Sorcerer's Moon

Julian May, 2007-07-31 Julian May concludes her Boreal Moon Tale with the story of a weak king forsaken by his heir a son who cannot condone his father's ruthlessness and a kingdom facing collapse by forces from without and within The Salka are launching an audacious attack to seize the heart of High Blenholme and King Conrig his magical powers and sanity fading is once again preparing to use the foulest Beaconfolk sorcery to counter the monsters massive invasion As his kingdom faces collapse King Conrig's only chance for peace lies deep in the past His former spy Deveron Austrey has secret magical powers and no love for the Beaconfolk But while the King's first wife is largely unremembered she has not forgotten that her son Orion is the true heir to the throne of High Blenholme

Talking Book Topics, 1995 Knowing Subjects Barbara Simerka, 2013 In Knowing Subjects Barbara Simerka uses an emergent field of literary study cognitive cultural studies to delineate new ways of looking at early modern Spanish literature and to analyze cognition and social identity in Spain at the time Simerka analyzes works by Cervantes and Gracian as well as picaresque novels and comedias Employing an interdisciplinary approach she brings together several strands of cognitive theory and details the synergies among neurological anthropological and psychological discoveries that provide new insights into human cognition Her analysis draws on Theory of Mind the cognitive activity that enables humans to predict what others will do feel think and believe Theory of Mind looks at how primates including humans conceptualize the thoughts and rationales behind other people's actions and use those insights to negotiate social relationships This capacity is a necessary precursor to a wide variety of human interactions both positive and negative from projecting and empathizing to lying and cheating Simerka applies this theory to texts involving courtship or social advancement activities in which deception is most prevalent and productive In the process she uncovers new insights into the comedia especially the courtship drama and several other genres of literature including the honor narrative the picaresque novel and the courtesy manual She studies the construction of gendered identity and patriarchal norms of cognition contrasting the perspectives of canonical male writers with those of recently recovered female authors such as Mar a de Zayas and Ana Caro She examines the construction of social class intellect and honesty and in a chapter on Don Quixote cultural norms for leisure reading at the time She shows how early modern Spanish literary forms reveal the relationship between an urbanizing culture unstable subject positions and hierarchies and social anxieties about cognition and cultural transformation
