

MCAT WRITING SAMPLE: ADVICE AND STRATEGIES

Focus: MCAT Writing Sample

Medical schools want an assessment of your written communication skills, since this is a reflection of your ability to effectively convey information to your future patients, healthcare colleagues, and the public. This is where the Writing Sample of the MCAT comes in.

The Big Picture

You'll be writing two essays during the MCAT, each in response to a stimulus and each within a half-hour allotment. The Writing Sample is the only section that is not comprised of multiple-choice questions. Like the Verbal Reasoning section, this one tends to be underestimated by MCAT test takers. Most think that they can just apply their everyday writing skills to the MCAT and do ok on the essays. This is a dangerous presumption. In every facet, the MCAT is a test of analytical reasoning- even in the Writing Sample.

The Stimulus

The statement you're to respond to will be in the format along the lines of:

True leadership leads by example rather than by command.

It may be an opinion, a widely-shared belief, a philosophical dictum, or an assertion regarding general policy concerns in such areas as history, political science, business, ethics, or art. You can be sure that the statement will not concern scientific or technical subjects, your reasons for entering the medical profession, emotionally charged religious or social issues, or obscure social or political issues that might require specialized knowledge.

The Three-Task Essay

Though worded slightly differently each time, the instructions that follow the statement will ask you to perform three tasks. When completed properly, the following tasks create a balanced essay:

Task One: Provide your interpretation of the statement. The degree to which you develop the statement in the first task dictates the depth and sophistication of your entire essay.

Task two: Offer a concrete example that illustrates a point of view directly opposite to the one expressed or implied by the statement. You must give a counter-example; it can be factual or hypothetical.
