Innovation In The Schoolhouse

T. Philip Nichols

Innovation In The Schoolhouse:

Innovation in the Schoolhouse Jack Leonard, 2013 The call for entrepreneurial leadership in education has never been stronger but there is little descriptive information about this kind of leadership and even less advice on how a leader might grow in this dimension Beginning with the constant need for innovation in every learning organization the author makes a case for an entrepreneurial style of leadership in education The author paints a multi faceted picture of entrepreneurial leadership using stories of real leaders in combination with writings from the social sciences education natural sciences business and the arts The incursion of business practices in education is also addressed head on The author defends the historic democratic tradition of education against 21st century neoliberal trends while allowing room to learn from best practices in other fields The role of risk taking and incentives is examined along with leadership motives The goal of this book is not just better leaders but educational organizations that are entrepreneurial in nature The author offers practical advice to educational leaders from teachers to principals to superintendents on practical steps toward a more innovative organization Specific chapters on the school leader teacher leaders and school partnerships offer practical wisdom for out of the box thinking

Innovation up Close A. Michael Huberman, Matthew B. Miles, 2013-06-29 School improvement like motherhood has many advocates Everyone is for it without having to campaign actively on its behalf And just as the 100% of people who have had mothers think they know how mothering could be done better so the nearly 100% of people who have been pupils in schools or have even taught in or managed them think they know how schools can be improved More precisely they are sure that schools ought to be improved The trouble is that they propose a staggering conflicting range of methods of improving the schools from back to the woodshed to teacher merit pay a stiffer curriculum a stronger tax base reorganization a more humane climate teacher proof innovations community involvement the list is nearly end less Furthermore the issues are not merely technical but normative and political The term improvement is itself problematic One person's version of improvement is another's version of wastefulness or even of worsening the schools Furthermore the versions that win out in any particular school are not Improvement sometimes turns out to be merely a necessarily technically best code word for the directives that administrators have successfully put into place or for the agreements that teachers have lobbied into being How much do we really know about school improvement The available research literature is quite substantial but not as helpful as it might be

Shaking Up the Schoolhouse Phillip C. Schlechty, 2004-04-27 Once again Phil Schlechty demonstrates why I consider him to be one of the clearest minds in American education He knows how important public education is to our democracy and has real ideas for making it better This book is a must read for policymakers at any level and for those who think and care about school improvement Paul D Houston executive director American Association of School Administrators Schlechty shares leading edge insights and offers practical guidance to anyone who affects student learning His suggestions are wonderful dialogue starters for educators searching for ways to make dramatic improvement in schools Dennis Sparks executive director National Staff Development Council In this visionary book renowned educator Phillip Schlechty argues for change adept school systems He not only challenges educational administrators teachers teacher leaders legislators and policymakers to recognize the need for transformation but also shows how they can grow into skillful leaders of lasting change Shaking Up the Schoolhouse begins with an incisive discussion of the dangers and opportunities in reworking school systems Drawing from decades of experience and from actual cases the author describes the essential characteristics of change adept organizations He then presents a practical framework for helping teachers to overcome obstacles in the learning experience from reviewing the competition to improving student engagement through more effective standards Schlechty also focuses on empowering principals superintendents and school board members as they struggle with structural and cultural change in their schools and communities

Bringing Innovation to School Suzie Boss, 2012-07-02 Are you preparing a new generation of innovators Activate your students creativity and problem solving potential with breakthrough learning projects Across all grades and content areas student driven collaborative projects will teach students how to generate innovative ideas and then put them into action You ll take learning to new heights and help students master core content A Systemic Approach to School Development Inger Marie Dalehefte, Jorunn H. Midtsundstad, 2022 The project School In was an in service professional development project which aimed to improve inclusion and facilitate schools academic results by taking the local context expectation structures and school culture into consideration This intervention project was based on a systemic approach and designed to include the entire teaching staff ensuring cross disciplinary and cross level impact Conducted in five Norwegian municipalities School In was financed by the Research Council of Norway NFR as an innovation project for the public sector This book gives a detailed overview of the project School In documenting its research and intervention methods It provides stakeholders educational researchers and practitioners with information about the make up of the study In this book School In is presented as an example of how new ideas and knowledge can be gained from several research approaches and readers are given specific examples of how development processes may be conducted and investigated in schools Building the Innovation School T.
