Turbulence characterises the current global scene This book uses complementary theoretical approaches to understand and help prescribe policies to re frame the regional development problem in turbulent times These approaches are evolutionary complexity evolutionary economic geography emergence theory and resilience theory From below they address the four major crises creating a perfect storm for societies and economics involving the climate change crisis the energy crisis the banking and financial crisis and the global economic crisis This book analyses and proposes ways in which regional economies in particular are having to be reframed to address these crises First many must evolve in new ways possibly moving back from the service economy towards a new greener form of manufacturing of goods as well as services Accordingly regional economies are innovating in new ways Amongst these are the quest for relatedness within their own regional orbits and promoting modularity as a mode of analysis and a policy stance to stimulate innovation across industry and geographical borders Finally regional economies and societies are discovering that from a resilience perspective they must find answers to the higher levels of governance with which they increasingly struggle In this respect regional economies are in transition and regional processes are emergent The transition seeks to address the four crises involving re balancing re directing and re framing future policy and practice This book describes many of the novel framings involved in understanding the new ways in which this major task is being addressed in theory policy and everyday practice New

The Elusive Enemy Douglas Ford, 2011-10-15 The Elusive Enemy explores the evolution of U S intelligence concerning the combat capabilities of the Imperial Japanese Navy and its air arm during the interwar period and the Pacific War Ford contends that the US Navy could not accurately determine the fighting efficiency of Japan s forces until it engaged them in actual battle conditions over an extended period As the conflict progressed the Americans were able to rely on a growing array of intelligence material including POWs captured documents and specimens of captured enemy weapons These sources often revealed valuable information on the characteristics of Japanese equipment as well as some of the ideas and doctrines which governed how they carried out their operations First hand observations of the Japanese navy s performance in battle were the most frequently used source of intelligence which enabled the US Navy to develop a more informed assessment of its opponent Ship crews along with US aviators were tasked to collect information by making a thorough observation of how the Japanese fought Action reports described how the Imperial fleet demonstrated a number of weaknesses the most important of which was a shortage of modern equipment and after 1942 diminished air power Yet he demonstrates how the Japanese remained a resilient enemy who could be defeated only when the Americans deployed sufficient equipment and used it in an appropriate manner The Office of Naval Intelligence as well as the intelligence services operating in the Pacific theater thus had to assess a wide array of conflicting characteristics and provide a balanced evaluation concerning the strengths and weaknesses of the Imperial navy At the same time a large part of the intelligence analysis was undertaken by commanders in the Pacific Fleet Naval personnel and aircrews assessed the information gained through encounters with the enemy so that they could develop a set of methods whereby US forces were able defeat the Japanese without incurring excessive casualties and losses The intelligence services in turn played an important role in disseminating the information on the most efficient tactics and weapons that could be used to defeat the Imperial Fleet The Elusive Enemy aims to explain how American perceptions concerning the Japanese navy evolved during the conflict with a particular focus on the role of intelligence It also seeks to introduce a new perspective on the question as to why the U S Navy carried out its campaigns during the Pacific War in the manner that it did

Development and Modern Industrial Policy in Practice Jesus Felipe, 2015-04-24 Development and Modern Industrial Policy in Practice provides an up to date analysis of industrial policy Modern industrial policy refers to the set of actions and strategies used to favor the more

