Kodak and the Lens of Nostalgia Nancy Martha West, 2000 The advertising campaigns launched by Kodak in the early years of snapshot photography stand at the center of a shift in American domestic life that goes deeper than technological innovations in cameras and film Before the advent of Kodak advertising in 1888 writes Nancy Martha West Americans were much more willing to allow sorrow into the space of the domestic photograph as evidenced by the popularity of postmortem photography in the mid nineteenth century Through the taking of snapshots Kodak taught Americans to see their experiences as objects of nostalgia to arrange their lives in such a way that painful or unpleasant aspects were systematically erased West looks at a wide assortment of Kodak s most popular inventions and marketing strategies including the Kodak Girl the momentous invention of the Brownie camera in 1900 the Story Campaign during World War I and even the Vanity Kodak Ensemble a camera introduced in 1926 that came fully equipped with lipstick At the beginning of its campaign Kodak advertising primarily sold the fun of taking pictures Ads from this period celebrate the sheer pleasure of snapshot photography the delight of handling a diminutive camera of not worrying about developing and printing of capturing subjects in candid moments But after 1900 a crucial shift began to take place in the company s marketing strategy The preservation of domestic memories became Kodak s most important mission With the introduction of the Brownie camera at the turn of the century the importance of home began to replace leisure activity as the subject of ads and at the end of World War I Americans seemed desperately to need photographs to confirm familial unity By 1932 Kodak had become so intoxicated with the power of its own marketing that it came up with the most bizarre idea of all the Death Campaign Initiated but never published this campaign based on pictures of dead loved ones brought Kodak advertising full circle Having launched one of the most successful campaigns in advertising history the company did not seem to notice that selling a painful subject might be more difficult than selling momentary pleasure or nostalgia Enhanced with over 50 reproductions of the ads themselves 16 of them in color Kodak and the Lens of Nostalgia vividly illustrates the fundamental changes in American culture and the function of memory in the formative years of the twentieth century

A Spectacular Secret Jacqueline Goldsby, 2020-09-15 This incisive study takes on one of the grimmest secrets in America's national life the history of lynching and more generally the public punishment of African Americans Jacqueline Goldsby shows that lynching cannot be explained away as a phenomenon peculiar to the South or as the perverse culmination of racist politics Rather lynching a highly visible form of social violence that has historically been shrouded in secrecy was in fact a fundamental part of the national consciousness whose cultural logic played a pivotal role in the making of American modernity To pursue this argument Goldsby traces lynching's history by taking up select mob murders and studying them together with key literary works She focuses on three prominent authors Ida B Wells Barnett Stephen Crane and James Weldon Johnson and shows how their own encounters with lynching influenced their analyses of it She also examines a recently assembled archive of evidence lynching photographs to show how photography structured the nation's perception of lynching violence before World War I Finally Goldsby considers the way lynching persisted into the twentieth century discussing the lynching of Emmett Till in 1955 and the ballad elegies of Gwendolyn Brooks to which his murder gave rise An empathic and perceptive work A Spectacular Secret will make an important contribution to the study of American history and literature

Charlotte Mew: Poetics, Bodies, Ecologies Francesca Bratton, Megan Girdwood, Fraser Riddell, 2024-09-01 This collection of essays explores the life and works of the British poet and author of short stories Charlotte Mew 1869-1928 It represents the first volume dedicated solely to critical engagement with the full range of Mew's poetry fiction and essays Mew moved within a remarkable range of literary and intellectual circles from The Yellow Book in the 1890s to Bloomsbury's Poetry Bookshop in the 1910s As such her work challenges traditional distinctions between literary periods and sits within the more expansive framework of the long nineteenth century and its legacies Each chapter contextualises Mew's oeuvre by examining her experiments with poetic and narrative genres in relation to her wider late Victorian and early modernist intellectual milieu The volume draws together literary scholars working across the fields of poetry and poetics decadence modernism ecocriticism and queer theory while illustrating the particular stylistic and thematic complexities of Mew s writing

