Lombre Du Soleil French Edition:

Representative French Poetry (Second Edition) Victor E Graham, 1965-12-15 The making of a reasonably comprehensive anthology which is intended to do more than reflect the personal literary tastes of the anthologists is not an easy task but is certainly an exciting and challenging one It is important of course if it is to have coherence and validity that its audience be reasonably well defined and kept in mind as the selection proceeds The anthology offered by Professor Graham has been prepared carefully to meet the needs of students reading French poetry while in the early years of their university course It does not attempt to be a bulky sample of the whole field of French poetry but rather to be a judicious selection of the works of poets who may be described as typical of the best in their age From each of them have been included some well known selections which students must always meet and also some less well known which are nevertheless equal in quality and whose relative unfamiliarity may give them a special appeal to instructors A particularly interesting and valuable feature of the anthology is that the editor has in a good many cases chosen poems on similar themes from different authors and students will thus be able to compare styles of different centuries and different poets as applied to certain specific subjects For example the selection includes Deschamps Balade on Renart et le Corbaut and La Fontaine s Le Corbeau et le Renard Lamartine s and also Leconte de Lisle s Le Lac

Cultural Encounters in Translated Children's Literature offers a detailed and innovative model of analysis for examining the complexities of translating children's literature and sheds light on the interpretive choices at work in moving texts from one culture to another. The core of the study addresses the issue of how images of a nation locale or country are constructed in translated children's literature with the translation of Australian children's fiction into French serving as a case study. Issues examined include the selection of books for translation, the relationship between children's books and the national and international publishing industry, the packaging of translations and the importance of titles, blurbs and covers, the linguistic and stylistic features specific to translating for children, intertextual references, the function of the translation in the target culture, didactic and pedagogical aims, euphemistic language and explicitation and literariness in translated texts. The findings of the case study suggest that the most common constructs of Australia in French translations reveal a preponderance of traditional Eurocentric signifiers that identify Australia with the outback, the antipodes, the exotic, the wild, the unknown, the void, the end of the world, the young and innocent nation and the Far West. Contemporary signifiers that construct Australia as urban, multicultural, Aboriginal, worldly and inharmonious are seriously under-represented. The study also shows that French translations are conventional, conservative and didactic, showing preference for an exotic rather than local specificity with systematic manipulation of Australian referents betraying a perception of Australia as antipodean, rural, exoticism. The significance of the study lies in underscoring the manner in which a given culture is constructed in another cultural milieu especially through translated children's literature.
