Handel En Scheepvaart Van Amsterdam In De Vijftiende Eeuw:

Handel en Scheepvaart van Amsterdam in de Vijftiende Eeuw Frans Ketner, 1946 The Rise of the Amsterdam Market and Information Exchange Clé Lesger, 2016-12-05 Most scholars agree that during the sixteenth century the centre of European international trade shifted from Antwerp to Amsterdam presaging the economic rise of the Dutch Republic in the following century Traditionally this shift has been accepted as the natural consequence of a dynamic and progressive city such as Amsterdam taking advantage of expanding commercial opportunities at the expense of a more conservative rival hampered by outmoded medieval practices Yet whilst this theory is widely accepted is it accurate In this groundbreaking study Cl Lesger argues that the shift of commercial power from Antwerp to Amsterdam was by no means inevitable and that the highly specialized economy of the Low Countries was more than capable of adapting to the changing needs of international trade It was only when the Dutch Revolt and military campaigns literally divided the Low Countries into separate states that the existing stable spatial economy and port system fell apart and a restructuring was needed Within this process of restructuring the port of Amsterdam acquired a function radically different to the one it had prior to the division of the Netherlands Before the Revolt it had served as the northern outpost in a gateway system centred on Antwerp but with access of that port now denied to the new republic Amsterdam developed as the main centre for Dutch shipping trade and crucially the exchange of information Drawing on a wide variety of neglected archival collections including those of the Bank of Amsterdam this study not only addresses specific historical questions concerning the commercial life of the Low Countries but through the case study of Amsterdam also explores wider issues of early modern European commercial trade and economic development Handel en Scheepvaart Van Amsterdam in de Vijftiende Eeuw, 1946 Urban Achievement in Early Modern Europe Patrick O'Brien, 2001-04-12 Comparative urban history examines early modern economic and cultural achievements in Antwerp Amsterdam and London The Rise and Decline of Dutch Technological Leadership (2 Vols) Karel Davids, 2008-08-31 Technological leadership is an important topic in economic history and the history of technology This book addresses the issue of technological leadership by means of an in depth study on the Dutch Republic once described as the first modern economy Drawing on extensive research in archives in Europe and a vast amount of printed sources and secondary literature it provides a wide ranging overview of Dutch technological leadership in the early modern Europe it explains whence this leadership came about and why it ended and it explores to what extent the Dutch case illuminates the evolution of technological leadership in general This book is thus relevant for the study of technological leadership the development of technology in the early modern period as well as the history of the economic expansion of the Dutch Republic A History of Brewing in Holland, 900-1900 Richard Unger, 2001-07-26 This book offers a comprehensive history of brewing in Holland from the beginnings of large scale production at the end of the first millennium through medieval expansion the boom of the Renaissance and the disastrous decline of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries It closes with the revival of the industry in the era of industrialization Major technical innovations from Germany in the fourteenth and again in the nineteenth century made it possible for brewing to take a leading role in the Dutch economy The adaptation of those improvements went on always under the careful supervision of the state Relying on the extensive records of urban and provincial governments the author traces the cooperation as well as tension between brewers and public authorities spanning one thousand years Handel En Scheepvaart Van Amsterdam in de 15e Eeuw Ketner,1946

Dutch Deltas Werner Scheltjens,2015-07-14 In Dutch Deltas Werner Scheltjens examines the emergence functions and structure of the Low Countries maritime transport system between ca 1300 and 1850 Scheltjens introduces the delta as a suitable geographical unit of analysis for understanding the regional economic origins of communities of maritime transporters The author proves that changes in maritime trade networks and in the structure of regional economies entailed a process of specialisation which led to the emergence of professional maritime transport communities and the development of an integrated maritime transport market with Amsterdam and Rotterdam as its main centres Dutch Deltas offers the first comprehensive study of the economic geography of the Low Countries maritime transport sector and its long term development between 1300 and 1850

