Manual on Evaluation of Labour Market Policies in Transition Economies Christopher O'Leary,Alena Nesporova,Alexander Samorodov,2001 In response to high levels of open unemployment accompanying the profound transformation of their national labour markets in the 1990 s the transition countries of Central and Eastern Europe launched a number of labour market policies and programmes with the aim of promoting the new employment of workers who were without a job The manual responds to this urgent need It is directed to a wide range of readers some of whom are directly engaged in formulating and implementing labour market programmes while others are benefiting in one way or another from these programmes      Moody's Industrial Manual ,1996 Covering New York American regional stock exchanges international companies      Protecting Historic Architecture and Museum Collections from Natural Disasters Barclay G. Jones,2014-05-12 Protecting Historic Architecture and Museum Collections from Natural Disasters serves as a useful guide for professionals engaged in the preservation of cultural heritage whether structures or artifacts This book discusses how to prevent losses to the cultural heritage of structures and artifacts through more knowledgeable protection prevention and emergency response Organized into six sections encompassing 26 chapters this book begins with an overview of the mechanisms for preserving and protecting the heritage This text then examines the threats of destruction by the natural elements such as decay air pollution subsidence and other forms of attrition Other chapters consider the social functional and economic values of the buildings and museum objects This book discusses as well the natural disaster policies within a society The final chapter deals with the enlistment of the private sector in dealing with catastrophes rising out of fire earthquake flood and other natural disasters This book is a valuable resource for conservation specialists archivists private collectors dealers curators and librarians      The Beginnings of a New National Historic Preservation Program, 1957 to 1969 James A. There are several theories of executive functions that tend to share some theoretical overlap yet are also conceptually distinct each bolstered by empirical data Norman and Shallice 1986 Shallice Stuss and Alexander 2007 Burgess Gilbert Burgess Miyake et al 2000 The notion that executive processes are supervisory and most in demand in novel situations was an early conceptualization of executive function that has been adapted and refined over time Norman Shallice 2001 Burgess Gilbert ii automatic orientation towards stimuli in the environment or internally driven thought Burgess Gilbert iii the automatically generated interface between tacit processes and strategic conscious thought Barker Andrade Romanowski Morton and Wasti 2006 Morton and Barker 2010 and iv distinct but interrelated executive processes that maintain update and switch across different sources of information Miyake et al 2000 One problem is that executive dysfunction or dysexecutive syndrome Baddeley Eslinger Barker Andrade Andr s Chevignard et al 2000 Cripe 1998 Fortin Godbout Lamberts Evans Barker Morton Morrison McGuire 2011 Complete elimination of environmental confounds runs the risk of generating results that cannot be generalized beyond constrained circumstances of the test environment Barker Andrade Burgess et al 2006 Finally translational issues also confound executive function research across different disciplines psychiatry cognitive science and developmental psychology and across typically developing and clinical populations including Autism Spectrum Disorders Head Injury and Schizophrenia Blakemore Taylor Barker Heavey McHale 2013 Consequently there is a need for unification of executive function approaches across disciplines and populations and narrowing of the conceptual gap between theoretical positions clinical symptoms and measurement

Research in action Conny Almekinders, Leni Beukema, Coya Tromp, 2023-09-04

Research in action engages the researcher who wants to live up to the challenges of contemporary science and to contribute to innovation and social change This ambition to contribute to change raises many questions How to define the main target group of the research What role does this group play in the research Which methods of data collection are most appropriate Who are the commissioners of the research and do their interests match with those of the prime target group How to deal with power relations in research situations What do these issues mean for the relation of researcher with the people in the researched situation And last but not least what does it all imply for the researcher him or herself These questions have to be dealt with in situations in which the design and organization of the research is still open but also in situations where these have already been preformatted through the research proposal or earlier developments In any case they have to be framed in the theoretical considerations of what is science This book aims to assist scholars and practitioners who would want to deal with this kind of research and questions The book does not offer recipes nor fixed scenarios It presents a series of practical research cases and theoretical insights by experienced researchers who themselves struggled with what is probably the most meaningful questions of the science today The practical examples of research in action are from different disciplines and include themes from health care policy research agricultural technology and education in Northern and Southern context Four leading themes of research in action are introduced in the first chapter In the last chapter the editors return to the dilemmas research in action and try to clarify the options and responses that are possible in different situations     Record Linkage Techniques--1985 Beth Kilss,Wendy Alvey,1985     Summary Report of the 1967-68 Regional Conferences on the New Preservation Under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, Public Law 89-665 United States.
