

"A very welcome addition to the comparative education literature. . . . Each of the case studies is illuminating in its own right, but together they make a cumulative case for modifying our understanding of local-global power dynamics in education."

Globalisation and Education Policy Reform in Botswana Richard Tabulawa, 2023-07-21 This book uses the global local dialect approach to explicate education policy reform in Botswana and interrogates the practical effects of the various education policies on curriculum pedagogy and governance of the Botswana General Education system Considering the effect of three reform policies since Botswana's Independence in 1966 the book evaluates the performance of each of the policies and examines their consequences in terms of the interplay of global forces and domestic pressures The result of this interplay has been an education landscape that while reflecting globally circulating education discourses markedly differs from those same discourses The book argues that the State in Botswana has appropriated education policy to legitimate itself in times of crisis and that each policy has improved access to general education but collectively have failed to improve its quality making suggestions for how this can be improved in the future As the first book of its kind to delve into education in Botswana from a single authored critical lens the book will be a highly relevant reading for academics researchers and post graduate students of African education comparative education education policy and curriculum studies

Qualities of Education in a Globalised World Diane Brook Napier, 2014-09-11 In a growing revisionist tradition comparative educational scholars challenge conventional assumptions about quality education as a singular undertaking dominated by standardised assessments and globalisation influences The contributors to this volume illustrate the complexities and global dimensions of educational quality that emerged in their research Several chapters critique educational reforms employing assessments aligned to global standards and large scale assessments revealing how considerations of contextual factors internal needs and local traditions are essential for developing a quality curriculum or for overhauling a national education system Most chapters interrogate the uses and misuses of standardised assessment results The contributors reveal the importance of asking critical questions about quality education how to access it and for what purposes what contextual and cultural factors are important what implementation issues and local level realities must be considered for true understanding of standardized assessment results what content skills and values are necessary and desirable ingredients what roles teachers and administrators play and what benefits accrue in terms of outcomes for employment and labor market needs or for achieving autonomy and stakeholder participation Critiques of narrow interpretations of standardised assessment data contrast with research based evidence that participation in large scale assessments such as PISA TIMSS and PIRLS can indeed be beneficial to identify needed reform refinements and implementation shortcomings Specific country cases include Brazil Canada the United States Spain Portugal Ukraine Kyrgyzstan and the Philippines Other chapters provide insights on quality education issues worldwide The volume offers readers a panorama of views on the diversity of paths to quality education

Comparing Post-Socialist Transformations Maia Chankseliani, Iveta Silova, 2018-11-05 This volume revisits the book edited by David Phillips and Michael Kaser in 1992 entitled Education and Economic Change in Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union <https://doi.org/10.15730/books.42> Two and a half decades later this volume reflects on how post socialist countries have engaged with what Phillips Kaser called the flush of educational freedom Spanning diverse geopolitical settings that range from Southeast and Central Europe to the Caucasus and Central Asia the chapters in this volume offer analyses of education policies and practices that the countries in this region have pursued since the fall of the Berlin Wall and the dissolution of the Soviet Union This book explores three interrelated questions First it seeks to capture complex reconfigurations of education purposes during post socialist transformations noting the emergence of neoliberal education imaginaries in post socialist spaces and their effects on policy discussions about education quality and equity across the region Second it examines the ongoing tensions inherent in post socialist transformations suggesting that beneath the surface of dominant neoliberal narratives there are always powerful countercurrents ranging from the persisting socialist legacies to other alternative conceptualizations of education futures highlighting the diverse trajectories of post socialist education transformations And finally the book engages with the question of comparison prompting both the contributing authors and readers to reflect on how research on post socialist education transformations can contribute to rethinking comparative methods in education across space and time

Systems of Reason and the Politics of Schooling Miguel Pereyra, Barry Franklin, 2014-06-27 The 1980s were an important decade for educational inquiry It was the moment of the linguistic turn with its emphasis on the role of language as a constructor of reality a structuring agent for institutions such as schools and a medium for translating knowledge into elements of power for processes of social regulation Drawing on the work and insights of educational researcher Thomas S Popkewitz this book shows how the linguistic turn provided an alternative to both mainline educational research grounded in the ideals of political liberalism and the effort of neo Marxists to challenge liberal thinking in favor of a scholarship based on class conflict and economic determinism
