In this adventure he goes to a Maryland plantation during the days of American slavery where he meets a young girl named Sarah. When she learns that the owner has plans to sell her little brother Jesse to a plantation in the Deep South it means they could be separated forever. Long Road to Freedom Kate Messner, 2016 This time the mysterious box that Ranger the Golden retriever found transports him to a Maryland plantation before the Civil War where he must help a young house slave named Sarah and her younger brother Jesse find their way to the underground railroad and North to freedom before Jesse is sold to a plantation further South.

Tell Me the Names of Your Friends, and I Will Tell You Who You Are Lee Sturgeon-Day, 2010-02 TELL ME THE NAMES OF YOUR FRIENDS is the story of Lee Sturgeon Day's year without a voice told through letters she exchanged with friends. Her previous book A SLICE OF LIFE describes healing cancer through anthroposophic medicine and therapies 20 years ago. Praise for A SLICE OF LIFE: As with all works of true imagination we are taken into something universal through this telling we are invited to see a new vision. Spiritual life is no longer to be found in the secluded monastic life nor the temple nor the church but through the way in which we take up our deepest afflictions. Dr Robert Sardello author and director of the School of Spiritual Psychology. An inspiration to cancer patients and enjoyable reading for anyone with or without cancer. Lee Sturgeon Day engages the big questions and life's trivial absurdities with equal vigor. Captivating the reader with rare courage, wisdom, and rollicking good humor. Lois Robbins author of Waking Up in the Age of Creativity. In TELL ME THE NAMES OF YOUR FRIENDS readers are treated to the courage, wisdom, and compassion of Lee's many friends.

Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell

Hamilton, 2011-08-15 In all of journalism nowhere are the stakes higher than in foreign news gathering. For media owners it is the most difficult type of reporting to finance; for editors the hardest to oversee. Correspondents roaming large swaths of the planet must acquire expertise that home-based reporters take for granted: facility with the local language for instance, or an understanding of local cultures. Adding further to the challenges they must put news of the world in context for an audience with little experience and often limited interest in foreign affairs, a task made all the more daunting because of the consequence to national security. In Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell Hamilton, a historian and former foreign correspondent, provides a sweeping and definitive history of American foreign news reporting from its inception to the present day and chronicles the economic and technological advances that have influenced overseas coverage as well as the cavalcade of colorful personalities who shaped readers' perceptions of the world across two centuries. From the colonial era when newspaper printers hustled down to wharfs to collect mail and periodicals from incoming ships to the ongoing multimedia press coverage of the Iraq War Hamilton explores journalism's constant and not always successful efforts at dishing the foreign news as James Gordon Bennett put it in the mid nineteenth century to describe his approach in the New York Herald He details the highly partisan coverage of the French Revolution the early emergence of special correspondents and the challenges of organizing their efforts the profound impact of the non yellow press in the run up to the Spanish American War the increasingly sophisticated machinery of propaganda and censorship that surfaced during World War I and the golden age of foreign correspondence during the interwar period when outlets for foreign news swelled and a large number of experienced independent journalists circled the globe From the Nazis intimidation of reporters to the ways in which American popular opinion shaped coverage of Communist revolution and the Vietnam War Hamilton covers every aspect of delivering foreign news to American doorsteps Along the way Hamilton singles out a fascinating cast of characters among them Victor Lawson the overlooked proprietor of the Chicago Daily News who pioneered the concept of a foreign news service geared to American interests Henry Morton Stanley one of the first reporters to generate news on his own with his 1871 expedition to East Africa to find Livingstone and Jack Belden a forgotten brooding figure who exemplified the best in combat reporting Hamilton details the experiences of correspondents editors owners publishers and network executives as well as the political leaders who made the news and the technicians who invented ways to transmit it Their stories bring the narrative to life in arresting detail and make this an indispensable book for anyone wanting to understand the evolution of foreign news gathering Amid the steep drop in the number of correspondents stationed abroad and the recent decline of the newspaper industry many fear that foreign reporting will soon no longer exist But as Hamilton shows in this magisterial work traditional correspondence survives alongside a new type of reporting Journalism's Roving Eye offers a keen understanding of the vicissitudes in foreign news an understanding imperative to better seeing what lies ahead
