Looking Back Poems From My Adolescent Self:

Looking Back Teesa Mee, 2016-09-05 These poems were written by me between 1971 and 1975 That was between my junior year of high school and my senior year of college The exception is the final poem I wrote that a year after I met my husband and a year before I married him I am happy to say that we are both Loving today Thank you for reading Playing With Words Shelley Davidow, Paul Williams, 2017-09-16 Drawing on years of experience of writing teaching and publishing this book offers essential tools for writers interested in honing their craft Whether you re a poet non fiction writer novelist journalist student or simply a lover of words it will take you on an exciting and challenging journey to becoming a sophisticated writer As in the learning of any true craft or art first the focus is on specific skills then on consolidating those skills which by the end will be innate Through a variety of exercises and freewriting prompts Playing with Words will help you develop your writing trying out new styles and approaches along the way Use this book in a class in a group or alone in a writer s attic Letter to My Teenage Self Grace Halphen, 2016-09-01 Melbourne teenager Grace Halphen had a tough time transitioning to high school she struggled to make friends and fit in When she realised that this is a common experience she wondered why she d felt so alone At thirteen Grace embarked on a project to contact all the Australian public figures she admires asking them to provide advice to help teenagers navigate the inevitable ups and downs of adolescence In Letter to My Teenage Self more than 50 prominent Australians write heartfelt letters to their younger selves passing on the wisdom they wish they d had at the time From learning to laugh at yourself Adam Gilchrist realising that the qualities that make you stand out are the ones that make you so rad Missy Higgins not letting the negatives shape who you become Guy Sebastian practising gratitude Nathan Buckley and the reassurance that you ll get over anger about people treating you badly because you ll get better at treating yourself well Judith Lucy Letter to My Teenage Self provides inspiration for parents and teenagers alike Contributors include Maggie Beer Chris Judd Judith Lucy Matt Tilley Adam Gilchrist Jen Cloher Jackie French Missy Higgins Nathan Buckley Kate Ceberano Josh Frydenberg Layne Beachley Stephanie Rice David Koch Guy Sebastian Alice Pung Dannii Minogue Chet Faker Shaun Tan Richard Joseph Frankland Lisa Mitchell Jo Stanley Peter Alexander All profits from the sale of this book go to the REACH FOUNDATION helping all teenagers reach their full potential The Mental Life of Modernism Samuel Jay Keyser, 2020-03-03 An argument that Modernism is a cognitive phenomenon rather than a cultural one At the beginning of the twentieth century poetry music and painting all underwent a sea change Poetry abandoned rhyme and meter music ceased to be tonally centered and painting no longer aimed at faithful representation These artistic developments have been attributed to cultural factors ranging from the Industrial Revolution and the technical innovation of photography to Freudian psychoanalysis In this book Samuel Jay Keyser argues that the stylistic innovations of Western modernism reflect not a cultural shift but a cognitive one Behind modernism is the same cognitive phenomenon that led to the scientific revolution of the seventeenth century the brain coming up against its natural limitations Keyser argues that the transformation in poetry music and painting the so called sister arts is the result of the abandonment of a natural aesthetic based on a set of rules shared between artist and audience and that this is virtually the same cognitive shift that occurred when scientists abandoned the mechanical philosophy of the Galilean revolution The cultural explanations for Modernism may still be relevant but they are epiphenomenal rather than causal Artists felt that traditional forms of art had been exhausted and they began to resort to private formats Easter eggs with hidden and often inaccessible meaning Keyser proposes that when artists discarded their natural rule governed aesthetic it marked a cognitive shift general intelligence took over from hardwired proclivity Artists used a different part of the brain to create and audiences were forced to play catch up

Art's Visionary Moment Sidney Homan, 2025-02-04 The collection Art s Visionary Moment Personal Encounters with Works That Last a Lifetime was inspired by T S Eliot s observation in his Dante 1929 The experience of a poem is the experience both of a moment and of a lifetime There is a first or an early moment which is unique which can never be forgotten but is never repeated integrally and yet which would become destitute of significance if it did not survive in a larger whole of experience In this collection scholars and artists from a variety of fields speak in personal terms but with what one has called intellectual passion of a work of art poem play novel film visual art among others that as Dante suggest has had an immediate effect on them the Visionary Moment from the title yet survives in a larger whole of experience that Last a Lifetime in the collection s sub title Some of the titles of essays already submitted show the range of this inquiry Conversations with the Dead Playing Richard III The Experience of a Moment and a Lifetime Picasso s Three Musicians Poetry Meets Power Tamburlaine the Great Pleasant Dreaming with Thanatopsis From Madness to Miracle An Encounter with Shakespeare s Winter s Tale Fight the Power Spike Lee s Visionary Moment and Plastic Art Moment

