Innovation Networks And Learning Regions Regional Policy And Development:

Innovation Networks and Learning Regions? James Simme, 2004-08-02 Innovation Networks and Learning Regions address key issues of understanding in contemporary economic geography and local economic policy making in cities and regions in the advanced economies Developing the idea that innovation is the primary driving force behind economic change and growth the international range of contributors stress the importance of knowledge and information as the raw materials of innovation They examine the ways in which these elements may be acquired and linked through networks and demonstrate that there are empirical examples of innovative areas which do not have highly developed networks yet appear to be relatively successful in terms of local economic growth In so doing they raise crucial questions about the ways in which regions or localities might be described as truly learning areas and about the sustainability of future economic and quality of life success based on innovation and high technology

Innovation, Networks, and Learning Regions? James Simmie, 1997 This text addresses key issues of understanding in contemporary economic geography and local economic policy making in cities and regions in the advanced economies It develops the theme that innovation is the main driving force behind economic change and growth The emphasis is on the ways in which knowledge and information may be acquired and linked through networks The contributors show that there are empirical examples of innovative areas which do not have highly developed networks and yet appear to be relatively successful in terms of local economic growth This leads to questions of the ways in which regions or localities might be described as truly learning areas Finally some difficult questions are raised concerning the sustainability of future economic and quality of life success based on innovation and high technology

Tourism Local Systems and Networking Luciana Lazzeretti, Clara S. Petrillo, 2006 This collection of research findings covers the subject from either an applied economics or a managerial sciences approach International case studies include examples from Portugal Italy and Malaysia set in the context of tourism marketing theory

Urban Transformations Nicholas Wise, Julie Clark, 2017-06-14 Economic restructuring and demographic change have in recent years placed much strain on urban areas with the effects falling disproportionately on neighbourhoods that were previously underpinned by industry and manufacturing This has presented policy makers and city planners with a binary choice to resist change and stagnate or to change and attempt to keep up with the pace of global demand This edited book tells the story of how urban transformation impacts on people's lives and everyday interactions to question where and to whom benefit accrues from these changes Urban Transformations offers insight into both risk and reward as local communities and public authorities creatively address the challenge of building vital and sustainable urban environments The authors in this edited collection argue that understanding the specifics of community space and place is crucial to delivering insights into how where when why and for whom urban areas might successfully transform The chapters investigate urban change using a range of approaches and case studies from the four corners of the Earth from the United States to Iran from the United Kingdom to Canada The varying scales at which governance or regeneration initiatives operate the nature and composition of urban communities and the local or global interests of different private sector actors all raise questions for urban policy and practice It is important to not only consider the drivers of regeneration but its beneficiaries need to be identified This edited volume addresses and elaborates on critical issues facing urban transformation and renewal as a basis for future discussion on strategies for successful urban transformation Technopolis Deog-Seong Oh, Fred Phillips, 2013-12-13 Six years of UNESCO World Technopolis Association workshops held at various world cities and attended by government officials and scholars from nearly all the world's countries have resulted in a uniquely complete collection of reports on science park and science city projects in most of those countries These reports of which a selected few form chapters in this book allow readers to compare knowledge based development strategies practices and successes across countries The chapters illustrate varying levels of cooperation across government industry and academic sectors in the respective projects and the reasons and philosophies underlying this variation and resulting differences in practices and results The Unequal City John Rennie Short, 2017-07-14 In recent years there has been intense scholarly and public interest in the changing nature of cities Cities around the world have seen an increase in population and capital investments in land and building a shift in central city populations as the poor are forced out and a radical restructuring of urban space The Unequal City tells the story of urban change and acts as a comprehensive guide to the Urban Now A number of trends are examined including the role of liquid capital the resurgence of population the construction of megaprojects and hosting of global megaevents the role of the new rich and the emergence of a new middle class International Encyclopedia of Human Geography , 2009-07-16 The International Encyclopedia of Human Geography provides an authoritative and comprehensive source of information on the discipline of human geography and its constituent and related subject areas The encyclopedia includes over 1 000 detailed entries on philosophy and theory key concepts methods and practices biographies of notable geographers and geographical thought and praxis in different parts of the world This groundbreaking project covers every field of human geography and the discipline's relationships to other disciplines and is global in scope involving an international set of contributors Given its broad inclusive scope and unique online accessibility it is anticipated that the International Encyclopedia of Human Geography will become the major reference work for the discipline over the coming decades The Encyclopedia will be available in both limited edition print and online via ScienceDirect featuring extensive browsing searching and internal cross referencing between articles in the work plus dynamic linking to journal articles and abstract databases making navigation flexible and easy For more information pricing options and availability visit http://info.sciencedirect.com/content/books_ref_works coming Available online on ScienceDirect and in limited edition print format Broad interdisciplinary coverage across human geography Philosophy Methods People Social Cultural Political Economic Development Health Cartography Urban Historical Regional Comprehensive and unique the first of its kind in human geography The Creative Class Goes

