Keywords for Travel Writing Studies Charles Forsdick,Zoë Kinsley,Kathryn Walchester,2019-04-22 Keywords for Travel Writing Studies draws on the notion of the keyword as initially elaborated by Raymond Williams in his seminal 1976 text Keywords A Vocabulary of Culture and Society to present 100 concepts central to the study of travel writing as a literary form Each entry in the volume is around 1 000 words the style more essayistic than encyclopaedic with contributors reflecting on their chosen keyword from a variety of disciplinary perspectives The emphasis on travelogues and other cultural representations of mobility drawn from a range of national and linguistic traditions ensures that the volume has a comparative dimension the aim is to give an overview of each term in its historical and theoretical complexity providing readers with a clear sense of how the selected words are essential to a critical understanding of travel writing Each entry is complemented by an annotated bibliography of five essential items suggesting further reading

Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine Gary Fisher,David Robinson,2021-09-07 Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine is an anthology of travel accounts by a diverse range of writers and academics Challenging conventional academic authority each contributor writes from memory during the Covid 19 lockdown about a place they have previously visited accompanied by an historical traveller who published an account of the same place As immobility is forced upon us at least for the immediate future we have the chance to reflect Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine presents opportunities to approach a text as a scholar differently We break with the traditional academic rules by inserting ourselves into the narrative and foregrounding the personal subjective elements of literary scholarship Each contributor critiques an historical description of a place about which simultaneously they write a personal account The travel writer Philip Marsden posits a fundamental difference between traditional academic writing and travel writing in that travel narratives do not or ought not anyway begin by assuming a scholarly authoritative understanding of the places they describe Instead they attempt to say what they found and how they felt about it The very good point we think Marsden makes and the one this book tries to demonstrate is that as a matter of form the first person narrative has the ability to expose the research process to allow the reader to see when and how a scholarly transformation takes place to give the scholar the opportunity to openly foreground their own subjectivity and say this is the personal journey that led me to my conclusions to problematize the unchallenged authority of the scholar Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine challenges the idea of scholarly authority by embracing the subjective nature of research and the first person element We address a problematic distance between travel writing practice and travel writing scholarship in which the latter talks about the former without ever really talking to it Defining travel writing as a genre has often proved more difficult than it might seem but Peter Hulme has suggested that it is ethically necessary for the writer to have visited the place described Hulme asserts that travel writing is certainly literature but it is never fiction If this seems obvious Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine asks the reader to consider the idea that if visiting the place described is necessary for the writer to claim they have produced a travel account might it also be necessary or at least advantageous and valuable for the writer of a scholarly critique of that account to have done the same
