Declaration in the Legal Recognition of Gender examines the impact of legislation premised upon the principle of self declaration of legal gender status Existing doctrinal and comparative analyses have tended to come out strongly in favour of or against self declaration This book offers a socio legal alternative which focuses on how self declaration is experienced on an embodied level by trans and gender diverse people It presents research conducted in Denmark which became the first European state to adopt self declaration in June 2014 By analysing Danish law through a Foucauldian framework which brings together socio feminist and trans legal scholarship on embodiment and jurisdiction the book offers the first empirically based and theoretically informed analysis of self declaration It draws upon legal consciousness affect theory vulnerability and governmentality literatures to argue that the jurisdictional boundaries which existed between law and medicine were maintained throughout the reform process This limited the impact of the legislation enabling access to health care to be restricted in the same year in which amending legal gender status was liberalised As the list of states that have adopted self declaration increases this intervention offers activists and policymakers insights which might shape how they respond to similar reform proposals in the future A timely and important assessment this book will appeal to researchers and practitioners working in trans gender feminist legal and socio legal studies Local Lives Brigitte

Bönisch-Brednich, 2016-12-05 Local Lives contests dominant trends in migration theory demonstrating that many migrant identities have not become entirely diasporic or cosmopolitan but remain equally focused on emplaced belonging and the anxieties of being uprooted By addressing the question of how migrants legally and symbolically lay claim to owning and belonging to place it refocuses our attention on the micro politics and everyday rituals of place making that are central to the construction of migrant identities Exploring immigrants interactions with house spaces property rights environmental conservation landscape historical knowledge of place ideas of local community and place specific traditions this volume shows how in a fluid world of movement locality remains a deeply contested and symbolically rich place to situate identity and to constitute the self Thematically organised and presenting a diverse range of empirical studies dealing with migrant communities in Hawaii Britain France Spain Australia New Zealand the Dominican Republic and Albania Local Lives reorients research in migration and transnational studies around locality As such it will appeal to social scientists working on questions relating to landscape identity and belonging race and ethnicity and migration and transnationalism
