The Goldilocks Map: A classroom teacher's quest to evaluate 'brain-based' teaching advice Andrew C. Watson,2021-05-03 In the last 20 years the cognitive sciences have revealed fresh surprising and useful insights into how and why our students learn Teachers can now draw on psychology and neuroscience research to supplement reconsider even overturn our traditions and training To use this research most wisely teachers must find our way to an elusive Goldilocks Zone Instead of resisting all research based guidance we should be ready to take it to heart even when it challenges both our training and conventional wisdom Instead of accepting all research based guidance we should be ready to reject it emphatically especially the hyped up edu fads that exaggerate and misinterpret psychology findings How can we get this Goldilocks balance just right This book offers a specific practical quest map to discover just such a balance By critically examining the source the research and ourselves teachers can develop the skills necessary to be effective research skeptics Written by a teacher with 18 years in the classroom and 13 years studying neuroscience and psychology The Goldilocks Map transforms brain research from a daunting monologue into an approachable exciting and lively conversation Disciplinary Styles in the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Mary Taylor Huber,Sherwyn P. Morreale,2023-07-21 Ten sets of disciplinary scholars respond to an orienting essay that raises questions about the history of discourse about teaching and learning in the disciplines the ways in which disciplinary styles influence inquiry into teaching and learning and the nature and roles of interdisciplinary exchange The authors hope to contribute to a common language for trading ideas enlarging our pedagogical imaginations and strengthening our scholarly work Disciplines represented chemistry communication studies engineering English studies history management sciences mathematics psychology and sociology A collaboration of The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and AAHE

Voices of the Field Antione D. Tomlin, Sherella Cupid, 2023-07-01 This book Voices of the Field DEIA Champions in Higher Education will explore the experiences and stories of Diversity Equity Inclusion and Anti racist DEIA champions and leaders within higher education There is no doubt that in response to the United States current racial climate that higher education institutions have DEIA at the forefront of their operations Consequently as a Black academic or Blackademic educator and DEIA champion I am not sure I always see institutions and organizations walking the walk and doing the work it takes to live up to those missions visions and strategic plans Tomlin 2022 para 1 From our experience this is partly because institutions do not know how to support and encourage all higher education professionals no matter working area gender or race to become more DEIA minded So this book will share stories of champions of DEIA along with how other higher education professionals jump in Like some of our other projects we approach this book from an asset based approach where chapter authors are taking more of an anti deficit approach So while each chapter author will explore the challenges and opportunities that come with being a DEIA champion within higher education we will not focus entirely on what higher education institutions or doing wrong rather how the tools tips and strategies provided can help support current and potential champions of the work and field One especially important contribution of this book is that authors come from many different spaces departments and divisions within higher education including admissions student life curriculum and instruction service learning alumni relations career services intercultural affairs and many others Additionally chapter authors demographics make up a wide range of ages ethnicities abilities and expertise Given the breadth of experiences each chapter will provide poignant suggestions for DEIA champions across the nation as well as for institutions who are looking to better understand advocate for support their own DEIA champions The work of DEI practitioners is a work that often goes unnoticed The long days nights exhaustion and lack of mental capacity due to constant going and potential burnout is the price practitioners pay to fight the fight of creating more equitable spaces Griffin 2021 noted The DEI practitioner is becoming a household name in some industries like education an emerging staple p xxv we agree with Griffin moreover these household names are not getting the attention respect or resources they need to continue being successful in their roles Additionally we add anti racist to DEI as being anti racist is an action We argue it is the action that brings all the other pieces of the work together Its the demonstration and active practice of fighting against racism that helps to shift and change a culture This book will aid in showing all higher education professionals some approaches to being more effective DEIA champions while also taking action and moving more toward anti racism as a mindset and way of being

Thus Voices of the Field DEIA Champions in Higher Education is positioned to be a must read for all higher education professionals and institutions who are looking for strategies to support promote and encourage the growth and development of DEIA champions Putting the Humanities PhD to Work Katina L. Rogers,2020-07-17 In Putting the Humanities PhD to Work Katina L Rogers grounds practical career advice in a nuanced consideration of the current landscape of the academic workforce Drawing on surveys interviews and personal experience Rogers explores the evolving rhetoric and practices regarding career preparation and how those changes intersect with admissions practices scholarly reward structures and academic labor practices especially the increasing reliance on contingent labor Rogers invites readers to consider how graduate training can lead to meaningful and significant careers beyond the academy She provides graduate students with context and analysis to inform the ways they discern their own potential career paths while taking an activist perspective that moves toward individual success and systemic change For those in positions to make decisions in humanities departments or programs Rogers outlines the circumstances and pressures that students face and gives examples of programmatic reform that address career matters in structural ways Throughout Rogers highlights the important possibility that different kinds of careers offer engaging fulfilling and even unexpected pathways for students who seek them out

Teaching Communication across Disciplines for Professional Development, Civic Engagement, and Beyond Joanna G. Burchfield, April A. Kedrowicz,2023-05-22 In Teaching Communication Across Disciplines for Professional Development Civic Engagement and Beyond contributors discuss topics inherent in merging communication across disciplines including challenges and opportunities teaching and research communication and student identity future directions and the transformative possibilities of teaching communication across disciplines A cross disciplinary approach provides an avenue for the integration of a broad education that prepares students for global citizenship and civic engagement Ultimately this book argues that positioning communication as a theoretically rich process of social interaction and meaning with attention to rhetorical sensitivity can expand the vision of communication across the disciplines The increased demand for communication expertise opens opportunities for exploration growth community development and cross disciplinary alliances Scholars of communication English and education will find this book of particular interest Resources in Education ,1997
