Inside African Anthropology Monica Wilson And Her Interpreters The International African Library:

Inside African Anthropology, 2013 Inside African Anthropology Andrew Bank, Leslie J. Bank, 2013-04-08 Inside African Anthropology offers an incisive biography of the life and work of South Africa's foremost social anthropologist Monica Hunter Wilson. By exploring her main fieldwork and intellectual projects in southern Africa between the 1920s and 1960s, the book offers insights into her personal and intellectual life. Beginning with her origins in the remote Eastern Cape, the authors follow Wilson to the University of Cambridge and back into the field among the Mpondo of South Africa where her studies resulted in her 1936 book Reaction to Conquest. Her fieldwork focus then shifted to Tanzania where she teamed up with her husband Godfrey Wilson. In the 1960s Wilson embarked on a new urban ethnography with a young South African anthropologist Archie Mafeje, one of the many black scholars she trained. This study also provides a meticulously researched exploration of the indispensable contributions of African research assistants to the production of this famous woman scholar's cultural knowledge about mid-twentieth century Africa.

Nationalism, Politics and Anthropology Ilana van Wyk, Jimmy Pieterse, 2022-02-28 In this book Ilana van Wyk and Jimmy Pieterse interrogate the question of political subjectivity and its role in the making of anthropology and anthropologists by revisiting the pitched battles between so-called liberal social anthropologists and conservative nationalist volkekundiges in South Africa. They pay particular attention to the social and cultural lives of two men who were central proponents of South African anthropology's two tales: Kees van der Waal, a former volkekundige, and John Sharp, once one of volkekunde's fiercest critics. Through a series of conversations with Kees and John, they show that the issues that once divided a local field still animate the ways in which centres and peripheries of global anthropology relate to one another and to foundational questions about the discipline's epistemology and political positionality.

Decolonizing Heritage Ferdinand De Jong, 2022-03-17 Senegal features prominently on the UNESCO World Heritage List. As many of its cultural heritage sites are remnants of the French empire, how does an independent nation care for the heritage of colonialism? How does it reinterpret slave barracks, colonial museums, and monuments to empire to imagine its own national future? This book examines Senegal's decolonization of its cultural heritage, revealing how Léopold Sédar Senghor's philosophy of Négritude inflects the interpretation of its colonial heritage. Ferdinand de Jong demonstrates how Senegal's reinterpretation of heritage sites enables it to overcome the legacies of the slave trade, colonialism, and empire. Remembering and reclaiming a Pan-African future, De Jong shows how World Heritage sites are conceived as the archive of an Afrotopia to come and, in a move towards decolonization, how they repair colonial time.

Epistemic Justice and the Postcolonial University Amrita Pande, Ruchi Chaturvedi, Shari Daya, Sepideh Azari, Koni Benson, Hal Cooper, Athambile Masola, Kerusha Govender, Lungisile Ntsebeza, Shose Kessi, Jameelah Omar, Nomusa Makhubu, Kealeboga Ramaru, Ari Sitas, Rike Sitas, 2023-08 This book addresses urgent current debates on decolonisation by offering reimagined teaching and learning interventions for obtaining greater epistemic justice in the contemporary postcolonial university. At a time when

debates on decolonisation have gained urgency in academic civic and public spaces this interdisciplinary collection by authors based at the University of Cape Town South Africa serves as a valuable archive documenting and reflecting on a turbulent period in South African higher education It is an important resource for academics looking to grasp debates on decoloniality both in South Africa and in university and teaching spaces further afield Calling for concerted and collaborative work towards greater epistemic justice across diverse disciplines the book puts forward a new vision of the postcolonial university as one that enables excellent teaching and learning undertaken in a spirit of critical consciousness and reciprocity

The Work of Repair Thomas Cousins, 2023-06-06 In the timber plantations in northeastern South Africa laborers work long hours among tall swaying lines of eucalypts on land once theirs In 2008 at the height of the HIV AIDS crisis timber corporations distributed hot cooked meals as a nutrition intervention to bolster falling productivity and profits But life and sustenance are about much more than calories and machinic bodies What is at stake is the nurturing of capacity across all domains of life physical relational cosmological in the form of amandla An Nguni word meaning power strength or capacity amandla organizes ordinary concerns with one's abilities to earn a wage to strengthen one's body and to take care of others it describes the potency of medicines and sexual vitality and it captures a history of anti colonial and anti apartheid struggle for freedom The ordinary actions coordinated by and directed at amandla do not obscure the wounding effects of plantation labor or the long history of racial oppression but rather form the basis of what the Algerian artist Kader Attia calls repair In this captivating ethnography Cousins examines how amandla as the primary material of the work of repair anchors ordinary scenes of living and working in and around the plantations As a space of exploitation that enables the global paper and packaging industry to extract labor power the plantation depends on the availability of creative action in ordinary life to capitalize on bodily capacity The Work of Repair is a fine grained exploration of the relationships between laborers in the timber plantations of KwaZulu Natal and the historical decompositions and reinventions of the milieu of those livelihoods and lives Offering a fresh approach to the existential ethical and political stakes of ethnography from and of late liberal South Africa the book attends to urgent questions of postapartheid life the fate of employment the role of the state in providing welfare and access to treatment the regulation of popular curatives the queering of kinship and the future of custom and its territories Through detailed descriptions Cousins explicates the important and fragile techniques that constitute the work of repair the effort to augment one's capacity in a way that draws on acknowledges and reimagines the wounds of history keeping open the possibility of a future through and with others #RhodesMustFall B.

