After The Gold Rush Robert Dahl,2005-05-02 After the Gold Rush begins in January 1926 when the ship carrying Robert Dahl steams into the harbor in Skagway Alaska The ten year old boy has been traveling for over a week with his mother and two brothers from the tiny town in northwest Iowa where he was born As the ship s crew prepares to dock the brothers eagerly scan the wharf for a glimpse of their father who arrived a few weeks earlier to become the town s only physician Driven by hopes of finding Yukon gold thousands had once passed through Skagway By the time of the Dahl family s arrival in 1926 the population had shrunk to five hundred Although some buildings remaining from the Gold Rush days made sections of Skagway look like a ghost town the young boy from the plains of Iowa was entranced by the wild beauty of the surrounding mountains which he would explore in the years to come In this highly personal tale of Robert Dahl s years in Skagway we meet the people of the town at school at work at play hunting and fishing We meet town characters a few remaining from the Gold Rush days others whose drifting had ended in Skagway We meet Tlingit Indians who were made outcasts in their own land by the visible and invisible barriers of small town life The author concludes with the hope that this lovely piece of our world will be preserved as long as human beings and our fellow creatures who inhabit those splendid mountains valleys forests rivers streams and yes even the glaciers continue to live on this earth Doctor Right Janet

Women in American Musical Theatre Bud Coleman, Judith A. Sebesta, 2020-10-22 Throughout the twentieth century, women have made significant contributions to the creation of American musical theatre. Directing, choreographing, writing, arranging, producing and designing musicals in a variety of venues throughout America, women have played a significant role in shaping the development of musical theatre, both on and off Broadway and in regional, educational and community venues. The essays in this book examine the history of women in musical theatre, providing biographical descriptions of the women themselves, analyses and interpretations of their productions and several accounts of how being a woman affected the artists' careers. Topics include the similarities among the careers of successful but neglected lyricists Rida Johnson Young, Anne Caldwell and Dorothy Donnelly; the Depression-era productions of Hallie Flanagan and Cheryl Crawford; the transformation of the classic showgirl image through the dances and stage movement created by prominent female choreographers; and a survey of numerical data highlighting the discrepancy between the number of men versus the number of women hired to direct professional musical productions in various venues across the United States.
