Handbook of the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games Vassil Girginov, 2013 The Handbook of the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games is an officially licensed account of the world's greatest sporting and cultural event. It tells the complete story of the 2012 Games from inception through the successful bidding process and the planning and preparation phase to delivery, the post Games period and legacy. Written by a world class team of international sport scholars, researchers and writers, the book offers comprehensive analysis of the full social, cultural, political, historical, economic and sporting context of the Games. From the political, commercial and structural complexities of organising an event on such a scale to the sporting action that holds the attention of the world, this book illuminates every aspect of the 2012 Games, helping us to better understand the vital role that sport and culture play in contemporary global society. The book is divided into two volumes. Volume One: Making the Games examines the build up to London 2012, covering key topics such as the bidding process, planning and decision making, financing the Games, developing the infrastructure, engaging national and international governing bodies of sport, engaging the UK public, engaging a global public, developing a legacy programme, the Cultural Olympiad. Richly illustrated with the personal accounts of key stakeholders from sports administrators and politicians to athletes and spectators, and including essential data and evocative visual material, this book is essential reading for anybody with a personal or professional interest in the Olympic and Paralympic Games, global culture or the development of sport.

Atlanta's Olympic Resurgence: How the 1996 Games Revived a Struggling City Michael Dobbins, Leon S. Eplan & Randal Roark, 2021 The summer of 1996. In nineteen days, six million visitors jostled about in a southern city grappling with white flight, urban decay and the stifling legacy of Jim Crow. Six years earlier, a bold, audacious partnership of a strong mayor, enlightened business leaders and Atlanta's Black political leadership dared to bid on hosting the 1996 Olympic Games. Unexpectedly, the city won an achievement that ignited a loose but robust coalition that worked collectively, if sometimes contentiously, to prepare the city and push it forward. This is a story of how once struggling Atlanta leveraged the benefits of the Centennial Games to become a city of international prominence. This improbable rise from the ashes is told by three urban planning professionals who were at the center of the story. Back cover The London Olympics of 2012 Stephen Wagg, 2016-04-29 Analysing the politics of the 2012 London Olympics, Stephen Wagg examines the framing of London's bid to host the Games, arguments about the Games' likely impact and the establishment of Fortress London to protect the Games. The book asks who won and who lost out in this important event, as well as exploring its media coverage and legacy.

researchers and policy makers Public Art (Now) Claire Doherty, 2015-03-09 Public Art Now Out of Time Out of Place is the first survey of progressive public art from around the world. It presents some of the most significant artworks in the public realm from the last decade, challenging preconceptions about where, when, and how public art takes place. The face of public art is changing. For decades, art in the public realm has been characterized by the landmark sculpture or spectacular outdoor event that helps to define or brand a place. But in recent years, a new wave of international artists and producers has rejected the monumental scale and mass appeal of such artworks. Instead, these individuals and groups favour unconventional forms that unsettle rather than authenticate a place's identity, disrupt rather than embellish a particular location, and contest rather than validate the design and function of public space. Performed interactions, collaborative social movements, and small-scale subversive acts are just some of the unorthodox approaches taken by these artists. Their works challenge preconceived ideas about the role of art in place-making as they seek to remake places through radical forms and practices. Public Art Now Out of Time Out of Place presents the artists who have been redefining the practice of public art over the past decade. They directly address the most pressing issues of our time, including the encroachment of corporate concerns on public space, the implications of global migration, and the isolation of the individual and the potential of collective action to share the future of our towns and cities. Some forty key works from around the world are organized into five sections: Displacement, Intervention, Disorientation, Occupation, and Perpetuation, with detailed descriptions and dozens of installation and process shots. Interviews and quotes from practitioners, commissioners, and commentators reveal the impetus and context for the projects, while the editor's introduction sets out the conceptual, practical, and ethical issues raised by the works. Bringing together the most significant artworks in the public realm of the last ten years, from ephemeral interventions to long-term ongoing projects, this dynamic survey is an essential reference for anyone interested in the ideas, issues, and impulses behind progressive public art and an accessible introduction to one of the most vibrant areas of contemporary art. Promoting Hendrickson, 2014-08-19 Addressing an under-studied aspect of U.S. foreign policy towards sub-Saharan Africa, Hendrickson provides a critical historical analysis of institutions designed to promote private investment in the region. She draws attention to the interaction between strategic factors, domestic interests, and the ideas used to achieve consensus on policy. Technical questions and answers for job interview Offshore Oil & Gas