Nyamnjoh, 2016-04-18 This book on rights entitlements and citizenship in post apartheid South Africa shows how the playing field has not been as levelled as presumed by some and how racism and its benefits persist Through everyday interactions and experiences of university students and professors it explores the question of race in a context still plagued by remnants of apartheid inequality and perceptions of inferiority and inadequacy among the majority black population In education black voices and concerns go largely unheard as circles of privilege are continually regenerated and added onto a layered and deep history of cultivation of black pain These issues are examined against the backdrop of organised student protests sweeping through the country's universities with a renewed clamour for transformation around a rallying cry of Black Lives Matter The nuanced complexity of this insightful analysis of the Rhodes Must Fall movement elicits compelling questions about the attractions and dangers of exclusionary articulations of belonging What could a grand imperialist like the stripling Uitlander or foreigner of yesteryear Sir Cecil John Rhodes possibly have in common with the present day nimble footed makwerekwere from Africa north of the Limpopo The answer Nyamnjoh suggests is to be found in how human mobility relentlessly tests the boundaries of citizenship #RhodesMustFall B.

the relationship between Europe and Africa Starting with travel writers and missionary intellectuals in the 17th century European savants have engaged in the study of nature and society in Africa Knowledge about realms of the world like Africa provided a foil against which Europeans came to view themselves as members of enlightened and modern civilisations Science and technology also offered crucial tools with which to administer represent and legitimate power relations in a new global world but the knowledge drawn from contacts with people in far off places provided Europeans with information and ideas that contributed in everyday ways to the scientific revolution and that provided explorers with the intellectual and social capital needed to develop science into modern disciplines at home in the metropole This book poses questions about the changing role of European science and expert knowledge from early colonial times to post colonial times How did science shape understanding of Africa in Europe and how was scientific knowledge shaped adapted and redefined in African contexts

Pioneers of the Field Andrew Bank,2016-08-11 This book traces the personal and intellectual histories of six remarkable women anthropologists using a rich cocktail of archival sources Shaping Natural History and Settler Society Tanja Hammel,2019-08-23 This book explores the life and work of Mary Elizabeth Barber a British born settler scientist who lived in the Cape during the nineteenth century It provides a lens into a range of subjects within the history of knowledge and science gender and social history postcolonial critical heritage and archival studies The book examines the international importance of the life and works of a marginalized scientist the instrumentalisation of science to settlers political concerns and reveals the pivotal but largely silenced contribution of indigenous African experts Including a variety of material visual and textual sources this study explores how these artefacts are archived and displayed in museums and critically analyses their content and silences The book traces Barber s legacy across three continents in collections and archives offering insights into the politics of memory and history making At the same time it forges a nuanced argument incorporating study of the North and South the history of science and social history and the past and the present The Life, Work and Legacy of Monica Hunter Wilson (1908-1982) Andrew Bank,2008 Compassion, Truth and Clarity Brian M. Du Toit,1996 African Ethnographic Studies of the 20th Century Monica Wilson,2018 Routledge is delighted to be re issuing 79 volumes originally published between 1931 and 1988 in association with the International African Institute Unavailable outside a few key libraries many of these republished volumes were at the cutting edge of a fieldwork and ethnographic revolution in African anthropology in the decades after 1930 It involved the production of a wide body of fieldwork based ethnographic documentation about the cultures of the different societies in Africa Secondly it saw a methodological turn to intense localized investigations of cultural tradition and social change in a rapidly modernizing context These investigations involved a more sustained and systematic more professional and scientific form of immersion and participant observation than anything that had gone before The sites of engagement were urban as well as rural the pioneering researchers were female as well as male No longer was the journal essay the repository of the latest research in the discipline but rich ethnographies running into hundreds of pages The volumes are supplemented with maps which will be available to view on <https://www.routledge.com> or available as pdfs from the publishers

Imperfect Interpreters W. D. Hammond-Tooke, 1997 In this fascinating and accessible book W D Hammond Tooke takes a critical look at anthropology and anthropologists and examines the uneasy relationship between anthropological scholarship and national politics in a fundamentally divided and rapidly changing society Imperfect Interpreters is an account of seventy years of professional anthropological study in South Africa It is not a history of university departments or a who's who of the academic community Rather it is a critical and often very personal examination of the protagonists the theoretical ideas that guided their researches and especially their relationships to those in power

The Study of African Society, by Godfrey Wilson and Monica Hunter Godfrey Wilson, Monica Hunter Wilson, 1967

South African Anthropology in Conversation L. Dickson, D. Spiegel, 2014-10-06 In the 1980s the University of Cape Town's social anthropology department was predominantly oriented by an exposé style of critical scholarship The enemy was the apartheid state the ethical imperative was clear and a combative metaphor for doing research motivated the department Andrew David Spiegel known affectionately as Mugsy by his students and colleagues has been a central if understated figure of this history and helped to frame the theoretical charge of a generation of students looking to counter apartheid from inside In a series of interviews between the senior professor and one of his students Jessica Dickson Spiegel offers a unique perspective from the centre of anthropology's recent history in South Africa

Some Possibilities and Limitations of Anthropological Research Monica Wilson, 1948

Africanizing Anthropology Lyn Schumaker, 2001-07-12 An innovative cultural study of a major site of British anthropology done with methods from the history of science detailing the development of methods practices and work culture in the colonial context
