environmentally and in terms of social equity Flood risk management recognises that a sustainable approach must rest on integrated measures that reduce not only the probability of flooding but also the consequences This is essential as increases in the probability of inundation are inevitable in many areas of the world due to climate change while socio economic development will lead to spiralling increases in the consequences of flooding unless land use in floodplains is carefully planned Flood Risk Science and Management provides an extensive and comprehensive synthesis of current research in flood management providing a multi disciplinary reference text covering a wide range of flood management topics Its targeted readership is the international research community from research students through to senior staff and flood management professionals such as engineers planners government officials and those with flood management responsibility in the public sector By using the concept of case study chapters international coverage is given to the topic ensuring a world wide Adhesion in Layered Cement Composites Łukasz Sadowski, 2018-12-12 This book discusses how to identify the level of adhesion in layered systems made of cement composites using a multi scale approach based on experimental and numerical analyses In particular it explains 1 The suitability of previously used artificial intelligence tools and learning algorithms for reliable assessment of the level of adhesion of layered systems made of cement composites based on non destructive tests 2 The development of the methodology for a reliable non destructive evaluation of the level of adhesion in newly constructed layered systems of any overlay thickness and in existing layered systems made of cement composites 3 How to determine whether to assess the level of adhesion of the layered systems and discusses the amplitude parameters spatial hybrid and volume parameters describing the morphology of the concrete substrate surface in the mesoscale 4 How to ascertain whether the effective surface area of the existing concrete substrate and the contribution of the exposed aggregate on this substrate determined in mesoscale have an impact on the level of adhesion of layered systems made of cement composites 5 The assessment of the structure of air pores in the microscale and the chemical composition of the cement composite on the nanoscale in the interphase zone together with the determination of their impact on the level of adhesion of layered systems made of cement composites 6 The development of an effective methodology for testing the level of adhesion of layered systems made of cement composites in a multi scale approach including the research methods and Selected papers from the 2019 IEEE International Workshop on Metrology for AeroSpace Pasquale descriptors used Daponte, Eulalia Balestrieri, 2021-04-21 This book is devoted to recent developments of instrumentation and measurement techniques applied to the aerospace field It includes 23 selected papers from the 2019 IEEE International Workshop on Metrology for AeroSpace Measurements are essential for obtaining a deeper knowledge of a phenomenon or an asset as well as for making proper decisions and proposing new and efficient solutions and this is especially true in environments as complex as aerospace The research contributions included in the book can raise the interest of a wide group of researchers operators and decision makers from metrology and aerospace fields by presenting the most innovative solutions in this field manner This book is intended for beginners in the field who have little or no prior exposure to molecular markers and their applications but who do have a basic knowledge of genetics and plant breeding and some exposure to molecular biology An attempt has been made to provide sufficient basic information in an easy to follow format and also to discuss current issues and developments so as to offer comprehensive coverage of the subject matter The book will also be useful for breeders and research workers as it offers a broad range of up to the year information including aspects like the development of different molecular markers and their various applications. In the first chapter the field of marker assisted plant breeding is introduced and placed in the proper perspective in relation to plant breeding. The next three chapters describe the various molecular marker systems while mapping populations and mapping procedures including high throughput genotyping are discussed in the subsequent five chapters. Four chapters are devoted to various applications of markers e.g. marker assisted selection genomic selection diversity analysis finger printing and positional cloning. In closing the last two chapters provide information on relevant bioinformatics tools and the rapidly evolving field of phenomics. National Library of Medicine Current Catalog.
