Log-Gases and Random Matrices (LMS-34) Peter J. Forrester, 2010-07-01 Random matrix theory both as an application and as a theory has evolved rapidly over the past fifteen years Log Gases and Random Matrices gives a comprehensive account of these developments emphasizing log gases as a physical picture and heuristic as well as covering topics such as beta ensembles and Jack polynomials Peter Forrester presents an encyclopedic development of log gases and random matrices viewed as examples of integrable or exactly solvable systems Forrester develops not only the application and theory of Gaussian and circular ensembles of classical random matrix theory but also of the Laguerre and Jacobi ensembles and their beta extensions Prominence is given to the computation of a multitude of Jacobians determinantal point processes and orthogonal polynomials of one variable the Selberg integral Jack polynomials and generalized hypergeometric functions Painlevé transcendents macroscopic electrostatics and asymptotic formulas nonintersecting paths and models in statistical mechanics and applications of random matrix theory This is the first textbook development of both nonsymmetric and symmetric Jack polynomial theory as well as the connection between Selberg integral theory and beta ensembles The author provides hundreds of guided exercises and linked topics making Log Gases and Random Matrices an indispensable reference work as well as a learning resource for all students and researchers in the field Smart Grid using Big Data Analytics

Robert C. Qiu, Paul Antonik, 2017-01-23 This book is aimed at students in communications and signal processing who want to extend their skills in the energy area It describes power systems and why these backgrounds are so useful to smart grid wireless communications being very different to traditional wireline communications Counting Surfaces Bertrand Eynard, 2016-03-21 The problem of enumerating maps a map is a set of polygonal countries on a world of a certain topology not necessarily the plane or the sphere is an important problem in mathematics and physics and it has many applications ranging from statistical physics geometry particle physics telecommunications biology etc This problem has been studied by many communities of researchers mostly combinatorists probabilists and physicists Since 1978 physicists have invented a method called matrix models to address that problem and many results have been obtained Besides another important problem in mathematics and physics in particular string theory is to count Riemann surfaces Riemann surfaces of a given topology are parametrized by a finite number of real parameters called moduli and the moduli space is a finite dimensional compact manifold or orbifold of complicated topology The number of Riemann surfaces is the volume of that moduli space More generally an important problem in algebraic geometry is to characterize the moduli spaces by computing not only their volumes but also other characteristic numbers called intersection numbers Witten's conjecture which was first proved by Kontsevich was the assertion that Riemann surfaces can be obtained as limits of polygonal surfaces maps made of a very large number of very small polygons In other words the number of maps in a certain limit should give the intersection numbers of moduli spaces In this book we show how that limit takes place The goal of this book is to explain the matrix model method to show the main results obtained with it and to compare it with methods used in combinatorics bijective proofs Tutte's equations or algebraic geometry Mirzakhani's recursions The book intends to be self contained and accessible to graduate students and provides comprehensive proofs several examples and gives the general formula for the enumeration of maps on surfaces of any topology In the end the link with more general topics such as algebraic geometry string theory is discussed and in particular a proof of the Witten Kontsevich conjecture is provided

Random Matrix Theory with an External Source Edouard Brézin, Shinobu Hikami, 2017-01-11 This is a first book to show that the theory of the Gaussian random matrix is essential to understand the universal correlations with random fluctuations and to demonstrate that it is useful to evaluate topological universal quantities We consider Gaussian random matrix models in the presence of a deterministic matrix source In such models the correlation functions are known exactly for an arbitrary source and for any size of the matrices The freedom given by the external source allows for various tunings to different classes of universality The main interest is to use this freedom to compute various topological invariants for surfaces such as the intersection numbers for curves drawn on a surface of given genus with marked points Euler characteristics and the Gromov Witten invariants A remarkable duality for the average of characteristic polynomials is essential for obtaining such topological invariants The analysis is extended to nonorientable surfaces and to surfaces with boundaries

Hydrodynamic Scales Of Integrable Many-body Systems Herbert Spohn, 2024-02-27 This book provides a broad introduction to integrable systems with many degrees of freedom Within a much larger orbit discussed are models such as the classical Toda lattice Calogero fluid and Ablowitz Ladik discretized nonlinear Schrödinger equation On the quantum mechanical side featured are the Lieb Liniger delta Bose gas and the quantum Toda lattice As a genuinely novel twist the study deals with random initial data described by generalized Gibbs ensembles with parameters of slow spatial variation This is the hydrodynamic scale in spirit similar to the ballistic Euler scale of nonintegrable simple fluids While integrable microscopic particle models are very diverse the central theme of this book is to elucidate their structural similarity on hydrodynamic scales

Discrete Systems and Integrability J. Hietarinta, N. Joshi, F. W. Nijhoff, 2016-09 A first introduction to the theory of discrete integrable systems at a level suitable for students and non experts

Symmetric Markov Processes, Time Change, and Boundary Theory (LMS-35) Zhen-Qing Chen, Masatoshi Fukushima, 2012 This book gives a comprehensive and self contained introduction to the theory of symmetric Markov processes and symmetric quasi regular Dirichlet forms In a detailed and accessible manner Zhen Qing Chen and Masatoshi Fukushima cover the essential elements and applications of the theory of symmetric Markov processes including recurrence transience criteria probabilistic potential theory additive functional theory and time change theory The authors develop the theory in a general framework of symmetric quasi regular Dirichlet forms in a unified manner with that of regular Dirichlet forms emphasizing the role of extended Dirichlet spaces and the rich interplay between the probabilistic and analytic aspects of the theory Chen and Fukushima then address the latest advances in the theory presented here for the first time in any book Topics include the characterization of time changed Markov processes in terms of Douglas integrals and a systematic account of reflected Dirichlet spaces and the important roles such advances play in the boundary theory of symmetric Markov processes This volume is an ideal resource for researchers and practitioners and can also serve as a textbook for advanced graduate students It includes examples appendixes and exercises with solutions     Current Index to Statistics, Applications, Methods and Theory ,1989