Global Charlotta Mellander, Richard Florida, Bjørn T. Asheim, Meric Gertler, 2013-11-07 The whole landscape of research in urban studies was revolutionized by the publication of Richard Florida's The Rise of the Creative Class in 2002 and his subsequent book entitled The Flight of the Creative Class has helped to maintain a decade long explosion of interest in the field While these two books examine the creative class in the context of the United States research has emerged which investigates the creative class worldwide This book brings together detailed studies of the creative class in cities across the globe examining the impact of the creative class on growth and development The countries covered include the United Kingdom the Netherlands Germany Australia China Japan and Canada in addition to the United States Taken together the contributions deepen our understanding of the creative class and the various factors that affect regional development highlighting the similarities and differences between the creative class and economic development across countries This book will be of great interest to scholars of economic geography regional economics urban sociology and cultural policy as well as policy makers involved in urban development

Learning at the Crossroads of Theory and Practice Piet Van den Bossche, Wim H. Gijssels, Richard G. Milder, 2012-03-19 Core concepts in education are changing For example professional performance or expertise is not uniquely the fruit of specialist knowledge acquired at professional schools but the sum of influences exerted by a complex web of continuous learning opportunities for which an individual is well or ill prepared by their schools and their workplace The key contributory factors to professional expertise are how professional schools connect to professional practice how schools prepare graduates for continuous learning and how the workplace endorses continuous development Thus the question this volume addresses how to design learning and working environments that facilitate the integration of these three elements is at the heart of contemporary pedagogical theory The authors also ask a second vital question how do we educate learners that go on to maximize their life's learning opportunities by regulating their own ongoing learning Learning at the Crossroads of Theory and Practice argues that with the theory of learning at a crossroads this is an unprecedented opportunity for learning about learning The book sheds light on different elements of this challenge integrating theory and practice in business education generating and fully exploiting workplace learning opportunities and enriching our classrooms by coupling theoretical knowledge with the richness of real life experience

Regional Development and Proximity Relations André Torre, Frédéric Wallet, 2014-02-28 The notion of proximity is increasing in popularity in economic and geographic literature and is now commonly used by scholars in regional science and spatial economics

The European Territory Jacques Robert, 2014-05-09 Originally published in French as Le territoire européen des racines aux enjeux globaux this book reflects the enormous changes that Europe has seen in the past half century In a period of immense upheaval the continent has experienced increased integration largely through the development of the European Union heightened urbanization and a changing rural landscape while economic and commercial activities have impressed their stamp on the whole scene In this book Jacques Robert deploys the experience amassed throughout his 35 years experience as adviser to European institutions in the field of territorial and regional development The chapter on cities explains the emergence of the European urban hierarchy and the driving forces and inertia behind its evolution while a following chapter looks at the changing role of rural areas This material provides a historic overview of relevant policies and a discussion of future challenges The third chapter discusses evolving paradigms of regional economic development and their impact on European regions Next there is a chapter on the historical roots and current processes within territorial integration The book concludes with an examination of Europe's place in the world at large focussing particularly on globalization effects climate change and new energy paradigms which will present real challenges for decades to come The book is unique in its combination of in depth analysis of the evolution of European territorial policies and paradigms but also in its geographically comprehensive approach integrating the experience of both Western and Eastern Europe It will be of interest to academics and professionals within territorial development and spatial planning

Smaller Cities in a World of Competitiveness Peter Karl Kresl, Daniele Ietri, 2016-04-28 Much recent research in Urban Studies has concentrated on the notion of the global city but discussion has also covered a larger set of mega cities with populations in excess of 10 million This analysis has begged the question of the optimal size for a city is larger always better Smaller Cities explores the advantages and disadvantages of different sized cities trying to determine their place in the global economy and hierarchy How can smaller cities gain or retain their competitiveness in a world of large cities In a globalized world the nation has perhaps been diminished as an economic actor with fiscal shortcomings and political gridlock leaving cities more or less on their own in the task of enhancing their competitiveness and improving the economic lives of their residents This book argues that smaller cities of varying population can be important actors in competitiveness and aims to bring attention to an area often overlooked by researchers In short are Pittsburgh San Diego and Austin less competitive than London and Mumbai This volume will be of interest to students researchers and city professionals who work in urban economy and urban geography