Commercial Intimacy Richard Popp, Brenton Malin, Wendy A. Woloson, 2025-06-03 Explores how marketers have leveraged feelings of personal familiarity in modern consumer capitalism Our wired world connects us with corporations in ways that just a generation ago would have been hard to imagine Marketers track users habits down to the swipe and scroll brand influencers reach out to followers in ever more personal ways Yet however much we may feel individually recognized or targeted by today s marketers the connections they make are in truth fleeting and tactical They are also nothing new Marketplace transactions have long been mediated by interactions that blur the line between the putatively public and rational world of commerce and the supposedly private and emotional realm of personal relations That there is an affective tenor to every sales scenario has never been a secret to talented marketers How exactly marketers have tried to set those moods by endowing commercial relationships with an aura of personal affinity is the subject of Commercial Intimacy Its chapters explore the broad theme of commercial intimacy that is market based feelings of spatial and emotional closeness in US consumer culture from the mid nineteenth century to the late twentieth century They show how experiences of intimacy have been orchestrated by marketers operating at a variety of distances from the face to face solicitations made by retail clerks and direct sales agents to the long distance appeals made by mail order merchants print and TV advertisers telemarketers and e commerce platforms The volume pays especially close attention to how these revenue minded acts of ingratiation worked how they were shaped by the technologies behind them and how they capitalized on contemporary dynamics of gender and sexuality At the heart of this volume then is the question of how our understanding of business history changes when we take the emotional sensational and affective dynamics of intimacy to be foundational elements of commercial persuasion Contributors Samuel Backer Jennifer M Black Donna J Drucker Isabelle Marina Held Julie A Johnson Lindsay Mitchell Keiter Stephanie Kolberg Brenton J Malin Cynthia B Meyers Richard K Popp Nicole E Weber Wendy A Woloson

The Protected Vista Tom Brigden, 2019-05-03 The Protected Vista draws a historical lineage from the eighteenth century picturesque to present day planning policy highlighting how the values embedded within familiar views have developed over time through appropriation by diverse groups for cultural and political purposes The book examines the intellectual construction of the protected vista questioning the values entrenched within the view by whom and how they are observed and disseminated to reveal how these views have been and continue to be part of a changing historical and political narrative With a deeper knowledge and understanding of the shifting values in urban views we will be better equipped to make decisions surrounding their protection in our urban centres The book identifies the origins of current view protection policy in the aesthetic convention of the picturesque drawing on a range of illustrated examples in the UK the US Australia

Europe Sabina Owsianowska, Magdalena Banaszekiewicz, 2018-04-11 In Anthropology of Tourism in Central and Eastern Europe Bridging Worlds Sabina Owsianowska and Magdalena Banaszekiewicz examine the limitations of the anthropological study of tourism which stem from both the domination of researchers representing the Anglophone circle as well as the current state of tourism studies in Central and Eastern Europe This edited collection contributes to the wider discussion of the geopolitics of knowledge through its focus on the anthropological background of tourism studies and its inclusion of contributors from Austria Bulgaria Estonia and Poland New Zealand and the Sea Frances Steel, Atholl Anderson, Tony Ballantyne, Julie Benjamin, Douglas Booth, Chris Brickell, Peter Gilderdale, David Haines, Susan Liebich, Alison MacDiarmid, Ben Maddison, Angela McCarthy, Grace Millar, Damon Salesa, Jonathan Scott, Michael J. Stevens, Jonathan West, 2018 As a group of islands in the far south west Pacific Ocean New Zealand has a history that is steeped in the sea Its people have encountered the sea in many different ways along the coast in port on ships beneath the waves behind a camera and in the realm of the imagination While New Zealanders have continually altered their marine environments the ocean too has influenced their lives A multi disciplinary work encompassing history marine science archaeology and visual culture New Zealand and the Sea explores New Zealand's varied relationship with the sea challenging the conventional view that history unfolds on land Leading and emerging scholars highlight the dynamic ocean centred history of these islands and their inhabitants offering fascinating new perspectives on New Zealand's pasts The ocean has profoundly shaped culture across this narrow archipelago The meeting of land and sea is central in historical accounts of Polynesian discovery and colonisation European exploratory voyaging sealing whaling and the littoral communities that supported these plural occupations and the mass migrant passage from Britain Frances Steel

