London Docklands Urban Design In An Age Of Deregulation:

London Docklands Brian C. Edwards, 2013-10-22 London Docklands Urban Design in an Age of Deregulation discusses the process and products of the first 10 years of the London Docklands. The book is comprised of 10 chapters that are organized into three parts. The first part talks about the potentials of the London Docklands. The second part presents the area of studies which are the Isle of Dogs, Surrey Docks, Wapping, and the Royal Docks. The last part deals with the observations and speculations. The text will be a great source to urban planners, particularly those who are involved in projects that deal with cities that are in close proximity to large bodies of water. Blazing the Neoliberal Trail Timothy P. R. Weaver, 2016-01-07 Blazing the Neoliberal Trail asks how and why urban policy and politics have become dominated over the past three decades by pro-market thinking. Drawing on extensive archival research, Timothy P. R. Weaver shows how elites became persuaded by neoliberal ideas and remade political institutions in their image. City, Capital and Water Patrick Malone, 2013-09-05 The urban waterfront is widely regarded as a frontier of contemporary urban development, attracting both investment and publicity. City Capital and Water provides a detailed account of the redevelopment of urban waterfronts in nine cities around the world: London, Tokyo, Kobe, Osaka, Hong Kong, Sydney, Toronto, Dublin, and Amsterdam. The case studies cover different frameworks for development in terms of the role of planning approaches to financing, partnership agreements, state sponsorship, and development profits. The analysis also demonstrates the effects of economic globalization, deregulation, the marginalization of planning, and the manipulation of development processes by property and political interests. Remaking Planning Tim Brindley, Yvonne Rydin, Gerry Stoker, 2005-08-04 Remaking Planning challenges the common misconception that planning under the Conservative government has been dismantled and abandoned to market forces. This new edition of a very well received text brings the original study up to date with an analysis of how planning in the 1990s has responded to continuing economic restructuring, political fragmentation, and social change, and developed a new awareness of uncertainty and risk. The book illustrates how planning remains as a never-ending attempt to reconcile the demands of economic efficiency with those of democratic legitimacy. British Urban Policy Rob Imrie, Huw Thomas, 1999-04-28 This updated edition of British Urban Policy provides a comprehensive account of the policies, programmes, and effects of one of the most controversial urban policy programmes ever brought to bear upon British cities. The authors place the policies and practices of the urban development corporations (UDCs) in the wider sociopolitical context of evolving urban policy, present case studies of eight UDCs, and explore the legacies of the UDCs and the evolving framework for urban policy into the millennium. Transforming Urban Waterfronts Gene Desfor, Jennefer Laidley, Quentin Stevens, Dirk Schubert, 2010-10-04 In port cities around the world, waterfront development projects have been hailed both as spaces of promise and as crucial territorial wedges in twenty-first century competitive growth strategies. Frequently, these mega-projects have been intended to transform derelict docklands into communities of hope with sustainable urban economies intended to both compete in and support globally networked hierarchies of cities This collection engages with major theoretical debates and empirical findings on the ways waterfronts transform and have been transformed in port cities in North and South America Europe the Caribbean It is organized around the themes of fixities built environments institutional and regulatory structures and cultural practices and flows information labor capital energy and knowledge which are key categories for understanding processes of change By focusing on these fixities and flows the contributors to this volume develop new insights for understanding both historical and current cases of change on urban waterfronts those special areas of cities where land and water meet As such it will be a valuable resource for teaching faculty students and any audience interested in a broad scope of issues within the field of urban studies Megaprojects for

Megacities John Landis, 2022-12-08 Megaprojects for Megacities is a collection of 14 international case studies of transportation urban development and environmental megaprojects completed during the last ten years in North America Asia and Europe It goes beyond the previous megaproject literature to look at how and why each project was conceived planned engineered financed and delivered and at how particular planning and delivery practices shaped outcomes

Urban Design and the British Urban Renaissance John Punter, 2009-10-01 Are Britain's cities attractive places in which to live work and play Asking that question this is a critical review of how the design dimension of the Urban Renaissance strategy was developed and applied based on expert academic assessments of progress in Britain's thirteen largest cities The case studies are preceded by a dissection of New Labour's renaissance agenda and concluded by a synthesis of achievements and failings Exploring the implications of this strategy for the future of urban planning and design this is a must read for students practitioners of these subjects and for all those who wish to improve the quality of the British urban environment

