regard to the history of ideas only Rather it becomes evident that they are highly relevant in the context of discussions led today Erika Fischer Lichte The Prague School and the Czech structuralism have had a considerable impact on the development of semiotic studies and theatre studies at large in the 1960s and 70s But this has been quickly forgotten and with the rise of poststructuralism and deconstruction in the 80s and 90s they were not only neglected but also unjustly disregarded or even forgotten This is why the Theatre Theory Reader Prague School Writings is a very welcome book which comes at the right moment when postmodernism poststructuralism and postdramatic theatre seem to have lost their momentum as if the requirements of today's quest for a new way of living and of making business had become so strong that we must go back to the basics Structuralism and a critique of ideology are now back at least as a sign to not give up thinking and theorizing in a world which has become self centred and mad The afterword by Pavel Dr bek Martin Bern tek Andrea Jochmanov and Eva laisov is a sort of book within the book as it neatly puts in perspective all the important names and theories of the Prague School It does this in a very user friendly manner where complex theories are summarized in a clear yet precise introduction This makes the reading of the different chapters easier and immediately connected to our contemporary way of thinking Patrice Pavis
