Planning and Administering Early Childhood Programs Celia Anita Decker, John R. Decker, 2005 This practical and leading book offers a solid overview of what is involved in carefully planning and running quality early childhood programs The authors believe that the lack of real quality in today s early childhood programs should be of paramount concern to future administrators and so have created a book that will aid them in the initial planning of quality programs and serve as a helpful resource once programs are underway Coverage is organized to illustrate step by step the way directors of early childhood programs must approach their role examining in turn planning operationalizing and implementing high quality programs for all young children For administrative personnel at the elementary school level

The Early Years Inter-American Development Bank, Norbert Schady, 2015-10-22 This book is open access under a CC BY NC ND 3 0 IGO license The Early Years analyzes the development of Latin American and Caribbean children and makes a compelling case for government intervention in what is instinctively a family affair Spending on effective programs for young children is an investment that if done well will have very high returns while failure to implement such programs will lower the returns on the hefty investments being made in primary secondary and higher education Policies for young children belong at the core of a country s development agenda alongside policies to develop infrastructure and strengthen institutions However if the services provided or funded by governments are to benefit children they must be substantially better than what is currently being delivered in the region This book offers suggestions for improving public policy in this critical area

Contemporary Perspectives on Research in Assessment and Evaluation in Early Childhood Education Olivia

Saracho, 2015-08-01 Researchers, educators, professional organizations, administrators, parents, and policy makers have increased their involvement in the assessment and evaluation of early childhood education programs. This interest has developed swiftly during the last decades. The National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) and the National Association of Early Childhood Specialists in State Departments of Education (NAECS SDE) developed a position statement titled "Early childhood curriculum assessment and program evaluation: Building an effective, accountable system in programs for children birth through age 8 to address related trends, issues, guiding principles, and values." Appropriate and well-designed evaluations need to address several audiences, including researchers, educators, policy makers, children, and parents. They need to encourage the implementation of a strong foundation that improves the quality of children's education. Child assessment and program evaluation can lead to effective results and better accountability for preschool, kindergarten, and primary school programs. The purpose of this volume is to share a collection of research strands on contemporary perspectives on research in assessment and evaluation in early childhood education. It provides a review and critical analysis of the literature on assessment and evaluation of programs, children, teachers, and settings. The volume begins with a brief introductory chapter that presents the reader with a map of the area, laying out the issues and alternatives and linking these to the chapters that follow. It addresses several areas, including: 1. understanding assessment and evaluation with young children; 2. schools and assessment implications; 3. teacher evaluation and professional development; 4. social relationships and assessment; 5. content areas in early education assessment; 6. technology and assessment; and 7. conclusion with future research directions in assessment and evaluation in early childhood education. The volume is of interest to researchers, educators, policy makers, university faculty, graduate students, and general readers who are interested in research on assessment and evaluation in early childhood education. The chapters are authored by established scholars in the field.
