Positionalities of Translation Studies
 Garda Elsherif, Joanna Sobesto, 2025-06-12 This volume explores historical cultural linguistic and anthropocentric influences on Translation Studies TS It brings together nuanced individual self reflexive case studies and juxtaposes them in order to provoke discussion on the role of contemporary researchers in the discipline of TS As well as reflecting on the historical and geographical dimensions of the situatedness of TS the book builds on existing reflections on the local political and linguistic positions of TS and examines the practical and methodological consequences of these discussions By considering insights and perspectives from various disciplines the contributors refer to the current state of the art in TS and reconstruct the discussions held on Eurocentrism anthropocentrism and the historicity of TS that have been discussed in isolation so far This volume maps potential relations between them and introduces an analytical concept of positionality that highlights commonalities among various discourses As well as theoretical and historical analysis the contributors ask how to methodologically deal with this inevitable positioning of research in contemporary research practice The contributions cover various aspects of positionalities and its influences on translation research including gender anthropocentrism experiential knowledge and geopolitics They also explore various histories of translation studies in different temporal spatial and linguistic settings such as China Chinese Iran Persian the Netherlands English Ukraine Ukrainian Russian and France French thereby highlighting that TS as a discipline is not a monolith but consists of various histories interconnected with each other

Translation Competence and Language Contrast – A Multi-Method Study Iryna Kloster, 2021-10-07 Experience in translation does not always correlate with the quality of the target text Also the evaluations of translation work vary considerably among evaluators Why not shifting the focus of attention from the final translation to the underlying translation process when assessing translation competence Iryna Kloster applies a multi method approach to model the translation competence based on empirical parameters such as gaze behavior dictionary use revisions as well as subjective evaluations of comprehension and translation difficulty Eye tracking keystroke logging screen recording and retrospective interviews were applied to collect data in the experimental groups consisting of novice and semi professional translators As a consequence the author suggests using language contrasts for researching translation competence She draws conclusions based on hypotheses testing provides justification by triangulating quantitative and qualitative data and discusses the results in the light of empirical translation studies as well

Hybrid Englishes and the Challenges of and for Translation Karen Bennett,Rita Queiroz de Barros,2019-03-13 This volume problematizes the concept and practice of translation in an interconnected world in which English despite its hegemonic status can no longer be considered a coherent unified entity but rather a mobile resource subject to various kinds of hybridization Drawing upon recent work in the domains of translation studies literary studies and socio linguistics it explores the centrality of translation as both a trope for the analysis of contemporary transcultural dynamics and as a concrete communication practice in the globalized world The chapters range across many geographic realities and genres including fiction memoir animated film and hip hop and deal with subjects as varied as self translation translational ethics and language change As a whole the book makes an important contribution to our understanding of how meanings are generated and relayed in a context of super diversity in which traditional understandings of language and translation can no longer be sustained

The Translation of Violence in Children's Literature Marija Todorova,2021-11-29 Considering children s literature as a powerful repository for creating and proliferating cultural and national identities this monograph is the first academic study of children s literature in translation from the Western Balkans Marija Todorova looks at a broad range of children s literature from fiction to creative non fiction and picture books across five different countries in the Western Balkans with each chapter including detailed textual and visual analysis through the predominant lens of violence These chapters raise questions around who initiates and effectuates the selection of children s literature from the Western Balkans for translation into English and interrogate the role of different stakeholders such as translators publishers and cultural institutions in the representation and construction of these countries in translated children s literature both in text and visually Given the combination of this study s interdisciplinary nature and Todorova s detailed analysis this book will prove to be an essential resource for professional translators researchers and students in courses in translation studies children s literature or area studies especially that of countries in the Western Balkans