Non-Plan: Essays on Freedom, Participation and Change in Modern Architecture and Urbanism Jonathan Hughes, Simon Sadler, 2013-01-11 Non Plan explores ways of involving people in the design of their environments a goal which transgresses political categories of right and left Attempts to circumvent planning bureaucracy and architectural inertia have ranged from free market enterprise zones to self build housing and from squatting to sophisticated technologies of prefabrication Yet all have shared in a desire to let people shape the built environment they want to live and work in How can buildings better reflect the needs of their inhabitants How can cities better facilitate the work and recreation of their many populations Modernism had promised a functionalist approach to resolving the architectural needs of the twentieth century yet the design of cities and buildings often appears to confound the needs of those who use them their design and layout being highly regulated by restrictive legislation planning controls and bureaucracy Non Plan considers the theoretical and conceptual frameworks within which architecture and urbanism have sought to challenge entrenched boundaries of control focusing on the architectural history of the post war period to the present day This provocative book will be of interest to architects planners and students of architecture design town planning and architectural history Its contributors include architects critics and historians including many whose work helped shape the Non Plan debate during the period List of contributors Cedric Price Benjamin Franks Elizabeth Lebas Eleonore Kofman Ben Highmore Yona Friedman Paul Barker Clara Greed Barry Curtis Colin Ward Ian Horton John Beck Chinedu Umenyilora and Malcolm Miles

Revitalising Historic Urban Quarters Tim Heath,Taner Oc,Steve Tiesdell,2013-09-13 This book synthesizes urban design and urban regeneration by examining the revitalization of a number of historic urban quarters Its focus is on quarters or areas where there is a significant number of historic buildings concentrated in a small area with places and area based approaches Many cities have such quarters that confer on them a sense of place and identity through their historic continuity and cultural associations The quarters are often an integral element of the city s image and identity The lessons and observations from the experience of the revitalization of such historic urban quarters forms the core of this book with a number of case study examples from North America and Europe showing a variety of approaches to and outcomes of revitalization

The Efficacy of Architecture Tahl Kaminer,2016-12-08 A significant ideological transition has taken place in the discipline of architecture in the last few years Originating in a displeasure with the starchitecture system and the focus on aesthetic innovation a growing number of architects emboldened by the 2007 8 economic crisis have staged a rebellion against the dominant mode of architectural production Against a disinterested position emulating high art they have advocated political engagement citizen participation and the right to the city Against the fascination with the rarefied architectural object they have promoted an interest in everyday life play self build and personalization At the centre of this rebellion is the call for architecture to re assume its social and political role in society The Efficacy of Architecture supports the return of architecture to politics by interrogating theories practices and instances that claim or evidence architectural agency It studies the political theories animating the architects revisits the emergence of reformist architecture in the late nineteenth century and brings to the fore the relation of spatial organization to social forms In the process a clearer picture emerges of the agency of architecture of the threats to as well as potentials for meaningful societal transformation through architectural design

Geographies of Memory and Postwar Urban Regeneration in British Literature Alina Cojocar, 2022-05-13 This book proposes a new approach to the literary representations of London by means of correlating geocriticism spatial literary studies and memory studies in order to investigate the interplay between reality and fiction in mapping the urban imaginary It conducts an analysis of depictions of London in British literature published between 1975 and 2005 exploring the literary representations of the real urban restructurings prompted by the rebuilding projects in war and poverty stricken districts of London the remapping of the metropolis by immigrants gentrification and the displacement of communities as well as the urban dissolution caused by terrorism The selected works of fiction written by Peter Ackroyd Penelope Lively Zadie Smith Andrea Levy J G Ballard Michael Moorcock Doris Lessing and Ian McEwan provide a record of the city in times of de reconstruction emphasizing the structure of London as a palimpsest which becomes a central image The book contributes to the development of the subject field by introducing a number of original concepts which connect geocriticism and memory studies

Architecture and Retrenchment Helena Mattsson, 2023-01-26 Shortlisted for the Architects Sweden Critic s Award 2023 Scholars in architectural and urban history have over the last decade been trying to come to terms with architecture s neoliberal turn and its various impacts from municipal policy to the artistic imagination However most scholarship has focussed on generalizations with very little work to date focussing on specific cases Architecture and Retrenchment brings one such case to the fore investigating the relation between architecture and the Swedish Model of the welfare state It tracks the response of architecture to the gradual retrenchment and ultimate dismantling of the Swedish welfare state which was in its heyday world famous for its integration of architecture and the built environment into the welfare system Ultimately neoliberal economics prevailed yet this book reveals how new architectural strategies and techniques were developed in order to protect the agency of architecture in the newly reorganised society of the 1980s and 1990s Through eight in depth case studies the book situates the often abstract generalised discourse of neoliberalism and privatisation in specific architectural sites and provides an original interpretation of how architecture space aesthetics and politics converged at the end of the twentieth century

