Love Changes Urban Renaissance:

The Roots of Urban Renaissance Brian D. Goldstein, 2023-03-14 An acclaimed history of Harlem's journey from urban crisis to urban renaissance With its gleaming shopping centers and refurbished row houses today's Harlem bears little resemblance to the neighborhood of the midcentury urban crisis Brian Goldstein traces Harlem's Second Renaissance to a surprising source the radical social movements of the 1960s that resisted city officials and fought to give Harlemites control of their own destiny Young Harlem activists inspired by the civil rights movement envisioned a Harlem built by and for its low income predominantly African American population In the succeeding decades however the community based organizations they founded came to pursue a very different goal a neighborhood with national retailers and increasingly affluent residents The Roots of Urban Renaissance demonstrates that gentrification was not imposed on an unwitting community by unscrupulous developers or opportunistic outsiders Rather it grew from the neighborhood's grassroots producing a legacy that benefited some longtime residents and threatened others

Eliminating the Achievement Gap William Jeynes, 2019-10-04 The purpose of the Eliminating the Achievement Gap is to provide a resource for scholars and students into many of the most salient issues trends and factors that are most effective in reducing the achievement gap Eliminating the Achievement Gap is particularly unique because it will 1 utilize a meta analysis to determine what factors contribute the most to reducing the achievement gap and 2 examine potential achievement gap reducing variables from across disciplines These disciplines include education sociology economics family science psychology public policy and educational psychology The second emphasis is largely based on the meta analysis because the results of the meta analysis indicate that the best way to completely eliminate the achievement gap is to initiate a multidisciplinary approach to the achievement gap It is the intention of this book to make scholars educators policymakers parents and the general public more aware of the factors that best bridge the achievement gap so that they can take major steps to implementing comprehensive and multidisciplinary efforts The more such efforts are inaugurated the more the achievement gap will be reduced The nine chapters of this book are therefore divided into four parts to reflect this extent of this comprehensive approach Detroit, American Urban Renaissance Arthur M.
