America through the Duty to Regulate Paradigm María José Luque Macías,2021-05-22 This book offers insights into how international investment law IIL has frustrated states protection of human rights in Latin America and IIL has generally abstained from dealing with inter regime frictions In these circumstances this study not only argues that IIL should be an object of contention and debate politicisation It also contends that Latin American countries have traditionally been the frontrunners in the politicisation of international legal instruments protecting foreign investment questioning whether the paradigms informing their claims articulation are adequate to frame this debate It demonstrates that the so called right to regulate is the paradigm now prevalently used to challenge IIL but that it is inadequate from a human rights perspective Hence the book calls for a re politicisation of IIL in Latin America through a re conceptualization of how states regulation of foreign investment is understood under international human rights law which entails viewing it as an international duty After determining what the duty to regulate constitutes in relation to the right to water and indigenous peoples right to lands based on human rights doctrine the book analyses the extent to which Latin American countries are currently re politicising IIL through an articulation of this international duty and arbitral tribunals responses to their argumentative strategies Based on these findings the book not only proposes investment treaties reform to anchor the duty to regulate paradigm in IIL and in the process to induce tribunals engagement with human rights arguments when they come to underpin respondent states defences in investor state dispute settlement ISDS In addition drawing upon the now likely defunct idea of creating a regional ISDS tribunal the book briefly reflects on options available to such a tribunal in terms of dealing with troubling normative institutional interactions between regimes during ISDS proceedings Sustainable Space Tourism Annette Toivonen, 2020-11-11 This book explores the relationship between space tourism and the discourse in sustainability and futures research It offers comprehensive information on the current understanding of the space tourism industry and assesses the possible impacts of space tourism on the environment economics legislation and society The volume aims to encourage more dialogue and critical examinations of aspects of space tourism related to future sustainability From data gathered from empirical research it provides a vision for the future of sustainable space tourism It will be of interest to students and researchers in tourism sustainability and futures studies as well as individual space tourist hopefuls space tourism industry operators and tourism policy regulators

Space Law Principles and Sustainable Measures Hamid Jahankhani, Stefan Kendzierskyj, Sina Pournouri, Maria A. Pozza, 2024-09-14 This book helps to bridge the knowledge gap that currently surrounds space technology and its method of exploration and highlights much needed awareness and attention to an increase in Space Law and sustainable measures The ever increasing usage of space based solutions by both public and commercial entities is producing congestion in the radio frequency spectrum as well as orbital slots The inevitable commercialization of satellite technology will certainly result in a proliferation of privately owned and managed satellite spacecraft in low Earth orbits Cyber vulnerabilities in the Air Force and the DoD frequently ignore satellite ground systems Space ground system cyber security assaults and investigations include those involving satellite control communications terminal hacking and GPS spoofing A continuous cyber security assessment technique is required for space systems to identify assess reduce and address sophisticated cyber threats Risk based compliance regular cybersecurity risk assessments and a renewed focus on the elimination of system flaws at the time of design are all necessary for space ground and control systems Due to the absence of a rigid regulatory framework satellites play a significant part in the production of space debris which is a source of increasing worry Such debris manufactured artificially contributes greatly to the destruction of the environment in Earth's orbit There is not a single framework in existence that can appropriately govern contemporary concerns like the security of satellite data and debris in orbit The Department of Defence DoD is now responsible for monitoring all objects in space however it cannot require satellite operators to take precautions against potential collisions

Water Services Disputes in International Arbitration Xu Qian, 2020-05-12 Water Services Disputes in International Arbitration Reconsidering the Nexus of Investment Protection Environment and Human Rights by Xu Qian The argument that universal access to water is a human right is based on the fact that life on Earth cannot exist without water Yet the enormous cost of building and maintaining water service infrastructure purifying monitoring quality and providing sanitation services is beyond the means of many of the States most in need Foreign investment is thus mandated hence the often acrimonious tension manifest in investor State disputes over water rights This book offers the first in depth analysis of both international treaty norms and their interpretation by arbitral tribunals applicable to investment in water and sanitation services complete with thoroughly researched recommendations for those arbitral practitioners in the eye of the storm Like no previous study the book clearly reveals how to reconcile the economic and fundamental human interests arising from investment in water and sanitation services under the international investment regime Among many vital issues the author highlights the importance of the following legitimacy of a State's alleged regulatory objectives the suitability of the measures undertaken to achieve the objective and whether there are less restrictive means available legal framework and stability of the State applicable law changes in law and emergency circumstances economic issues such as water pricing profit driven private companies reluctance to serve the poor investment tribunals generation of a regulatory and jurisprudential regime on water and sanitation services and determination of liability in relation to expropriation fair and equitable treatment and necessity Arguing that the current investment treaty and arbitral case law framework can regulate water and sanitation services if certain interpretations are favored by adjudicators the author offers viable sustainable and reasonable legal solutions A detailed annex presents cases decided before a variety of arbitral tribunals as well as relevant WTO and ICJ cases and reviews critical literature in the field The increasing number of cases involved with States regulatory measures shows that stakes around water services generate specific legal problems which are new in the world of international economic law As an incisive investigation of what has been called the incursion of investment tribunal decisions into the regulatory autonomy of host States this profound and innovative analysis provides a coherent and consistent method of review that provides greater certainty to both States and investors and deters abuse of power It will be welcomed by policymakers and stakeholders interested in the implications of globalization of water services for the capacity to adapt to climate change and will suggest ways to enable States to better manage vital water services even after privatization to foreign companies
