Discussions in Critical Discourses and Remedies in Global Health Education Ashti A. Doobay-Persaud, Tracy L.

Rabin, Tomlin Paul, Jessica Evert ,Benedicta Ayiedu Mensah, 2024-10-01 Global Health a field of study research and practice defined in 2009 with precursors in international health and development is currently reckoning with itself The field has well intended goals emphasizing collaboration and dialogue between population health public health clinical care and other disciplines to address socioeconomic determinants of health and employing interdisciplinary approaches to address health inequities wherever they exist Despite these lofty ideals there are concerns that the field itself has historically served to reinforce rather than deconstruct colonialism and power imbalances At this point in time the field has evolved toward a vision of a community of practice between institutions across the income spectrum HIC LMIC LIC working in bidirectional and multidirectional ways to develop staff space systems and strategies to eliminate health disparities However with deeply rooted colonial assumptions racism elitism and other forms of bias underlying institutions and individuals initiatives operating under the auspices of Global Health are all too often antithetical to the pursuit itself

Resources in Education, 1996 Transformative Learning in Healthcare and Helping Professions Education Teresa J. Carter, Carrie J. Boden, Kathy Peno, 2019-05-01 Transformative Learning in Healthcare and Helping Professions Education Building Resilient Professional Identities is a co edited book Carter Boden and Peno with invited chapters from educators who share our passion for learning in healthcare and the helping professions The purpose of the book is to introduce professional learners students residents and others in professional training to transformative learning for building resilient professional identities amid practice environments that include widespread burnout and compassion fatigue With a diverse set of authors engaged in clinical and educational practice in academic medicine nursing dentistry physical therapy mental health counseling science education psychology social work and inter professional collaborative practice we offer strategies for building resilience throughout the years of professional training and into professional practice We do so through the experiences of authors involved in healthcare and the helping professions to illustrate how some are coping with the challenges of burnout and compassion fatigue through learning that can be transformative This book explores the nature of professional identity formation by examining ways that professionals in training can thrive amid the challenges of today's stressful practice environments First hand stories of resilience illustrate how learners as well as educators in these professions are addressing adversity career decision making service to the underserved and the self care needed to provide excellent care for others The prominence of transformative learning within adult learning theory is illustrated for its potential to revise the meaning that learners make of their experiences and open up new possibilities for renewed vitality in professional education and practice environments The book has two primary audiences professional learners in healthcare and helping professions education and their educators who are often professional practitioners themselves These educators have a significant role in influencing the next generation of professionals by serving as mentors role models and teachers The importance of fostering learning that is transformative has never been more important than it is today for those who will work in these demanding professions We invite readers to discover experiences and strategies for achieving individual wellbeing as well as opportunities for building a culture within professional education and practice settings that will foster resilience

Relational Mindfulness Roberto Aristegui, Javier Garcia Campayo, Patricio Barriga, 2021-03-25 This book proposes a new approach to mindfulness based interventions presenting them not as individual but as relational practices In the last decades mindfulness has exerted a growing influence on many fields of research and activity but always as an individual practice The authors in this volume believe that the strong development of mindfulness today implies considering a dialogue between this individualistic approach and the perspective of relational mindfulness based on social constructionism The volume is organized in two parts The first part focuses on the theoretical foundations of relational mindfulness The second part presents possibilities of applications of relational mindfulness in clinical and organizational settings to promote mental health and personal development Relational Mindfulness Fundamentals and Applications will be of interest to a wide range of professionals interested in applying mindfulness based interventions in mental health care and productive organizations such as clinical and health psychologists public health professionals and human resources analysts and consultants among others It is true that the metaphor of mindfulness has been enormously fruitful in its invitation to innovate By removing meditative practices from their ancient roots practitioners were free to create practices especially relevant to context At the same time there was also a recognizable loss in the profoundly rich heritage that was left behind For many of us the greatest loss resulted from the absorption of such practices into Western individualism What had once been an orientation to practice emphasizing our fundamental inter being had become a gateway to silent separation It is in this context that the present volume bursts into significance With special appreciation to the editors of this book we are treated to a multi dimensional exploration into the relational dimensions of mindfulness practices Bringing ideas experience and wisdom from across professions and across continents the contributors open an exciting path to the future Excerpt from the Foreword by Kenneth J Gergen
