Hollywood on Location Joshua Gleich, Lawrence Webb, 2019-01-14 Location shooting has always been a vital counterpart to soundstage production and at times the primary form of Hollywood filmmaking But until now the industrial and artistic development of this production practice has been scattered across the margins of larger American film histories Hollywood on Location is the first comprehensive history of location shooting in the American film industry showing how this mode of filmmaking changed Hollywood business practices production strategies and visual style from the silent era to the present The contributors explore how location filmmaking supplemented and later supplanted production on the studio lots Drawing on archival research and in depth case studies the seven contributors show how location shooting expanded the geography of American film production from city streets and rural landscapes to far flung territories overseas invoking a new set of creative financial technical and logistical challenges Whereas studio filmmaking sought to recreate nature location shooting sought to master it finding new production values and production economies that reshaped Hollywood's modus operandi

Film Marketing into the Twenty-First Century Nolwenn Mingant, Cecilia Tirtaine, Joël Augros, 2019-07-25 How do you sell British humour to a French audience Could piracy actually be good for the film business Why are The Hobbit's revolutionary technologies not mentioned in some adverts Exploring these questions and many more Film Marketing into the Twenty First Century draws on insights from renowned film academics and leading industry professionals to chart the evolution of modern film marketing The first part of the book focuses on geographical considerations showing how marketers have to adapt their strategies locally as films travel across borders The second covers new marketing possibilities offered by the Internet as Vine Facebook and other participative websites open new venues for big distributors and independents alike Straddling practical and theoretical concerns and including case studies that take us from Nollywood to Peru this book provides an accessible introduction to the key issues at stake for film marketing in a global era The Education of the Filmmaker in Europe, Australia, and Asia M. Hjort, 2013-07-17 Practice based film education is a crucial element in the institutional landscape of film This book fills the gap in understanding practice based film scholarship focusing on Europe Asia and Australia Peter Jackson Alfio Leotta, 2015-12-17 Peter Jackson is one of the most acclaimed and influential contemporary film makers This is the first book to combine the examination of Jackson's career with an in depth critical analysis of his films thus providing readers with the most comprehensive study of the New Zealand film maker's body of work The first section of the book concentrates on Jackson's biography surveying the evolution of his career from the director of cult slapstick movies such as Meet the Feebles 1989 and Braindead 1992 to an entrepreneur responsible for the foundation of companies such as Wingnut Films and Weta Workshop and finally to producer and director of mega blockbuster projects such as The Lord of the Rings 2001 2003 and The Hobbit 2012 2013 The book further examines Jackson's work at the level of production reception and textuality along with key collaborative relationships and significant themes associated with Jackson's films The examination of Peter Jackson's work and career ties into significant academic debates including the relationship between national cinema and global Hollywood the global dispersal of film production the relationship between film authorship and industrial modes of production the impact of the creative industries on the construction of national identity and new developments in film technology Cultures and Globalization Helmut K Anheier, 2012-05-02 Today is a new metropolitan age and for the first time ever more people live in cities than they do anywhere else As cities strengthen their international and cultural influence the global world is acted out most articulately in the world's urban hubs through its diverse cultures broad networks and innovative styles of governance Looking at the city through its internal dynamics the book examines how governance and cultural policy play out in a national and international framework Making a truly global contribution to the literature editors Isar and Anheier bring together a truly international and highly respected collection of scholars In doing so they skilfully steer debates beyond the city as an economic powerhouse to cover issues that fully comprehend a city s cultural dynamics and its impact on policy including alternative economies creativity migration diversity sustainability education and urban planning Innovative in its approach and content this book is ideal for students scholars and researchers interested in sociology urban studies cultural studies and public policy

American-Australian Cinema Adrian Danks, Stephen Gaunson, Peter C. Kunze, 2018-01-29 This edited collection assesses the complex historical and contemporary relationships between US and Australian cinema by tapping directly into discussions of national cinema transnationalism and global Hollywood While most equivalent studies aim to define national cinema as independent from or in competition with Hollywood this collection explores a more porous set of relationships through the varied production distribution and exhibition associations between Australia and the US To explore this idea the book investigates the influence that Australia has had on US cinema through the exportation of its stars directors and other production personnel to Hollywood while also charting the sustained influence of US cinema on Australia over the last hundred years It takes two key points in time the 1920s and 1930s and the last twenty years to explore how particular patterns of localism nationalism colonialism transnationalism and globalisation have shaped its course over the last century The contributors re examine the concept and definition of Australian cinema in regard to a range of local international and global practices and trends that blur neat categorisations of national cinema Although this concentration on US production or influence is particularly acute in relation to developments such as the opening of international film studios in Melbourne Sydney Adelaide and the Gold Coast over the last thirty years the book also examines a range of Hollywood financed and or conceived films shot in Australia since the 1920s book focuses on cultural policy in the UK between 1997 and 2010 under the Labour party or New Labour as it was temporarily rebranded. It is based on interviews with major figures and examines a range of policy areas including the arts, creative industries, copyright, film, policy, heritage, urban regeneration and regional policy.

