Hearst's International ,1924 The Memoirs of a Young Bastard Tim Burstall,2012 Tim Burstall the celebrated director of Stork Alvin Purple and numerous other definitive ocker comedies is credited with shaking the moribund Australian film industry out of its torpor But long before that in the early 1950s he began keeping a diary to record the world of the group of arties and intellectuals he was living among in Eltham then a rural area outside Melbourne where cheap land was available for mudbrick houses and studios and where suburban rigidities could be mercilessly flouted Burstall was in his mid twenties with two young sons and an open marriage with his wife Betty Eager to become a writer to go against the grain he kept a record almost daily of the parties and the talk in pubs and studios about art and politics and sex of Communist Party branch meetings and film societies of political rallies and the first Herald Outdoor Art Show Somehow while holding down a public relations job in the Antarctic Division and juggling his love affairs and obsession with the beautiful brainy Fay he wrote 500 words almost every day Betty according to the diaries kept the show on the road feeding friends after the pub milking goats and working in her pottery making bowls and mugs which Tim sometimes decorated at weekends These Memoirs of a Young Bastard as Burstall dubbed himself and them are among the most evocative Australian diaries of modern times Burstall can write He has an eye for the telling detail an unerring ear for cant and pomposity and most endearingly an ability to mock himself always from the perspective of a bloke of his generation Hearst's International Combined with Cosmopolitan ,1948 The Good Life and the Greater Good in a Global Context Laura Savu Walker,2015-11-19 The Good Life and the Greater Good in a Global Context offers a timely contribution to the debates about the good life that surround us every day in the media politics the humanities and social sciences The authors examine the relationship between the good life and the greater good as represented across different genres media cultures and disciplines This enables them to develop a framework of values that transcends the overly rational and individualistic model of the good life advanced by neoliberalism and the happiness industry Thus over and against normative conceptualizations of the good life that reduce meaning to money creativity to consumption and compassion to self help the contributors propose an ethically charged philosophy of living that views the care for the self for the other and for the planet as the catalysts of true human flourishing In addition to recovering the original usage of the good life from classical thought especially the Aristotelian understanding of eudaimonia as living well and doing well the essays gathered here highlight its entanglement with distinctly modern ideas of happiness wellbeing flourishing progress revolution democracy the American Dream utopia and sustainability As such the essays capture the breadth and depth of the conversation about the good life that is of central importance to how we relate to the past engage the present and envision the future Caring for the World Paul K.
