Gates,Dianne L. Hall Mark,2010-08-16 As multicultural education is becoming integral to the core curriculum teachers often implement this aspect into their courses through literature. However, standards and criteria to teach and promote active discussion about this literature are sparse. Cultural Journeys introduces pre-service and experienced teachers to the use of literature to promote active discussions that lead students to think about racial diversity. More than just an annotated list of books for children, Pamela S. Gates and Dianne L. Hall Mark provide systematic guidelines that teachers can use throughout their careers to evaluate multicultural literature for students in grades K-8. At the same time, the text leads the reader to a deeper understanding of how to use multicultural literature throughout the entire curriculum and not just during specially designated months or time periods. With the example unit plans and extensive annotated bibliography, this book is a valuable resource that pre-service teachers will utilize when they begin teaching and in-service teachers will reference repeatedly during their planning periods.

Using Literature to Support Skills and Critical Discussion for Struggling Readers

Nancy S. Williams, 2004. Emphasizing the need to develop higher-level thinking skills and critical discussion with intermediate and middle school struggling readers, Williams uses quality children's literature as a springboard to help readers understand and use descriptive vocabulary and figurative language, make personal connections with text, create and solve text-related mathematical problems, promote an active engaged discussion and critical analysis of the story and the important issues raised in text, extend meaning through research and writing, art and drama. To help teachers match student to text, literature selections are categorized according to interest (e.g., mystery, sports, humor, identity, solving problems, genre) and include reading level, interest level, and number of pages. Discussion questions and extension activities specific to over 100 children's literature selections provide opportunities for students to ask questions, discuss, and use descriptive language, make predictions and inferences, evaluate story elements, and critically reflect on character perspectives and social issues raised in the text. All questions are appropriate for individual work, special education classrooms, general education and inclusion classrooms, and help teachers facilitate literature discussion groups, book club discussion, and response writing, self-regulated reading, guided reading, and whole class discussions.

Jacqueline Woodson Lois T. Stover, 2003-08-25. After a brief biography of Jacqueline Woodson, the volume offers a critical analysis of how Woodson's life and work mesh.
