Innovation In East Asia The Challenge To Japan:

Innovation in East Asia Michael Hobday,1995 A series of detailed case studies is used not only to show how individual companies developed but also how large groups of firms formed industrial clusters from behind the technology frontier Taiwan South Korea Hong Kong and Singapore have emerged as dynamic and distinct forces for growth and innovation Increasingly the competitive challenge to Japan comes from these countries rather than from Europe and America Asian Industrial Clusters, Global Competitiveness and New Policy Initiatives Bernard Ganne,2009 This book provides a comprehensive overview of what Asian industrial clusters might teach us At a time when the dynamics of the world s economy are increasingly being influenced by developments in Asia the question takes on particular relevance because of the explosion of clusters and cluster policies throughout the region and because of the great variety of models which can be seen developing in the various countries Based on robust empirical surveys and interviews conducted in China Vietnam Thailand Malaysia and Japan the studies collected in this book were first debated at an international workshop in Lyon From industrial districts to poles of competitiveness these studies explored the transformation of traditional systems of activities or industrial districts to new networks ready for global competition or innovation and also the development of new agglomerations or scientific knowledge clusters The wide range of case studies in this collection offers a rich store of theoretical and practical lessons for analysts policy makers and economists The book will also be a useful guide for graduate students as well as researchers in economics sociology and political studies Fuelling Economic Growth Michael Graham,Jean Woo,2009 The private sector is playing an increasingly important role in the funding of scientific research As public sector research declines in the countries of the north and the south research and development carried out by the private sector becomes more important for innovations that have economic potential In some cases networks between local firms and multinationals can support learning which leads to economic growth What are the policies which support such partnerships and what are the institutional arrangements that foster research Seven case studies from Argentina China Costa Rica El Salvador Tanzania Peru the Philippines and Vietnam examine how policies have been developed and implemented to encourage innovation Resources, Technology and Strategy Nicolai Foss,Paul L. Robertson,2007-03-26 Resources Technology and Strategy brings together contributors from Europe North America and Asia to consider the strategic relationship between technology and other resources such as production capabilities marketing prowess finance and organisational culture Throughout the book these experts take a critical approach to RBP Resource Based Perspective in order to assess both its strengths and weaknesses Case studies also highlight the importance of both having and not having strong technological capabilities in settings as diverse as the US semiconductor industry small family manufacturing firms in Hong Kong and state owned enterprises in China Industrial Development of Taiwan Gee San,Patarapong Intarakumnerd,2021-04-18 Before the arrival of the twenty first century Taiwan was widely regarded as a successful model of a country which had not only transformed herself from an underdeveloped economy into a high tech industrialised island but had also undergone a revolution from an authoritarian regime to a democratic one Taiwan is now experiencing a significant economic slowdown and facing multifaceted challenges including low productivity stagnant innovation culture of small and medium sized enterprises ageing population sustainable energy mix pension reform upgrading of human resources devising competition policy to provide incentives for innovation as well as to limit abuses from monopolies warding off competition from countries with lower labour cost and managing complicated cross Strait relationship with China The edited book looks at Taiwan s past successful development model summarises Taiwan s current situation outlines the future challenges beyond the year 2020 and provides policy recommendations in the aforementioned aspects The contributors of this volume are accomplished veteran scholars in the fields Several of them used to be policy makers at the level of ministers or deputy ministers The book offers not only academic contribution but policy relevant insights

Global Production Networking and Technological Change in East Asia Shahid Yusuf,M. Anjum Altaf,Kaoru Nabeshima,2004-07-01 In the coming decades East Asian economies must face the challenges of an increasingly globalized marketplace This book explores the changing parameters of competition in East Asia and argues that success ultimately will depend on the ability of the region s firms to harness the potential of global production networks and to build their own innovative capability Presenting the latest findings on global production networks and the evolution of technological capabilities it provides researchers students and policymakers with in depth information and analysis on key issues related to growth and development in East Asia East Asian firms must not only achieve greater efficiency but also become more innovative offering differentiated products in order to vie with other first tier suppliers of multinational corporations These firms will also need to develop a technological edge if they are to compete with corporations from the leading OECD countries and form their own global production networks Global Production Networking and Technological Change in East Asia argues that a development strategy linked to technological advance will be necessary to foster the growth of innovative national firms that can remain competitive in global markets

The Global Restructuring of the Steel Industry Anthony D'Costa,1999-01-28 Drawing upon case studies of the steel industry in the US Japan South Korea Brazil and India this book explains how and why the steel industry has shifted from advanced capitalist countries to late industrializing countries Anthony P D Costa examines the relationship between industrial change and institutional responses to technological diffu

Explaining Economic Growth David Lim,1996-01-01 The author presents a new analytical framework for explaining the different growth performances of developing countries allowing for a series of policy oriented conclusions The book is aimed at both undergraduate and postgraduate level

The Dynamics of Asian Economic Development Hitoshi Hirakawa,Ferdinand C. Maquito,2024-12-10 One feature of this book is the clarification of the development mechanism of Asia as a regional economy for over half a century based on an Asian Economy Within the Global Economy approach that goes beyond the single country analytical framework The development of emerging economies has caught the world's attention from the Newly Industrializing Countries or Newly Industrializing Economies of the 1980s to the BRICs entering this century. General economics cannot clarify the internal mechanism of the changing of newly industrialized economies led by Asia. This book clarifies such regional development structure by focusing on the direct investments of multinational firms and the importance of gradual changes of specific policies adopted by newly industrialized economies. Moreover, the book concretely deals with the US-China trade war and China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) as a problem of Asian economies. In so doing, the book not only perceives the structural change of the global economy as a structural change from a US-centric global economy of the twentieth century to a China-centric one but also focuses on the birthing of a new growth frontier in the world economy under a crisis brought about by a war for hegemony between the US and China. The investment initiative through China's BRI has prompted the investment competition between Japan and the US, which has made even stronger the possibility of giving birth to a new economic frontier in Afro-Eurasia. Another feature is the consideration of various issues that confront Asian countries in their search for economic development using the Philippines as a case study. The analysis of the study points to the importance of a shared growth perspective which is based on an Asian development model and discusses the challenge of overcoming the issues of the economic development model within the region. At the same time, this book studies the significance and new issues as a region of the economy and overseas policies of attention drawn by China.

Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Thailand Pavin Chachavalpongpun, 2019-10-17. The Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Thailand is a timely survey and assessment of the state of contemporary Thailand. While Thailand has changed much in the past decades, this handbook proposes that many of its problems have remained intact or even persistent, particularly problems related to domestic politics. It underlines emerging issues at this critical juncture in the kingdom and focuses on the history, politics, economy, society, culture, religion, and international relations of the country. A multidisciplinary approach with chapters written by experts on Thailand, this handbook is divided into the following sections: History, Political and economic landscape, Social development, International relations. Designed for academics, students, libraries, policymakers, and general readers in the field of Asian studies, political science, economics, and sociology, this invaluable reference work provides an up-to-date account of Thailand and initiates new discussion for future research activities.

Bibliographie Mensuelle. Partie I, Livres, Documents Officiels, Publications en Série United Nations Library (Geneva, Switzerland), 1997. Routledge Handbook of Politics and Technology Ulrich Hilpert, 2015-10-05. This handbook provides a comprehensive global survey of the politics of technology. Written by an outstanding line-up of distinguished scholars in the field, the handbook covers all aspects of the relationship between politics and technology, including demand and support for new technologies and innovation by the state, the effects of technology policies, technology development and innovation, difference between various countries and regions, policy instruments and techno-industrial innovation, dynamism and change as outcomes of government policies, driving forces for science and innovative development, forming the basis of this handbook are examples of regional development country studies and a rich variety of technologies as well as topical issues such as divergent political interests in relation to technology and the economic exploitation of technologies. Employing a comparative and interdisciplinary approach in order to analyse the interplay between government activities and the development of new technologies, this handbook will be an invaluable resource for all students, scholars and practitioners working in the politics of technology, public policy and policy analysis.

Economic Dynamism in the Asia-Pacific Grahame Thompson, 2005-10-18. This broad-ranging student textbook examines the rise of the Asia Pacific as an important economic region. It looks at the sources of that rise, its future development and the possible consequences for the global economy. The analysis is divided into three sections considering how far the Asia Pacific has developed as a regional system, looking at the patterns of integration of the principal economies, the relationship between the key individual economies of Japan, Korea, China and the United States, how the rise of the Asia Pacific economy has affected the international economic system. In so doing, it provides much needed insights not only into the growth of this powerful economic region but also the international context of Asia Pacific development.

Experimental Learning, Inclusive Growth and Industrialised Economies in Asia Chan-Yuan Wong, 2022-07-05. This book explores how small nations can mobilise and use productive activities to generate inclusive growth and rapidly move up the economic ladder. In this study, Dr Wong explores how Korea and Taiwan came to balance between commanding critical technological competencies and driving inclusive economic agendas and ultimately culminates decades of moving up the value chain for the two Asian dynamos. In a world dominated by superpowers, Dr Wong demonstrates how agile, nimble, mid-sized economies can move fast, innovate and achieve post-industrial catch-up development. This book will interest scholars of the Asian manufacturing sector, those with an interest in the role semiconductors play in the global economy and scholars of Asian development.

Inventing the Electronic Century Alfred Dupont CHANDLER, Takashi Hikino, Andrew Von Nordenflycht, Alfred D Chandler, 2009-06-30. Consumer electronics and computers redefined life and work in the twentieth century. In Inventing the Electronic Century, Pulitzer Prize-winning business historian Alfred D Chandler Jr traces their origins and worldwide development. From electronics prime mover RCA in the 1920s to Sony and Matsushita's dramatic rise in the 1970s, from IBM's dominance in computer technology in the 1950s to Microsoft's stunning example of the creation of competitive advantage, this masterful analysis is essential reading for every manager and student of technology.

The Economic Geography of the IT Industry in the Asia Pacific Region Philip Cooke, Glen Searle, Kevin O'Connor, 2013-07-18. The development of the information technology (IT) industry in the Asia Pacific region faces two challenges. Firstly, can its established physical, technical, regional and governance infrastructures be adapted to meet the challenges embedded in the set of products and processes created by the IT industry? Secondly, as this adaptation evolves, which cities and regions will be best suited to connect to or lead global responses to these challenges? The chapters in this book have set out to explore these questions, providing details of change in a range of aspects of the IT industry such as mobile phones software services and flat screen design in regions in Japan Korea Taiwan India China and Australia The book also outlines the policy responses of national and regional governments in Singapore India and China and India These case studies provide a basis to understand effective strategies which could be formulated for the future This book s originality emerges from the fine detail provided about firms in particular regions and cities from research carried out by young scholars in the past two years This makes it very useful for readers keen to understand the recent changes in this dynamic industry in a fast growth part of the world and it will also help to shape thinking by policy makers on policy settings that can be applied

Technological Capabilities and Export Success in Asia Dieter Ernst,Tom Ganiatsos,Lynn Mytelka,2003-09-02 What accounts for export success A team of international contributors show that learning and capability formation are critical to sustain competitiveness Through a series of case studies of firms in the textile and garment and electronics industries of five Asian economies Korea Taiwan Thailand Indonesia and Vietnam Technological Capabilities and Export Success in Asia demonstrates that cheap labour combined with currency devaluation is no longer sufficient for export success
