ABSTRACT

This empirical study investigates the interplay between the incubation growth path, business transformation, and cultural intellectual property (IP) within Chinese tourism destination cities. With China's tourism industry experiencing rapid growth and cultural heritage playing a significant role in attracting visitors, understanding how startups leverage cultural IP and evolve over time is crucial for fostering sustainable tourism development. Through a mixed-methods approach incorporating interviews, surveys, and case studies, we examine the experiences of startups incubated in Chinese destination cities, focusing on their journey from inception within incubators to market maturity. The study explores the strategies employed by startups to integrate cultural elements into their products and services, the challenges they encounter in navigating cultural IP frameworks, and the impact of business transformation on their growth trajectories. Additionally, the research assesses the role of incubators, government policies, and industry collaborations in supporting startups and promoting responsible cultural stewardship. By shedding light on the dynamics between incubation, business transformation, and cultural IP, this study aims to provide valuable insights for policymakers, industry stakeholders, and academics seeking to foster innovation, preserve cultural heritage, and promote sustainable tourism in Chinese destination cities.

I. INTRODUCTION

A. Dynamic Business Movement of Chinese Tourism Destination Cities

The dynamic business movement within Chinese tourism destination cities has undergone remarkable transformations in recent years, driven by various socio-economic factors and evolving consumer preferences. With China emerging as a global economic powerhouse, its tourism industry has experienced unprecedented growth, leading to intensified competition among destination cities to attract both domestic and international visitors. According to a study by Li et al. (2019), this growth has been fueled by government initiatives promoting

Inside Chinese Organizations Kai-Alexander Schlevogt, 2000-02 An empirical study was undertaken a to examine the characteristics influencing factors and effectiveness of a distinctive Chinese management model adopted by the newly founded private enterprises in mainland China as well as b to test the fit notion in contingency theory The study was based on a random sample of 124 standardized personal interviews with CEOs of Chinese industrial and service companies in Beijing and Shanghai The standardized questionnaire mainly contained the Aston structure scales Pugh and Hickson 1976 and Khandwalla s 1977 management schedules Besides three case examples were studied including one state owned bank and two private enterprises Using AMOS structural equation modeling size mass technology and uncertainty as well as CEO need for achievement environmental constraints and selected Chinese characteristics were specified as influencing factors of bureaucracy and managerial practices which included strategic orientation leadership style decision making communication and subcontracting Another model analyzed the influence of various key success factors on organizational effectiveness The findings provided support for the re adoption of a distinctive Chinese management model in private companies characterized by autocratic leadership low formalization Chinese entrepreneurship and network based webs Private enterprises also tended to readopt and emphasize traditional Chinese family related values The distinctiveness of this model was ceteris paribus due to this emphasis on familism which had a direct impact on organizational design and an indirect influence through its negative association with company size which in turn significantly covaried with organizational design This family based ownership model was positively associated with organizational effectiveness As regards contingency theory the traditional fit hypotheses could not be rejected In addition less effective companies were not necessarily in misfit Appropriate structure together with an optimizing planning style and firm age were positively associated with performance Managerial recommendations were codified in a CHINA c strategy framework for high effectiveness The Art of Chinese

Management Kai-Alexander Schlevogt, 2002-09-26 This ground breaking book is the first in depth empirical study of Chinese organizational design in state and private enterprises Web based Chinese management a new paradigm in business studies explains the dynamism of private Chinese enterprises and demonstrates the crucial role of micro level organizational practices for economic development It can be used anywhere in the world to help deal with the increasing uncertainty and complexity for the next millennium and can also be used as a framework for economic policy Chinese Entrepreneurship and Asian Business Networks Thomas Menkhoff, Gerke Solvay, 2012-11-12 The degree to which the extensive business networks of ethnic Chinese in Asia succeed because of ethnic characteristics or simply because of the sound application of good business practice is a key question of great current concern to those interested in business management and economic development in Asia This book brings together a range of leading experts who present original new research findings and important new thinking on this vital subject Based on rich empirical research data and a multidisciplinary explanatory framework this book assesses the role characteristics and challenges of Chinese entrepreneurship and business networks in various East and Southeast Asian countries the People s Republic of China Vietnam Malaysia Singapore Indonesia and Australia Chinese Entrepreneurship and Asian Business Networks demonstrates that Chinese network capitalism is contingent upon for example time place institutional frameworks and that explanatory approaches of Chinese economic behaviour which stress culture and ethnicity are too simplistic

