Love Among the Chickens P. G. Wodehouse,2014-01-27 A gentleman called to see you when you were out last night sir said Mrs Medley my landlady removing the last of the breakfast things Yes I said in my affable way A gentleman said Mrs Medley meditatively with a very powerful voice Caruso Sir I said did he leave a name Yes sir Mr Utridge Oh my sainted aunt Sir Nothing nothing Thank you sir said Mrs Medley withdrawing from the presence Utridge Oh hang it I had not met him for years and glad as I am as a general thing to see the friends of my youth when they drop in for a chat I doubted whether I was quite equal to Utridge at the moment A stout fellow in both the physical and moral sense of the words he was a trifle too jumpy for a man of my cloistered and intellectual life especially as just now I was trying to plan out a new novel a tricky job demanding complete quiet and seclusion It had always been my experience that when Utridge was around things began to happen swiftly and violently rendering meditation impossible Utridge was the sort of man who asks you out to dinner borrows the money from you to pay the bill and winds up the evening by embroiling you in a fight with a cabman I have gone to Covent Garden balls with Utridge and found myself legging it down Henrietta Street in the grey dawn pursued by infuriated costermongers I wondered how he had got my address and on that problem light was immediately cast by Mrs Medley who returned bearing an envelope It came by the morning post sir but it was left at Number Twenty by mistake Oh thank you Thank you sir said

Mrs Medley I recognised the handwriting The letter which bore a Devonshire postmark was from an artist friend of mine one Lickford who was at present on a sketching tour in the west I had seen him off at Waterloo a week before and I remember that I had walked away from the station wishing that I could summon up the energy to pack and get off to the country somewhere I hate London in July The letter was a long one but it was the postscript which interested me most By the way at Yeovil I ran into an old friend of ours Stanley Featherstonehaugh Ukridge of all people As large as life quite six foot two and tremendously filled out I thought he was abroad The last I heard of him was that he had started for Buenos Ayres in a cattle ship with a borrowed pipe by way of luggage It seems he has been in England for some time I met him in the refreshment room at Yeovil Station I was waiting for a down train he had changed on his way to town As I opened the door I heard a huge voice entreating the lady behind the bar to put it in a pewter and there was S F U in a villainous old suit of grey flannels I ll swear it was the one he had on last time I saw him with pince nez tacked on to his ears with ginger beer wire as usual and a couple of inches of bare neck showing between the bottom of his collar and the top of his coat you remember how he could never get a stud to do its work He also wore a mackintosh though it was a blazing day He greeted me with effusive shouts Wouldn t hear of my standing the racket Insisted on being host When we had finished he fumbled in his pockets looked pained and surprised and drew me aside Look here Licky old horse he said you know I never borrow money It s against my principles But I must have a couple of bob Can you my dear good fellow oblige me with a couple of bob till next Tuesday I ll tell you what I ll do In a voice full of emotion I ll let you have this producing a beastly little threepenny bit with a hole in it which he had probably picked up in the street until I can pay you back This is of more value to me than I can well express Licky my boy A very very dear friend gave it to me when we parted years ago It s a wrench Still no no You must take it you must take it

Sir Pelham Grenville Wodehouse was an English author and one of the most widely read humorists of the 20th century

His creations include the feather brained Bertie Wooster and his sagacious valet Jeeves the immaculate and loquacious Psmith Lord Emsworth and the Blandings Castle set the Oldest Member with stories about golf and Mr Mulliner with tall tales on subjects ranging from bibulous bishops to megalomaniac movie moguls

Born in Guildford the third son of a British magistrate based in Hong Kong Wodehouse spent happy teenage years at Dulwich College to which he remained devoted all his life

After leaving school he was employed by a bank but disliked the work and turned to writing in his spare time

His early novels were mostly school stories but he later switched to comic fiction

Most of Wodehouse's fiction is set in his native United Kingdom although he spent much of his life in the US and used New York and Hollywood as settings for some of his novels and short stories

Wodehouse worked extensively on his books sometimes having two or more in preparation simultaneously

He would take up to two years to build a plot and write a scenario of about thirty thousand words

After the scenario was complete he would write the story

Early in his career he would produce a novel in about three months but he slowed in old age to around six months

He used a mixture of Edwardian slang quotations from and allusions to numerous poets and several literary techniques to produce a prose style that has been compared to comic poetry and musical