European Planning History in the 20th Century Max Welch

Guerra, Abdellah Abarkan, María A. Castrillo Romón, Martin Pekár, 2022-08-11 The history of Europe in the 20th century is closely tied to the history of urban planning. Social and economic progress but also the brute treatment of people and nature throughout Europe were possible due to the use of urban planning and the other levels of spatial planning. Thereby planning has constituted itself in Europe as an international subject. Since its emergence through intense exchange but also competition despite country differences planning has developed as a European field of practice and scientific discipline. Planning is here much more than the addition of individual histories; however, historiography has treated this history very selective regarding geography and content. This book searches for an understanding of the historiography of planning in a European dimension. Scholars from Eastern and Western Southern and Northern Europe address the issues of the public led production of city and the social functions of urban planning in capitalist and state socialist countries. The examined examples include Poland and USSR, Czech Republic and Slovakia, UK, Netherlands, Germany, France, Portugal and Spain, Italy and Sweden. The book will be of interest to students and scholars for Urbanism, Urban Town Planning, Spatial Planning, Spatial Politics, Urban Development, Urban Policies, Planning History and European History of the 20th Century. ### Out of Office Hilde Therese Remøy, 2010

The problem of vacant office buildings is an increasingly visible aspect of our cityscapes. A building or space is defined as structurally vacant when it has been empty for three years or longer. Structural vacancy leads to depreciation, loss of revenues and a general decline in the urban area. There would seem to be too many office buildings yet despite the number of vacant properties new office buildings continue to be developed. What is going on? This book examines the causes of long term office vacancies by studying user preferences and the relationship between building characteristics and structural vacancy. 200 office buildings in Amsterdam, a city with a large office market and high vacancy rates, were evaluated over half of them with structural vacancies. The solution of transformation to residential use is explored and the book concludes with recommendations for preventing problems in future developments. With its suggestions for how to create office buildings with a longer functional and economic lifespan, the book is of practical interest to investors and developers. The establishment of a connection between the worlds of architectural discourse and statistical research makes this book an important resource for scholars and researchers everywhere.

New Faces of Harbour Cities Şebnem Gökçen Dünder, Hilmi Evren Erdin, Neslihan Karataş, 2014-10-21

New Faces of Harbour Cities explores the changing so called faces of harbour cities. Whilst urban regeneration and harbour cities are discussed as related realms within the wider field of urban competitiveness, few studies have attempted to give place to the broader set of economic, social, legal, environmental and cultural dimensions of urban waterfront regeneration in harbour cities concerning not only Western and Northern Europe but also Aegean and Mediterranean cities. The book provides a multi disciplinary yet holistic analysis of the port city interface as a major goal of creating new domains of entrepreneurial activity Offering noteworthy potential the abandonment of port districts offers new opportunities in placing brownfield port areas back into public use through their comprehensive revitalization With the rapid growth of special interest in the waterfront regeneration of port districts many harbour cities in the world are making an effort to give their cities a brand new face However there are still specific cases showing that this goal may not always find success as is discussed for various cities in this book Key features of the book include a highly readable discussion of the relationship between urban waterfront regeneration and port cities that both address to the evolution of the port city interface and contemporary patterns of activity The book also includes a wide range of international case studies in both developed and developing cities whilst providing a balanced view of the critical issues and related cases While focusing on key themes the discussion also considers the critique of issues such as risk management legal challenges in planning and the balance between the need for logistic activities and brownfield regeneration of port districts as a major asset in terms of urban image As such New Faces of Harbour Cities will serve as an important reference to academic studies that explore key themes such as urban waterfront regeneration brownfield development the port city interface green energy mixed use regeneration and legal aspects in planning

What Makes a City? J. J. Trip, 2007 Urban quality is generally considered increasingly important for urban competitiveness This study therefore investigates the role of urban quality in large scale urban redevelopment which is here elaborated in terms of Richard Florida's concept of quality of place

OECD Regional Development Studies The Governance of Land Use in OECD Countries Policy Analysis and Recommendations OECD, 2017-05-02 Land use has important consequences for the environment public health economic productivity inequality and social segregation Land use policies are often complex and require co ordination across all levels of government as well as across policy sectors Not surprisingly land use decisions