International Brand Management of Chinese Companies Sandra Bell, 2008-03-29 China is certainly doing its best to keep the world mesmerized by its economic achievements The Chinese economic growth story that begun 30 years ago has in terms of dynamics and duration long since surpassed all those economic miracles which have brought Germany Japan and the South East Asian Tigers into the top league of the industrialized world The rapid expansion of the Chinese economy has gone along with a fledgling re integration of China into the global economic system In the course of the last 30 years China has become a major player in the global economy and today is on a trajectory towards even greater prominence In recent years the Chinese economy seems to have reached an important threshold line of economic development and global integration In the first quarter century of reform and global opening Chinese enterprises have been largely confined to a passive role in the global division of labor Foreign enterprises as the proprietors of greatly superior business models production technologies management models as well as very competitively established brands have been integrating Chinese players in their value chains and global operations Lacking the necessary production technologies products as well as marketing knowledge to successfully dress OECD consumers Chinese enterprises have been hardly able to enter the global markets without such guidance Now this constellation is changing

Inside the Chinese Business Mind Ted Sun, 2010-01-13 An insightful look at how Chinese business people think and live offering executives and entrepreneurs a better way to understand a country in which business opportunities are still growing Inside the Chinese Business Mind A Tactical Guide for Managers focuses on helping Western business leaders and managers get an understanding of the core values and beliefs that drive business in China It is a perfect tool for helping business people gain insights into the vastly different surprisingly diverse Chinese business culture and for learning more about themselves and their own values and behaviors in the process At the core of Inside the Chinese Business Mind is an in depth survey which gathered responses from over 200 business leaders in both the United States and China Going beyond the scope of traditional guidebooks the study incorporates elements of psychology resulting in a fascinating portrait of the Chinese people one that finds clear distinctions in behaviors and priorities across different regions among various age groups and within other demographic categories This specific information will help business leaders develop the kind of cultural awareness that leads to greater opportunities and stronger relationships in China at home and within themselves

China Calling A. Mackinnon, B. Powell, 2008-06-24 The authors review Chinese values and characteristics using Western strategic thinking to understand the new perspective This book will enable the global practitioner Western or Eastern to develop this new world view and to avoid only taking leads from global standardization especially of regulatory and legal environments

Npd in Indigenous Chinese Companies and Its Deployment Within the Chinese Economy Xiaohuan Zhang, 2006-11 The thesis aims to examine and explore NPD activities within China and establish whether a Western interpretation of NPD is appropriate to indigenous Chinese companies engaged in an economy which is entering an era of globalisation The research is based on ten case studies undertaken within five industrial sectors lighting light fabrication watches personal consumer products white goods automotive and telecommunications Cases are representative of the differing types of Chinese organisations and include examples of privately collectively and state owned enterprises POEs COEs and SOEs together with international joint ventures IJVs Conceptual approaches are developed to examine organisational background NPD culture technology transfer NPD coordination entrepreneurial behaviour network development and market dynamics within each case study The units of analysis in the framework reflect three main themes of intra extra organisational and strategic issues which are revisited throughout the thesis The case studies are analysed using a mapping process in which each of the cases is described in terms of its engagement with NPD roles and performance and their correlation with economic development compared with Western practice Contingent on this the thesis identifies a series of assumptions within Western literature which are evaluated by assessing the case study findings to establish the transferability of NPD conceptions In addition correlations between differing NPD related issues are identified using repertory grid theory detailed in a separate appendix and complementary to the case study analysis The thesis concludes by proposing models of strategic NPD specific to Chinese organisations at both intra organisational and micro and macro economic levels these provide an overview of distinctive NPD performance in indigenous companies contextualised within the Chinese economy The implication is that the future development of the Chinese economy will necessitate greater engagement with NPD albeit in a differing form

Interactions Between China's National Emissions Trading Scheme and Electricity Market: Practices and Policies Tsun Se Cheong, Xunpeng (Roc) Shi, Yongping Sun, Jian Yu, Xin Yao, 2023-11-03 China's national carbon market the world's largest emissions trading scheme ETS kicked off its first online trade recently This can be called a milestone for the country towards the nation's goals of having CO<sub>2</sub> emissions peak before 2030 and achieving carbon neutrality by 2060 China's national ETS initially covers the power sector before being expanded to a much broader set of energy intensive industries On one hand the electricity sector the largest carbon emitting industry is responsible for about 40% of China's emissions and it has great significance to response to global climate change On the other hand the effectiveness of China's ETS will rest on how well it is coordinated with power market regulations and policies In this regard the deepening of reform as well as the advanced technology and its applications in the electricity market will add new challenges and opportunities to electricity trade which in turn influences national ETS Therefore this brings urgency to accurately capture the dynamic interactions between national ETS and electricity market to transform carbon trading into a practical and effective way to decarbonize
