In Search Of Parenthood Judith Lasker, Susan Borg, 2010-06 Gripping personal and professional accounts of methods of conception for everyone coping with infertility

The Lost Daughters of China Karin Evans, 2008-10-02 In 1997 journalist Karin Evans walked into an orphanage in southern China and met her new daughter a beautiful one year old baby girl In this fateful moment Evans became part of a profound increasingly common human drama that links abandoned Chinese girls with foreigners who have traveled many miles to complete their families At once a compelling personal narrative and an evocative portrait of contemporary China The Lost Daughters of China has also served as an invaluable guide for thousands of readers as they navigated the process of adopting from China However much has changed in terms of the Chinese government s policies on adoption since this book was originally published and in this revised and updated edition Evans addresses these developments Also new to this edition is a riveting chapter in which she describes her return to China in 2000 to adopt her second daughter who was nearly three at the time Many of the first girls to be adopted from China are now in the teens China only opened its doors to adoption in the 1990s and this edition includes accounts of their experiences growing up in the US and in some cases of returning to China in search of their roots Illuminating the real life stories behind the statistics The Lost Daughters of China is an unforgettable account of the red thread that winds from China s orphanages to loving families around the globe

Silent Sorrows: Let's Talk About

Abortion, Reproductive Technologies, and Adoption Katherine Breckenridge, 2024-05-15 Today's self-indulgent society is one in which satisfying one's desires at the expense of others prevails. This mindset is particularly common in areas of procreation such as abortion and various assisted reproductive technologies. Through a lens that combines Christianity, natural law, and scientific reason, this book discusses how the breakdown of man, woman, marriage, biological connection, the destruction and disregard for human life, and the objectification and commodification of women and children manufactures trauma in not only adults but in children. This trauma is evidenced by the stories of adult children who are victims of society's current cultural trends as well as evidenced by the research of various psychologists, sociologists, and other professionals. For too long, adults have been asking children to conform to their ways of living, assuming children will just get over it, and children are now starting to speak out about the harms of their upbringings. It's essential to illuminate their voices as these familial breakdowns have become so normal that we currently can't talk about any of their negative aspects with any degree of common sense.

Adoptions Today Ann E. Weiss, 2001-01-01 Offers young adults an in-depth look at the history of adoption while examining the changing policies that have been implemented over time, complete with a look at international, interracial, and interfaith adoptions.

Adopted Women and Biological Fathers Elizabeth Hughes, 2017-03-01 Adopted Women and Biological Fathers offers a critical and deconstructive challenge to the dominant notions of adoptive identity. The author explores adoptive women's experiences of meeting their biological fathers and reflects on personal narratives to give an authoritative overview of both the field of adoption and the specific history of adoption reunion. This book takes as its focus the narratives of 14 adopted women as well as the partly fictionalised story of the author and examines their experiences of birth father reunion in an attempt to dissect the ways in which we understand adoptive female subjectivity through a psychosocial lens. Opening a space for thinking about the role of the discursively neglected biological father, this book exposes the enigmatic dimensions of this figure and how telling the relational story of reconciliation might be used to complicate wider categories of subjective completeness, belonging, and truth. This book attempts to subvert the culturally normative unifying system of the mother-child bond and prompts the reader to think about what the biological father might represent and how his role in relation to adoptive female subjects may be understood. This book will be essential reading for those in critical psychology, gender studies, narrative work, sociology, and psychosocial studies, as well as appealing to anyone interested in adoption issues and female subjectivity.

Mother Don't Fore the Best Judith A. Dulberger, 1996-04-01 Mother Don't Fore the Best is a touching collection of letters from the Albany Orphan Asylum in upstate New York: letters from parents to their children and to the asylum superintendent, as well as letters from children placed out on indenture and away from their families.

Finding Our Place Nikki McCaslin, 2010-01-18 This unique one-volume reference guide provides positive and empowering biographical sketches of 100 famous and well-known adoptees throughout time, serving to counter the many negative stereotypes that exist about people who were adopted, fostered, or lived in orphanages.

This work looks at the lives of people who despite circumstances in their childhood were able to succeed in making important contributions to art music science literature politics and entrepreneurship This work answers the call to obtaining difficult to find information about well known adoptees High school students and general readers who are interested in learning more about positive role models in adoption and children s issues will find this book invaluable McCaslin outlines the parameters she used for inclusion in the book and then discusses the history of adoption from ancient civilization to today s society Each entry focuses on the early life of the subject as well as his or her career and achievements Entries include Aristotle Edward Albee Ingrid Bergman Oksana Baiul Ella Fitzgerald Faith Hill Marilyn Monroe Dave Thomas Orson Welles and many more