Spaces and Places in Central and Eastern Europe Gyula Horváth, 2014-08-21 Across Europe there is a rapidly changing context for undertaking regional development In the 20th century development of the former planned economies Bulgaria Czech Republic Hungary Poland Romania and Slovakia was defined by these countries differences rather than their common ideological roots These disparities altered over time and were marked by changing social structures However the ranking of regions has remained the same as core areas have strengthened their positions while the structural obstacles to the modernisation of peripheral areas have remained due to a lack of coherent regional policy This book examines the specific regional development paths of Central and Eastern European countries and evaluates the effects of the determining factors of this process Through analysis of the system of objectives instruments and institutions used in different eras and case studies of Hungary East Germany and Germany development models are established and compared with Western European patterns The book summarises the experiences of Central and Eastern European regional cooperation and examines the basic nature of the cohesion problems of the Carpathian Basin trans national macro region It confirms by comparative historical analyses that the transformation was indeed unique This book will make a welcome addition to the literature for students and academics interested in the broader picture of Central and Eastern European politics future integration within the European Union and the history of regional development processes Socio-Economic Segregation in European Capital Cities Tiit Tammaru,Szymon Marcińczak,Maarten van Ham,Sako Musterd,2015-07-24 Growing inequalities in Europe are a major challenge threatening the sustainability of urban communities and the competitiveness of European cities While the levels of socio economic segregation in European cities are still modest compared to some parts of the world the poor are increasingly concentrating spatially within capital cities across Europe An overlooked area of research this book offers a systematic and representative account of the spatial dimension of rising inequalities in Europe This book provides rigorous comparative evidence on socio economic segregation from 13 European cities Cities include Amsterdam Athens Budapest London Milan Madrid Oslo Prague Riga Stockholm Tallinn Vienna and Vilnius Comparing 2001 and 2011 this multi factor approach links segregation to four underlying universal structural factors social inequalities global city status welfare regimes and housing systems Hypothetical segregation levels derived from those factors are compared to actual segregation levels in all cities Each chapter provides an in depth and context sensitive discussion of the unique features shaping inequalities and segregation in the case study cities The main conclusion of the book is that the spatial gap between the poor and the rich is widening in capital cities across Europe which threatens to harm the social stability of European cities This book will be a key reference on increasing segregation and will provide valuable insights to students researchers and policy makers who are interested in the spatial dimension of social inequality in European cities Chapters 1 and 15 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 3 0 license Innovations in Financing Public Services S. Bailey,P. Valkama,A. Anttiroiko,2010-07-30 This book explores new forms of private mutual municipal public private and reverse state funding of public investments co payments and shared contributions vouchers and pooled public risk financing It includes case studies taken from the Nordic countries UK Spain Slovenia Slovakia Turkey and South Korea Unfolding Cluster Evolution Fiorenza Belussi,Jose Luis Hervás-Oliver,2016-08-05 Various theories have been put forward as to why business and industry develops in clusters and despite good work being carried out on path dependence and dynamics this is still very much an emerging topic in the social sciences To date no overarching theoretical framework has been developed to show how clusters evolve Unfolding Cluster Evolution aims to address this gap by presenting theoretical and empirical research on the geography of innovation This contributed volume seeks to shed light on the understanding of clusters and its dynamic evolution The book provides evidence to suggest that traditional perspectives from evolutionary economic geography need to be wedded to management thinking in order to reach this point Bringing together thinking from a range of disciplines and countries across Europe this book explores a wide range of topics from the capability approach to network dynamics to multinational corporations to firm entry and exit and social capital This book will be of interest to policy makers and students of urban studies economic geography and planning and development

The Empirical and Institutional Dimensions of Smart Specialisation Philip McCann, Frank van Oort, John Goddard, 2016-11-25 Smart specialisation is the new policy approach to the development of regional innovation systems across Europe and it involves fostering innovative and entrepreneurial initiatives which are well tailored to the local context The different technologies skills profiles business activities institutions and sectors which reflect a region s economic strengths and potential are to be fostered and encouraged to diversify in ways which also exploit the region s linkages with broader global value chains Yet the ideas contained in the smart specialisation agenda have until now been primarily conceptual in nature The Empirical and Institutional Dimensions of Smart Specialisation draws together some of the leading regional economists and scientists in Europe to analyse how smart specialisation is working in practice This book investigates different dimensions of the agenda as it is developing across parts of Europe from both quantitative and qualitative perspectives The quantitative analysis examines the nature of the diversification processes undertaken by regions and the interplay between the chosen local regional development priorities and the wider global value chain impacts of these choices Meanwhile the qualitative analysis examines the institutional opportunities and challenges facing policy makers and the key elements most likely to provide the underpinnings of a workable set of policy settings The book is aimed both at academic researchers interested in the interface between economic geography and regional innovation systems as well as at policy makers making public policy decisions related to regional development at the local city regional or national levels

The Futures of the City Region Michael Neuman, Angela Hull, 2013-09-13 Does the city region constitute a new departure in urbanisation If so what are the key elements of that departure The realities of the urban in the 21st century are increasingly complex and polychromatic The rise of global networks enabled by supranational administrations both governmental and corporate strongly influences and structures the management of urban life How we conceive the city region has intellectual and practical consequences First in helping us grasp rapidly changing realities and second in facilitating the flow of resources ideas and learning to enhance the quality of life of citizens Two themes interweave through this collection within this broad palette First are the socio spatial constructs and their relationship to the empirical evidence of change in the physical and functional aspects of urban form Second is what they mean for the spatial scales of governance This latter theme explores territorially based understandings of intervention and the changing set of political concerns in selected case studies In efforts to address these issues and improve upon knowledge this collection brings together international scholars building new data driven cross disciplinary theories to create new images of the city region that may prove to supplement if not supplant old ones The book illustrates the dialectical interplay of theory and fact time and space and spatial and institutional which expands on our intellectual