Capitalism and the Camera Kevin Coleman, Daniel James, 2021-05-11

Photography was invented between the publication of Adam Smith's The Wealth of Nations and Karl Marx and Frederick Engels's The Communist Manifesto Taking the intertwined development of capitalism and the camera as their starting point the essays in Capitalism and the Camera investigate the relationship between capitalist accumulation and the photographic image and ask whether photography might allow us to refuse capitalism's violence and if so how Drawn together in productive disagreement the essays in this collection explore the relationship of photography to resource extraction and capital accumulation from 1492 to the postcolonial the camera's potential to make visible critical understandings of capitalist production and society especially economies of class and desire and propose ways that the camera and the image can be used to build cultural and political counterpublics from which a democratic struggle against capitalism might emerge With essays by Ariella Asha Azoulay Siobhan Angus Kajri Jain Walter Benn Michaels T J Clark John Paul Ricco Blake Stimson Chris Stolarski Tong Lam and Jacob Emery

SpaceTime of the Imperial Holt Meyer, Susanne Rau, Katharina Waldner, 2016-11-07

Untimely Ruins Nick Yablon, 2010-06-15

American ruins have become increasingly prominent whether in discussions of urban blight and home foreclosures in commemorations of 9/11 or in postapocalyptic movies In this highly original book Nick Yablon argues that the association between American cities and ruins dates back to a much earlier period in the nation's history Recovering numerous scenes of urban desolation from failed banks abandoned towns and dilapidated tenements to the crumbling skyscrapers and bridges envisioned in science fiction and cartoons Untimely Ruins challenges the myth that ruins were absent or insignificant objects in nineteenth century America The first book to document an American cult of the ruin Untimely Ruins traces its deviations as well as derivations from European conventions Unlike classical and Gothic ruins which decayed gracefully over centuries and inspired philosophical meditations about the fate of civilizations America's ruins were often untimely appearing unpredictably and disappearing before they could accrue an aura of age As modern ruins of steel and iron they stimulated critical reflections about contemporary cities and the unfamiliar kinds of experience they enabled Unearthing evocative sources everywhere from the archives of amateur photographers to the contents of time capsules Untimely Ruins exposes crucial debates about the economic technological and cultural transformations known as urban modernity The result is a fascinating cultural history that uncovers fresh perspectives on the American city

Through Lover's Lane Elizabeth R. Epperly, 2007-01-01 It might surprise some to know that internationally beloved Canadian writer L M Montgomery 1874-1942 author of the Anne of Green Gables series among other novels and hundreds of short stories and poems also fuelled a passion for photography For forty years Montgomery photographed her favourite places and people using many of these photographs to illustrate the hand written journals she left as a record of her life Artistically inclined and possessing a strong visual memory Montgomery created scenes and settings in her fiction that are closely linked to the carefully composed shapes in her photographs Elizabeth Rollins Epperly's Through Lover's Lane is the first book to examine Montgomery's photography in any depth it is also the first study to connect Montgomery's photography with her fiction and other writing Drawing on the work of Montgomery scholars as well as theorists such as Susan Sontag Gaston Bachelard Roland Barthes John Berger and George Lakoff Epperly connects Montgomery's practice of photography with the writer's metaphors for home and belonging Epperly examines thirty five of Montgomery's photographs demonstrating how they figure in the novelist's life and fiction She argues that the shapes in Montgomery's favourite place in nature Lover's Lane in Cavendish P E I organized Montgomery's other photographs underpinned her colourful descriptions and grounded her aesthetics Through Lover's Lane suggests how an artist creates metaphors that resonate within a single work echo across a lifetime of writing and photography and inspire readers and viewers across cultures and time

Snapshot Stories Erika Hanna, 2020-02-06 During the twentieth century men and women across Ireland picked up cameras photographing days out at the beach composing views of Ireland's cities and countryside and recording political events as they witnessed them Indeed while foreign photographers often still focused on the image of Ireland as bucolic rural landscape Irish photographers snapshotter and professional alike were creating and curating photographs which revealed more complex and diverse images of Ireland Snapshot Stories explores these stories Erika Hanna examines a diverse array of photographic sources including family photograph albums studio portraits the work of photography clubs and community photography initiatives alongside the output of those who took their cameras into the streets to record violence and poverty The volume shows how Irish men and women used photography in order to explore their sense of self and society and examines how we can use these images to fill in the details of Ireland's social history By exploring this rich array of sources Snapshot Stories asks what it means to see to look to gaze to glance in modern Ireland and explores how conflicts regarding vision and visibility have repeatedly been at the centre of Irish life