Wolfe,2014-04-30 In a globalizing knowledge based economy innovation and creative capacity lead to economic prosperity Starting in 2006 the Innovation Systems Research Network began a six year long study on how city regions in Canada were surviving and thriving in a globalized world That study resulted in the Innovation Creativity and Governance in Canadian City Regions series which examines the impact of innovation talent and institutions on sixteen city regions across Canada This volume explores how the social dynamics that influence innovation and knowledge flows in Canadian city regions contribute to transformation and long term growth With case studies examining cities of all sizes from Toronto to Moncton Innovating in Urban Economies analyzes the impact of size location and the regional economy on innovation and knowledge in Canada s cities Bridging the Gap Between AI, Cognitive Science, and Narratology With Narrative Generation Ogata, Takashi,Ono, Jumpei,2020-09-25 The use of cognitive science in creating stories languages visuals and characters is known as narrative generation and it has become a trending area of study Applying artificial intelligence AI techniques to story development has caught the attention of professionals and researchers however few studies have inherited techniques used in previous literary methods and related research in social sciences Implementing previous narratology theories to current narrative generation systems is a research area that remains unexplored Bridging the Gap Between AI Cognitive Science and Narratology With Narrative Generation is a collection of innovative research on the analysis of current practices in narrative generation systems by combining previous theories in narratology and literature with current methods of AI The book bridges the gap between AI cognitive science and narratology with narrative generation in a broad sense including other content generation such as a novels poems movies computer games and advertisements The book emphasizes that an important method for bridging the gap is based on designing and implementing computer programs using knowledge and methods of narratology and literary theories In order to present an organic systematic and integrated combination of both the fields to develop a new research area namely post narratology this book has an important place in the creation of a new research area and has an impact on both narrative generation studies including AI and cognitive science and narrative studies including narratology and literary theories It is ideally designed for academicians researchers and students as well as enterprise practitioners engineers and creators of diverse content generation fields such as advertising production computer game creation comic and manga writing and movie production Leadership Matters Thomas E. Cronin,Michael A. Genovese,2015-11-17 Some leaders fundamentally alter the status quo whilst others guide quietly Most leadership books emphasise specific rules but Tom Cronin and Michael Genovese see leadership as filled with paradox Leadership Matters offers a different view of leadership one that builds community and responds creatively to new situations Cronin and Genovese argue that leadership is about more than just charisma and set leaders on to a different path to unleash the power of paradox Innovative Quality Improvements in Operations Tomas Backström,Anders Fundin,Peter E. Johansson,2017-07-13 This book examines current and emerging challenges in manufacturing related to the ideal of developing production processes with variability and agility on one level of the system combined with structures ensuring stability and robustness on another level close to what by other scholars has been discussed in terms of continuous innovation. However, this ideal has proven to be difficult to achieve in practice and there is a need for enhanced and more sophisticated theoretical models dealing with the complexity surrounding organizational conditions to foster incremental as well as radical change in production systems and at the same time to ensure stability over time. As a theoretical frame of reference, a perspective on change where conflicting demands and conflicting activities e.g. exploration and exploitation are seen as intertwined and interdependent is used throughout the book. The ideal from this perspective is to make use of such conflicting forces and to develop the change dynamics by keeping them in the same social system, not to structurally separate them in different departments or different initiatives. The main purpose of the book is to address an increased need for quality improvement through innovation and disruptive change in production. Traditional theories and managerial models of production systems are developed with a focus on stability and improvement. There is a need for enhanced models to reach an ability to develop new future production systems. The goal of the book is to provide nuances and new perspectives giving more realistic models of the production system to be able to increase the change potentiality of the organization and thus the long term competitiveness. Learning and organizational perspectives are in focus as enablers to increase the understanding of a production system as such. Long term competitiveness through adaptability and the potential for radical improvement is of importance throughout the book. The use of dualities and the concept of ambidextrous organizations as a frame of understanding is the innovative strength for this area.

Web-Based Green Products Life Cycle Management Systems: Reverse Supply Chain Utilization Wang, Hsiao-Fan, 2008-12-31

Provides a review of current and potential research in green management and control. Creating Wealth from Knowledge

J. R. Bessant, Tim Venables, 2010-01-01. This book illustrates that although innovation has always mattered in economic development, simply increasing expenditure in creating knowledge may not be the answer. We need to look at the whole system through which such knowledge translates to value creation. The contributors explore the implications of the changing twenty-first century context of networked global and increasingly open innovation, a world in which knowledge flows become as important as knowledge creation. In so doing, they address four key questions: what is the context within which innovation occurs in the UK? How do new firms form on the basis of knowledge and its deployment? How do established firms access and use knowledge to improve their current activities and generate new directions? What technical and organizational infrastructures enable these activities? Drawing out lessons for future research, this book will be of great interest to academics concerned with science and innovation policy and its implementation. Managers and policy makers involved in innovation and technology strategy and with developing responses to new challenges such as open innovation will also find much to interest them within this book.
