Harry Potter And The Goblet Of Fire Arabic Edition:

Literature Suppressed on Religious Grounds, Fourth Edition Margaret Bald, 2019-08-01 Censorship of religious and philosophical speculation is as old as history and as current as today's headlines. Many of the world's major religious texts including the Bible, the Talmud, the Koran, and others have been suppressed, condemned, or proscribed at some time. Works of secular literature that touch upon religious beliefs or reflect dissenting views have also been suppressed. Literature Suppressed on Religious Grounds, Fourth Edition profiles the censorship of many of these works. These include the frequently challenged Harry Potter series which critics accuse of promoting witchcraft and anti-family themes, as well as Philip Pullman's His Dark Materials trilogy and Dan Brown's The Da Vinci Code. Entries include: The Age of Reason, Thomas Paine; The Analects, Confucius; The Battle for God, Karen Armstrong; The Bible, Children of the Alley, Naguib Mahfouz; Critique of Pure Reason, Immanuel Kant; The Da Vinci Code, Dan Brown; Dialogue Concerning the Two Chief World Systems, Galileo Galilei; Discourse on Method, Rene Descartes; Don Quixote, Miguel de Cervantes Saavedra; The Harry Potter series, J.K. Rowling; His Dark Materials, Philip Pullman; The Jewel of Medina, Sherry Jones; The Koran; The Last Temptation of Christ, Nikos Kazantzakis; On the Origin of Species, Charles Darwin; The Satanic Verses, Salman Rushdie; The Talmud; Thirteen Reasons Why, Jay Asher; and more.

Humankind 2.0 James Ward, 2020-09-21 It's early 2020. MI7 is expecting an eccentric new recruit in the person of Chasha Jones, self-described only partly tongue-in-cheek as the most intelligent woman in London. Perceptive, cerebral, fun to work alongside, everyone looks forward to her arrival. But on the day she's due to start work, there's no sign of her. Nor the day after. Then, shockingly, it turns out she's joined an obscure cult run by an eccentric Briton called Hector Raynebow. Raynebow used to be a dedicated eco-warrior, but he's ditched environmentalism on the grounds that humanity in its present form isn't really capable of saving the world; the rot has gone too far. But don't worry, he has a solution: Humankind 2.0, a new type of human being developed by means of cutting-edge gene technology. The trouble is, when more than a few governments encounter the words 'a new type of human being', what they actually hear is 'super-soldiers'. And their only question then is: assuming Raynebow really is capable of developing such things, who's going to get their hands on them? First, John Mordred is assigned to investigate. But of course, he's not the only one. And to make things even cosier, the investigators are explicitly briefed not to get on with each other.

The Balkans and the West Andrew Hammond, 2017-03-02 This collection of essays locates, investigates and challenges the manner in which the Balkans and the West have constructed each other since 1945. Scholars from the two sections of the continent explore a wide range of fiction, film, journalism, travel writing and diplomatic records both to analyse Western European balkanism and to study Balkan representations of the West over the last fifty years. The first section looks back to the Cold War, examining the divergent, often favourable images of the Balkans that existed in Western culture as well as the variety of responses that appeared in South East European writings on the West. The second section analyses the transitions that took place in representation during the 1990s. Here contributors explore both the harsh denigration of the Balkans which came to dominate western discourse after the initial euphoria of 1989 and the emerging tradition of contesting Western balkanism in South East European cultural production. Through this dual emphasis, the volume exposes the representational practices that help to maintain a deeply divided Europe and challenges the economic and political injustices that result. Despite the rise to prominence of postcolonial theory with its awareness of global inequality, the current crises in many parts of South East Europe have received scant attention in literary and cultural studies. The Balkans and the West addresses this deficiency. Ranging in focus from Serbian cinema to Romanian travel literature, from Western economic writings to Yugoslav fiction and from public discourse in Albania to NATO's vast propaganda machine, the essays offer wide insight into representation and power in the contemporary European context.
