Global Childhoods Stuart Aitken, 2013-09-13 This astute book initiates a broad discussion from a variety of different disciplines about how we place children nationally globally and within development discourses Unlike other books of its kind it does not seek to dwell solely on the abiding complexities of local comparisons Rather it elaborates larger concerns about the changing nature of childhood young people s experiences their citizenship and the embodiment of their political identities as they are embedded in the processes of national development and globalization In particular this book concentrates on three main issues nation building and developing children child participation and activism in the context of development and globalization and children s live in the context of what has been called the end of development These are relatively broad research perspectives that find focus in what the authors term reproducing and developing children as a key issue of national and global concern They further argue that understanding children and reproduction is key to understanding globalization

Children and Young People's Relationships Samantha Punch, Kay Tisdall, 2016-04-08 This book challenges the current state of childhood studies by exploring children and young people s agency and relationships It considers how recent theorisations of relationships and relational processes can move childhood studies forward particularly in relation to re thinking claims of children and young people s agency and uncritical assertions around children and young people s participation and voice It does this by bringing together case studies of children s inter generational and intra generational relationships from both the Majority and

Minority Worlds The main themes include negotiated power agency across contexts and negotiations of identity The chapters show both the heritage of childhood studies particularly within the UK and where it may be going One of the key aims of the book is to add to the limited but growing cross world dialogue that encourages cross cultural learning from research and practice in both Majority and Minority World contexts leading towards a more integrated global approach to childhood studies This book was published as a special issue of Children s Geographies

Diverse Spaces of Childhood and Youth Ruth Evans,Louise Holt,2016-04-08 Diverse Spaces of Childhood and

Youth focuses on the diverse spaces and discourses of children and youth globally. The chapters explore the influence of gender, age and other socio-cultural differences such as race, ethnicity and migration trajectories on the everyday lives of children and youth in a range of international contexts. These include the diverse urban environments of Istanbul, Copenhagen, Helsinki, Toronto, London and Bratislava and the contrasting rural settings of Ghana and England. The analyses of children's young people's parents and professionals' experiences and discourses provide critical insights into how gender and other socio-cultural differences intersect. The importance of everyday practices and performances in the formation of children's and young people's identities is revealed through, for example, friendships and everyday sociality, mobilities and movements across space in both rural and urban environments. The volume shows how discourses of childhood, particularly those associated with risk, intersect with difference. The recognition of young people's agency and participation is central to many of the chapters whilst also raising methodological questions about how discourses of childhood and youth are researched. Overall, the book provides an original contribution to geographies of children, youth and families and research on diversity and difference in global contexts. This book was published as a special issue of Children's Geographies. The SAGE Encyclopedia of Children and Childhood Studies Daniel Thomas Cook, 2020-04-20. The volume draws together a diversity of theoretical perspectives from the social sciences and humanities such as critical race studies, disability studies, posthumanism, feminism, politics, decolonialism, queer theory and postcolonialism to generate a much-needed conversation about how to move childhood studies forward as a grounded field of research. The volume is subdivided into three sections: subjectivities, relationalities and structures, each of which addresses different but interrelated approaches to childhood studies theorization. This handbook will be an essential text not just for childhood studies researchers but for all those interested in theorizing what childhood is, what ambitions through begging Swanson argues that Calhuas s beggars are capable of canny engagement with the forces of change She also shows how frequent movement between rural and urban Ecuador has altered both masculinizing the countryside and complicating the Ecuadorian conflation of whiteness and cities Finally her study unpacks ongoing conflicts over programs to clean up Quito and other major cities noting that revanchist efforts have had multiple effects spurring more dangerous transnational migration for example while also providing some women and children with tourist friendly local spaces in which to sell a notion of Andean authenticity
