God In A Cup The Obsessive Quest For The Perfect Coffee:

God in a Cup Michaela Weissman, 2011-06-01 Follow the ultimate coffee geeks on their worldwide hunt for the best beans Can a cup of coffee reveal the face of God Can it become the holy grail of modern day knights errant who brave hardship and peril in a relentless quest for perfection Can it change the world These questions are not rhetorical When highly prized coffee beans sell at auction for 50 100 or 150 a pound wholesale and potentially twice that at retail anything can happen In God in a Cup journalist and late blooming adventurer Michaela Weissman treks into an exotic and paradoxical realm of specialty coffee where the successful traveler must be part passionate coffee connoisseur part ambitious entrepreneur part activist and part Indiana Jones Her guides on the journey are the nation's most heralded coffee business hotshots Counter Culture's Peter Giuliano Intelligentsia's Geoff Watts and Stumptown's Duane Sorenson With their obsessive standards and fiercely competitive baristas these roasters are creating a new culture of coffee connoisseurship in America a culture in which 10 lattes are both a purist's pleasure and a way to improve the lives of third world farmers If you love a good cup of coffee or a great adventure story you'll love this unprecedented up close look at the people and passions behind today's best beans Weissman illustrates how the origin flavor compounds and socioeconomic impact of a cup of coffee are relevant now more than ever Tagging along behind the main characters in today's specialty coffee scene she travels from the exotic to the expected to artfully deconstruct the connoisseur's cup of coffee Publishers Weekly

Making Better Coffee Edward F. Fischer, 2022-09-06 An anthropologist uncovers how great coffee depends not just on taste but also on a complex system of values worked out among farmers roasters and consumers What justifies the steep prices commanded by small batch high end Third Wave coffees Making Better Coffee explores this question looking at highland coffee farmers in Guatemala and their relationship to the trends that dictate what makes great coffee Traders stress material conditions of terroir and botany but just as important are the social moral and political values that farmers roasters and consumers attach to the beans In the late nineteenth century Maya farmers were forced to work on the large plantations that colonized their ancestral lands The international coffee market shifted in the 1990s creating demand for high altitude varietals plants suited to the mountains where the Maya had been displaced Edward F Fischer connects the quest for quality among U S tastemakers to the lives and desires of Maya producers showing how profits are made by artfully combining coffee's material and symbolic attributes The result is a complex story of terroir and taste quality and craft justice and necessity worth and value
