Instamatic Karma May Pang, 2008-03-04 There were times I was a bit reticent in taking out my camera like when some old friends stopped by to hang out I didn't want to intrude on these moments but John insisted He felt that I captured him in ways that no one else did because of his comfort level with me For years only my closest friends got to see these photos which were literally tucked away in a shoebox in my closet They were surprised that these images did not convey the John that was portrayed in the press during our time together In fact they saw a side of John seldom seen From INSTAMATIC KARMA John Lennon is the most famously photographed Beatle everyone from Iain MacMillian to Annie Leibowitz took iconic images of him but there have never been pictures of him like these taken by May Pang Lennon's girlfriend from 1973 to 1975 In INSTAMATIC KARMA they're collected for the first time With very few exceptions these photos are that rare thing never before seen images of an icon The photos here show Lennon in a variety of settings at work at play at home and away They show a playful Lennon a casual unguarded Lennon they're the kind of photos one lover takes of another May has written rich captions to accompany her photos taken together they tell a simple story of the time May and Lennon spent together a time according to legend when Lennon was unhappy and unproductive estranged from his family and bandmates Pang's photos clearly tell another story they show Lennon clowning around working on his hit album Walls and Bridges embracing old friends and family hanging out in their apartment on Manhattan's East 52nd Street relaxing in the country in upstate New York or spending peaceful days swimming in the waters of Long Island The photographs in INSTAMATIC KARMA are both color and black white casual Polaroids and more composed shots Each one is an intimate glimpse into a fascinating time in John Lennon's life Visual Education, 1972 Business Week, 1969 Instamatic 22 Pablo Fernández, 2005 The Trademark Register of the United States, 1975 Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 1975