Beer in the Middle Ages and the Renaissance Richard W. Unger,2013-05-22 The beer of today brewed from malted grain and hops manufactured by large and often multinational corporations frequently associated with young adults sports and drunkenness is largely the result of scientific and industrial developments of the nineteenth century Modern beer however has little in common with the drink that carried that name through the Middle Ages and Renaissance Looking at a time when beer was often a nutritional necessity was sometimes used as medicine could be flavored with everything from the bark of fir trees to thyme and fresh eggs and was consumed by men women and children alike Beer in the Middle Ages and the Renaissance presents an extraordinarily detailed history of the business art and governance of brewing During the medieval and early modern periods beer was as much a daily necessity as a source of inebriation and amusement It was the beverage of choice of urban populations that lacked access to secure sources of potable water a commodity of economic as well as social importance a safe drink for daily consumption that was less expensive than wine and a major source of tax revenue for the state In Beer in the Middle Ages and the Renaissance Richard W Unger has written an encompassing study of beer as both a product and an economic force in Europe Drawing from archives in the Low Countries and England to assemble an impressively complete history Unger describes the transformation of the industry from small scale production that was a basic part of housewifery to a highly regulated commercial enterprise dominated by the wealthy and overseen by government authorities Looking at the intersecting technological economic cultural and political changes that influenced the transformation of brewing over centuries he traces how improvements in technology and in the distribution of information combined to standardize quality showing how the process of urbanization created the concentrated markets essential for commercial production Weaving together the stories of prosperous businessmen skilled brewmasters and small producers this impressively researched overview of the social and cultural practices that surrounded the beer industry is rich in implication for the history of the period as a whole The Dynamics of Economic Culture in the North Sea and Baltic Region Hanno Brand, Leos Müller, 2007 De Zuiderzee als transportlandschap W.B. Waldus, 2022-02-05 Binnenvaart over de Zuiderzee is zeer belangrijk geweest voor de spectaculaire groei van de vroegmoderne Nederlandse economie 1550 1700 Dat concludeert promovendus Wouter Waldus Hij heeft voor zijn promotie de vloot van de turfschipperij op de Zuiderzee goed onderbouwd berekend en vergeleken met andere sectoren Daarnaast heeft hij de Zuiderzee als maritiem transportlandschap volledig in kaart gebracht vaarroutes markeringen redes etc Zo kon hij het unieke karakter van het binnenvaartnetwerk duidelijk maken Waldus vond tijdens zijn onderzoek ook aanwijzingen voor gezinsbewoning aan boord van binnenschepen rond 1650 veel vroeger dan tot nu toe werd aangenomen

Ships and Shipping in the North Sea and Atlantic, 1400-1800 Richard W. Unger, 2019-05-23 First published in 1997 this collection of articles two of which hitherto only appeared in Dutch examines the technical changes in shipbuilding as well as new practices in shipping and fishing from the late Middle Ages to the Industrial Revolution It seeks to show how these changes transformed the European economy and affected the relationship between the economy and governments and to portray the process although most dramatic in the Dutch Republic as part of a general European phenomenon The studies also investigate the causes of these developments and suggest how improvements in shipping may have affected patterns of trade and behaviour of public authorities At Home on the World Markets Joost Jonker, Keetie Sluyterman, 2001-03-01 The Dutch economy has relied on trade for centuries During the seventeenth century the Netherlands experienced a Golden Age built largely on commercial enterprise and trade continues to be the golden link in the supply chain from producers to consumers Yet we know very little about the business of trade and the people involved in it What was the nature of their work and how did it evolve through the ages In the lavishly illustrated At Home on the World Markets Joost Jonker and Keetie Sluyterman look at mercantile dynasties such as the Trips and the Van Eeghens and companies such as the famous Dutch East Indian Company VOC and the modern trading company Hagemeyer that have been largely unstudied They describe the evolution of a unique economic sector that occupies a key position in the supply chain from producers to consumers

Shipping and Economic Growth 1350-1850 , 2011-03-21 In sixteen essays authors explore the dramatic rise in the efficiency of European shipping in the three centuries before the Industrial Revolution They offer reasons for the greater success of the sector than any other in making better use of labor They describe the roots political organizational technological ecological human of rising productivity treating those sources both theoretically and empirically Comparisons with China show why Europeans came to dominate Asian waters Building on past research the volume is a statement of what is known about that critical sector of the early modern European economy and indicates the contribution shipping made to the emergence of the West as the dominant force on the oceans of the world Production and Consumption in the Low

Countries, 13th-16th Centuries Raymond van Uytven, 2024-10-28 The subject of this volume is the relationship between production and consumption considered not only as the supply and demand sides of economic life but within the broader context of the societies of the Low Countries between the 12th and the 16th centuries Amongst the topics covered are the reality of the so called late medieval depression comparisons between the great merchant cities of Bruges and Antwerp and the actual importance of the trade in art and luxury goods One group of articles then looks in detail at the cloth industry which remained the mainstay of the region's wealth and the effects upon it of changes in technology and in fashion while the volume concludes with two studies specially translated from Dutch on wine and beer consumption Mediaeval Trade and Finance