State And The Arts In Singapore, The: Policies And Institutions Terence Chong, 2018-08-13. This book covers Singapore's key arts policies and art institutions which have shaped the cultural landscape of the country from the 1950s to the present. The scholars and experts in this volume critically assess arts policies and arts institutions to collectively provide an overview of how arts and culture have been deployed by the state. The chapters are arranged chronologically to cover milestone events from the forging of Malayan culture, the government's anti yellow culture campaign, the use of culture for tourism, the setting up of the Advisory Council on Arts and Culture, the Renaissance City Report, the setting up of the School of the Arts and others. Putting to rest the notion that Singapore is a cultural desert, this volume is valuable reading for students of cultural policy, policy makers who seek an understanding of Singapore's cultural trajectory and for international readers interested in Singapore's arts and cultural policy.

Hub Cities in the Knowledge Economy Sven Conventz, Ben Derudder, Alain Thierstein, Frank Witlox, 2016-05-13. The overarching research topic addressed in this book is the complex and multifaceted interaction between infrastructural accessibility, connectivity of city regions on the one hand and knowledge generation in these city regions on the other hand. To this end, the book brings together chapters analysing how infrastructural accessibility is related to changing patterns of business location of knowledge intensive industries in city regions. The chapters in this book specifically dwell on recent manifestations of and developments in the accessibility knowledge nexus with a particular metageographical focus on how this materializes in major city regions. In the different chapters, this shifting relation is broached from different perspectives: seaports, airports, brainports at different scales ranging from global scale analyses to case studies and by adopting a variety of methodologies straddling the wide variety of methodological approaches currently adopted in human geography research. Researchers contributing to this edited volume come from different scholarly backgrounds: sociology, human geography, regional planning, which allows for a varied treatise of this research topic.

Surfing Places, Surfboard Makers Andrew Warren, Chris Gibson, 2014-01-31. Over the last forty years, surfing has emerged from its Pacific islands origins to become a global industry. Since its beginnings more than a thousand years ago, surfing's icon has been the surfboard, its essential instrument, the point of physical connection between human and nature, body and wave. To a surfer, a board is more than a piece of equipment; it is a symbol, a physical emblem of cultural, social and emotional meanings. Based on research in three important surfing locations: Hawai'i, southern California and southeastern Australia, this is the first book to trace the surfboard from regional craft tradition to its key role in the billion dollar surfing business. The surfboard workshops of Hawai'i, California and Australia are much more than sites of surfboard manufacturing. They are hives of creativity where legacies of rich cultural heritage and the local environment combine to produce unique bold board designs customized to suit prevailing waves The globalization and corporatization of surfing have presented small independent board makers with many challenges stemming from the wide availability of cheap mass produced boards and the influx of new surfers The authors follow the story of board makers who have survived these challenges and stayed true to their calling by keeping the mythology and creativity of board making alive In addition they explore the heritage of the craft the secrets of custom board production the role of local geography in shaping board styles and the survival of hand crafting skills From the olo boards of ancient Hawaiian kahuna to the high tech designs that represent the current state of the industry Surfing Places Surfboard Makers offers an entrance into the world of surfboard making that will find an eager audience among researchers and students of Pacific culture history geography and economics as well as surfing enthusiasts

The Superhero Blockbuster James C. Taylor, 2025-04-15

The Superhero Blockbuster: Adaptation Style and Meaning builds an innovative framework for analyzing one of the most prominent genres in twenty-first century Hollywood. In combining theories of adaptation with close textual analysis, James C. Taylor provides a set of analytical tools with which to undertake nuanced exploration of superhero blockbusters' meanings. This deep understanding of the films attends to historical, sociopolitical and industrial contexts and also illuminates key ways in which the superhero genre has contributed to the development of the Hollywood blockbuster. Each chapter focuses on a different superhero or superhero team, covering some of the most popular superhero blockbusters based on DC and Marvel superheroes. The chapters cover different aspects of the films' adaptive practices, exploring the adaptation of stylistic strategies, narrative models and modes of seriality from superhero comic books, while being attentive to the ways in which the films engage with the wider networks of texts in various media that comprise a given superhero franchise. Chapter 1 looks back to the first superhero blockbuster, 1978's Superman: The Movie, examining its cinematic re-envisioning of the quintessential superhero and role in establishing Hollywood's emerging model of blockbuster filmmaking. Subsequent chapters analyze the twenty-first century boom in superhero blockbusters and examine digital imaging and nostalgia in Spider-Man films; Marvel Studios' adaptation of a shared universe model of seriality in the Marvel Cinematic Universe; and the use of alternate timeline narratives in X-Men films. The book concludes by turning its analytical toolkit to analysis of DC Studios' cinematic universe, the DC Extended Universe.

Australian Genre Film Kelly McWilliam, Mark David Ryan, 2021-04-26

Australian Genre Film interrogates key genres at the core of Australia's so-called new golden age of genre cinema, establishing the foundation on which more sustained research on film genre in Australian cinema can develop. The book examines what characterises Australian cinema and its output in this new golden age, as contributors ask to what extent Australian genre film draws on widely understood and largely Hollywood-based conventions, as compared to culturally specific conventions of genre storytelling. As such, this book offers a comprehensive and up-to-date survey of Australian genre film, undertaken through original analyses of 13 significant Australian genres: action, biopics, comedy, crime, horror, musical, road movie, romance, science fiction, teen thriller, war, and the Western. This book will be a cornerstone work for the burgeoning field of Australian film genre studies and a must-read for academics, researchers, undergraduate students, postgraduate students and general readers interested in film studies, media studies, cultural studies, Australian studies and sociology.
