Handbook of Urban Educational Leadership Muhammad

Khalifa, Noelle Witherspoon Arnold, Azadeh F. Osanloo, Cosette M. Grant, 2015-06-01 This authoritative handbook examines the community district and teacher leadership roles that affect urban schools. It will serve as a foundation for pedagogical and educational leadership practices that foster social justice equity and advocacy for those who have been traditionally and historically underserved in education. The handbook's ten sections cover topics as diverse as curriculum instruction and educational outcomes, gender, race, and class, higher education, and leadership preparation and support. Its twenty-nine chapters offer both American and international perspectives.

Urban Education Donna Adair Breault, Louise Anderson Allen, 2008-09-30 This handbook is a resource for parents, community members, teachers, and administrators who want to make a difference in their urban schools. Breault and Allen provide a way for stakeholders to see the roles they can play in building civic capacity for change in urban schools and communities. It also offers critical background information to help stakeholders recognize the complexity and necessity of their efforts. The authors organized this book around the need for beginning, continuing, and enacting conversations to emphasize the need for stakeholders to build relationships with one another in order to advocate for and act on behalf of urban students and communities. While this book eschews prescriptive and simplistic solutions, it does offer ways in which stakeholders create and support an infrastructure for change in their schools and communities. For example, this book helps stakeholders navigate the bureaucracy of urban school districts, build collegial communities of inquiry within schools, develop systematic ways of gathering important data, schools and communities organize the energy and efforts of those who want to get involved, seek out and utilize various resources, and then use the infrastructure of knowledgeable and collegial stakeholders to bring about change. The authors realize how daunting these challenges may seem for stakeholders who want to make a difference in their schools and communities. In response, they offer images of positive changes, including schools, parent associations, and networking strategies used in urban communities today, as glimpses of what is possible through hard work, collaboration, and an imaginative spirit.

International Handbook of Urban Education William T. Pink, George W. Noblit, 2008-09-03 It is evident that urban education has become the central focus of educators at the present time. In the U.S., for example, almost one-third of all school-age children attend schools in large urban school districts. It is in these urban schools where the diversity of cultures and languages is highest and where student learning is most problematic. What has emerged from recent work to improve urban schools is the insight that there is no one-size-fits-all panacea. Rather, we have discovered that the local context shapes in critically important ways what will be effective at the school level. The universality of the problematics with urban education, together with the importance of understanding the local or situated context of improvement interventions, brings into sharp focus the importance and timeliness of an undertaking like the International Handbook of Urban Education. An important focus of the International Handbook of Urban Education will be the interrogation of both the social and political factors that lead to different problem posing and subsequent solutions within each region. An important question to be answered for example is what it takes in terms of resources political will and policy actions to improve urban education Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity Linda C. Tillman, James Joseph Scheurich, 2013-08-21 The rapid growth of diversity within U S schooling and the heightened attention to the lack of equity in student achievement school completion and postsecondary attendance has made equity and diversity two of the principle issues in education educational leadership and educational leadership research The Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity is the first research based handbook that comprehensively addresses the broad diversity in U S schools by race ethnicity culture language gender disability sexual identity and class The Handbook both highly values the critically important strengths and assets that diversity brings to the United States and its schools yet at the same time candidly critiques the destructive deficit thinking biases and prejudices that undermine school success for many groups of students Well known chapter authors explore diversity and related inequities in schools and the achievement problems these issues present to school leaders Each chapter reviews theoretical and empirical evidence of these inequities and provides research based recommendations for practice and for future research Celebrating the broad diversity in U S schools the Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity critiques the inequities connected to that diversity and provides evidence based practices to promote student success for all children Urban Educational Leadership for Social

Urban Education Karen Symms Gallagher, Rodney Goodyear, Dominic Brewer, Robert Rueda, 2013-03-19

Many factors complicate the education of urban students. Among them have been issues related to population density, racial, ethnic, cultural, and linguistic diversity, poverty, racism, individual and institutional, and funding levels. Although urban educators have been addressing these issues for decades, placing them under the umbrella of urban education and treating them as a specific area of practice and inquiry is relatively recent. Despite the wide adoption of the term, a consensus about its meaning exists at only the broadest of levels. In short, urban education remains an ill-defined concept. This comprehensive volume addresses this definitional challenge and provides a 3-part conceptual model in which the achievement of equity for all, regardless of race, gender, or ethnicity, is an ideal that is central to urban education. The model also posits that effective urban education requires attention to the three central issues that confronts all education systems: a accountability of individuals and the institutions in which they work, b leadership which occurs in multiple ways and at multiple levels, and c learning which is the raison d'être of education. Just as a three-legged stool would fall if any one leg were weak or missing, each of these areas is essential to effective urban education and affects the others.

