intellectual traditions, it maps the intellectual paradigms and debates of the immediate postwar years marked by a negotiation between the democratic and communist agendas as well as the subsequent processes of political and cultural Stalinization. Subsequently, the post-Stalinist period is analyzed with a special focus on the various attempts of de-Stalinization and the rise of revisionist Marxism and other critical projects culminating in the carnivalesque but also extremely dramatic year of 1968. This volume is followed by Volume II: Negotiating Modernity in the Short Twentieth Century and Beyond, Part II: 1968-2018.

Legacies of Violence: Eastern Europe's First World War Jochen Böhrer, Włodzimierz Borodziej, Joachim von Puttkamer, 2014-08-20 The First World War began in the Balkans and it was fought as fiercely in the East as it was in the West. Fighting persisted in the East for almost a decade, radically transforming the political and social order of the entire continent. The specifics of the Eastern war, such as mass deportations, ethnic cleansing, and the radicalization of military, paramilitary, and revolutionary violence, have only recently become the focus of historical research. This volume situates the Long First World War on the Eastern Front, 1912-1923, in the hundred years from the mid-19th to the mid-20th century and explores the legacies of violence within this context.

 Segert, 2017-09-13 Following the end of the Cold War and European Union enlargement in what sense does Eastern Europe continue to exist as a meaningful geo political concept In addressing this question contributors to this volume Alex Cistelean Robert Bideleux Katalin Miklóssy and Dieter Segert tease out the implications for an Area Studies approach to the region
 They examine its contradictory situation within discourses of orientalisation on one hand posited as the underdeveloped pendant to its western neighbours on the other largely Christian by religion and an integral part of a continent that dominated the world They uncover the roots of area studies in the colonial paradigm by which great powers promote the creation of predictive problem solving knowledge that is immediately apprehendable for decision makers helping them to take advantage of a region's resources and strategic position but which tends to homogenise the region's geography and history. For critical inquiry they argue the challenge is to delineate transparently the reasons underlying Eastern Europe's construction as an area of study to identify the epistemological interests of motivated organisations such as funding agencies and political bodies and to counter the ongoing orientalism of Western perspectives toward the East. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary Central and Eastern Europe. Marija Gimbutas Rasa

Navickaitė, 2022-12-23 This book is a biography and reception history of the Lithuanian American archaeologist Marija Gimbutas 1921–1994. It presents the first transnational account of Gimbutas' life based on historical research and an original examination of the impact of her ideas in various feminist contexts both academic and popular. At the core of this book is a success story of an Eastern European woman who survived both Soviet and Nazi occupations of her homeland, lived as a displaced person in postwar Germany and built her career and scholarly authority within the androcentric American academia. At the same time it is also a story of a controversy which followed Gimbutas' theory of Old Europe, a prehistoric civilization characterized by peacefulness, egalitarianism, women's leadership and the worship of the Great Goddess. First introduced in 1974, this theory inspired women's movements worldwide but was harshly criticized by other archaeologists. This book examines the various intellectual contexts, feminist, nationalist, theoretical, in which Gimbutas' ideas were formed, received and interpreted as well as appropriated for different political goals. This timely study will appeal to scholars and students in the following fields: history of archaeology, prehistoric archaeology, gender studies, feminist studies, women's history, Baltic studies and religion and spirituality. Chapters 4, 5 and 6 of this book are freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license. The Routledge Linguistics Encyclopedia Kirsten Malmkjaer, 2009-12-04 An encyclopedia covering the major and subsidiary areas of linguistics and applied linguistics. It includes the seventy-nine entries providing coverage of the topics and sub-topics of the field. It is suitable for specialists and non-specialists alike.

Modern Hungarian Political Thought Zoltán Balázs, Csaba Molnár, 2024-10-31 This book introduces the reader into the discursive political pluralism of modern Hungary roughly from the mid-19th century with a particular emphasis on the spectrum of contemporary political thought. The book relies on Michael Freeden's method of ideology analysis focusing on concepts, principles, values as well as interrelations but it puts a greater emphasis on nonverbal traditions as bearers of political thought to explain how political pluralism can subsist in periods of dictatorship. Through this analysis the authors demonstrate how and why contemporary Hungarian political pluralism is a reflection both on the current trends in Western political thought and on its own past. The Soviet Past in the Post-Socialist Present Melanie Ilic, Dalia

Leinarte, 2015-07-03 This collection examines practical and ethical issues inherent in the application of oral history and memory studies to research about the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe since the collapse of the Soviet bloc. Case studies highlight the importance of ethical good practice including the reflexive interrogation of the interviewer and researcher and aspects of gender and national identity Researchers use oral history to analyze present day recollections of the Soviet past thereby extending our understanding beyond archival records official rhetoric and popular mythology Oral history explores individual life stories but this has sometimes resulted in rather incomplete incoherent inconsistent or illogical narratives Oral history therefore presents the researcher with a number of methodological and ethical dilemmas including the interpretation of silence in biographical accounts This collection links the discussion of oral history ethics with that of memory studies Memories are shaped by factors that may be simultaneously both consecutive and disrupted In written accounts and responses to interview questions respondents sometimes display nostalgia for the Soviet past or conversely may seek to de-mythologize the realities of Soviet rule Case studies explore what to do when interview subjects and memoirists consciously sub consciously or unconsciously forget aspects of their own past or themselves seek to take control of the research process