Advanced Theories of Educational Leadership Khalid Arar, Izhar Oplatka, 2022-10-06. Advanced Theories of Educational Leadership presents recent models of leadership and analyzes their components and implications in the educational context. Each chapter features the scholarly background of each model, its components, antecedents, and critically analyzes its values and application to educational institutions. Special attention is given to issues of social justice, equity, equality, anti-racism, and the like. This core text provides aspiring school leaders and administrators with each model, theory, and tools for applying it, with special attention to issues of social justice, equity, diversity, and anti-racism alike. The book is designed in a form of a course textbook for postgraduate students in the field of Educational Leadership and Administration, in studying each model. Also, it provides professors of educational leadership in teaching contents and methods in their courses about school leadership, school improvement, Educational Leadership Development, Superintendents Qualification, School Leadership Professional Development. Every chapter includes teaching tools, reflection questions, and practice activities for students. In addition, the book informs researchers and policymakers aiming at promoting multi-faceted educational leadership for equity and excellence and robust models of leading, improving, and changing schools.

Intersectional Identities and Educational Leadership of Black Women in the USA Sonya Douglass Horsford, Linda C. Tillman, 2016-04-08. This volume examines the educational leadership of Black women in the U.S. as informed by their raced and gendered positionalities, experiences, perspectives, and most importantly, the intersection of these doubly marginalized identities in school and community contexts. While there are bodies of research literature on women in educational leadership, as well as the leadership development philosophies and approaches of Black or African American educational leaders, this issue interrogates the ways in which the Black woman's socially constructed intersectional identity informs her leadership values, approach, and impact. As an act of self-invention, the volume simultaneously showcases the research and voices of Black women scholars' perspectives traditionally silenced in the leadership discourse generally and educational leadership discourse specifically Whether the empirical or conceptual focus is a Black female school principal African American female superintendent Black feminist of the early twentieth century or Black woman education researcher the framing and analysis of each article interrogates how the unique location of the Black woman at the intersection of race and gender shapes and influences their lived personal and or professional experiences as educational leaders This collection will be of interest to education leadership researchers faculty and students practicing school and district administrators and readers interested in education leadership studies leadership theory Black feminist thought intersectionality and African American leadership This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Qualitative Studies in Education The Praeger Handbook of Urban Education Joe L. Kincheloe, 2006 Maintaining that there is nothing simple about urban education this work approaches the study of schooling in cities as a complex universe of the poorest students and schools alongside the wealthiest Perspectives on Diversity, Equity, and Social Justice in Educational Leadership Ashraf Esmail, Abul Pitre, Antonette Aragon, 2017-03-08 Perspectives on Diversity Equity and Social Justice in Educational Leadership provides educational leaders with practical steps for implementing multicultural education into schools Drawing from multicultural scholars like James Banks it equips educational leaders with the knowledge skills and dispositions to ensure that schools provide all students with equal educational opportunities Concepts such as culturally responsive leadership transformative leadership and restorative justice are discussed throughout the book New Perspectives in Educational Leadership Sonya Douglass Horsford, 2010 New Perspectives in Educational Leadership examines educational administration and leadership within the complex social political and community contexts that inform and influence the work of today's educational leaders With particular attention to the implications and larger contexts of shifting demographics high stakes accountability and globalization on schools and society in the twenty first century this volume seeks to advance lines of inquiry presented in other areas of education research that have yet to be fully explored or imagined in the field of educational leadership This unique blend of empirical theoretical and conceptual research by both established and emerging scholars in the field directly acknowledges and addresses the demands of leading increasingly diverse and complex school communities Topics include the social and cultural dynamics of leadership reflective practice politics of equity and adequacy critical servant leadership and the possibilities of transformative leadership within these dynamic educational contexts As a primary or supplementary text in educational administration leadership and foundations courses New Perspectives in Educational Leadership provides a much needed complement to the traditional topics of instructional leadership and education management given the expanding and increasingly complex conditions that face educational administrators and school leaders today Culturally Responsive School Leadership Muhammad Khalifa, 2020-07-27 Culturally Responsive School Leadership focuses on how school leaders can effectively serve minoritized students those who have been historically marginalized in school and society The book demonstrates how leaders can engage students parents teachers and communities in ways that positively impact learning by honoring indigenous heritages and local cultural practices Muhammad Khalifa explores three basic premises First that a full fledged and nuanced understanding of cultural responsiveness is essential to successful school leadership Second that cultural responsiveness will not flourish and succeed in schools without sustained efforts by school leaders to define and promote it Finally that culturally responsive school leadership comprises a number of crucial leadership behaviors which include critical self reflection the development of culturally responsive teachers the promotion of inclusive anti oppressive school environments and engagement with students indigenous community contexts Based on an ethnography of a school principal who exemplifies the practices and behaviors of culturally responsive school leadership the book provides educators with pedagogy and strategies for immediate implementation