Glancing

Visions Zachary Tavlin, 2023-06-13 The sweeping vantages that typify American landscape painting from the nineteenth century by Thomas Cole and other members of the Hudson School are often interpreted for their geopolitical connotations as visual attempts to tame the wild alleviating fears of a savage frontier through views that subdue the landscape to the eye Zachary Tavlin's Glancing Visions challenges the long standing assumption that visibility in nineteenth century art and literature was inherently imperialistic or possessive While there is much to be said for both material economic and theological impulses to clear the wilderness superimpose a national identity and usher in a Puritanical idyll many literary figures of the era display a purposeful disdain for the possessive gaze signaling instead a preference for subtle glances often informed by early photography Impressionism new techniques in portraiture and soon after the dawn of cinema The visual subjectivities and contingencies introduced by these media made room for a visual counter narrative one informed by a mode of seeing that moves fast and lightly across the surface of things Tavlin probes Nathaniel Hawthorne's idea of the imagination one that derives from both the camera obscura in The Custom House and the daguerreotype in The House of the Seven Gables each in its way an instance of the glance and entirely dependent on temporal moments The poetry of Frances Ellen Watkins Harper toggles between gazes and glances unsettling two competing forms of racialized seeing as they pertain to nineteenth century Black life and racial hierarchies the sentimental gaze and the slave trader's glance highlighting the life and death stakes of both looking anyone squarely in the eye and looking away Emily Dickinson's certain slant of light syntactical oddities and her stitching of scraps and fragments into the fascicles that constitute her corpus all derive from a commitment to contingency the ungrounded life's only defense against the abyss of non being Tavlin investigates as well Henry James's vexed but entirely dependent relationship to literary and painterly impressionism and William Carlos Williams's imagist poetics as a response to early cinema's use of the cut as the basis for a new visual grammar Each of these literary artists Tavlin argues via their own distinctive sensibilities and the artistic or technological counterparts that informed them refuse the authoritative all possessive gaze in favor of the glance a mode of seeing thinking and being that made way for what we now think of as commonplace namely modernity

Brian Patten Linda Cookson, 1997 This study seeks to explore Brian Patten's position in relation to his fellow Liverpool Poets and to contemporary poetry more widely As a Teenager Grows Andrea Coker, 2013-03-29 In life often one feels alone and that there is something better than what they are living Throughout this book an author is writing from her heart to show people everywhere that they are not the only ones who feel that way She reaches for the stars falls into the ocean and sinks deeper into darkness than before Yet as the poems continue on and her advice reaches the hearts of those around her she bares all emotions in the process Looking to guide others in a direction of peace and hopefulness in the end as well as happiness she shares her darkest moments which eventually lead to her highest dreams

Emotional Edges - A Poetic Passage through the Heart Samreen Kaur Sandhu, 2022-09-07 In this book author has tried to share her experiences thoughts emotions fantasies also their change with time This book contains poems about minute details as well as major events in one's life. The poems depict a rainbow of emotions. They provide evidence on how the mind likes to wander, nostalgize about the past, fantasize the future, and stay binded in the strings of emotions. She hopes you find them relevant, relatable, and heart touching. Walking Wounded Andrew Taylor, 2013-10-24. This uncompromising biography tells the story of a wounded D-Day veteran, a deserter, a violent drunk, a loving father who abandoned his first child, a boxer and brawler, a wife beater, a bigamist, and a passionately romantic lover. It is also, most importantly, the story of a poet. Vernon Scannell wrote some of the finest poetry to come out of the Second World War. He won the Chomondeley Prize and the Heinemann Award, and for half a century he was acknowledged as one of the leading poets in the country. His Collected Poems are still in print, and his poetry for both adults and children is regularly anthologised and appears on English Literature examination papers. Scannell died in 2007, and Walking Wounded draws on his personal diaries, poems, and other writings to offer the first detailed study of this complex, controversial, and occasionally tragic life. For the first time, the women who loved him tell their stories; his children describe growing up with a father who was funny, affectionate, sometimes violent, and often not there at all; and his fellow poets, including Seamus Heaney, Anthony Thwaite, Alan Brownjohn, and Kit Wright, speak of the dedicated stylist, assured performer, and occasionally roistering drunk that they knew. Scannell was seriously wounded in Normandy shortly after D-Day, but the book looks at the deeper mental scars from the War that he bore all his life, and of the suffering they caused to him and the people who loved him. It is an important book about an important poet, which investigates where poetry comes from and the terrible price that sometimes has to be paid for it. My Teenage Diary Harriet Jaine, 2018-05-31. Ever wanted to pick the lock of a celebrity's teenage diary? My Teenage Diary is a Radio 4 comedy show hosted by Rufus Hound, featuring celebrities reading and discussing extracts from their teenage diaries. Collected together for the first time, these tear-stained, lipstick-smudged adolescent ramblings form the backbone of this book, edited by series producer Harriet Jaine. Featuring diary extracts from Terry Wogan, Alex Horne, Robert Peston, Rachel Johnson, Meera Syal, Sheila Hancock, Robert Webb, and many more, these diaries give us a wealth of brilliant material from the funny and ridiculous via the poignant, pretentious, and philosophical down to the extremely embarrassing. Positive Self-Identity for the Successful Teenage Learner Joost Drost, 2023-05-31. Using a narrative approach, teenagers are challenged to learn about themselves, about each other, and about how to take control of their lives. The learning is presented in a series of lessons with comprehensive facilitator instructions and materials designed to engage teenagers in both group and individual activities. A story and characters provide a full range of emotions from the overwhelming feelings of angst and anger to empathy, friendship, support, and happiness. The material complements the secondary SEAL agenda. A comprehensive guide will help the facilitator to capture the student's emotional world and turn their energies into meaningful and constructive projects. It also provides students with tools to practice and develop their emotional and social intelligence. Home/Land Rebecca Mead, 2022-02-08. A moving reflection on the complicated nature of home and homeland and the heartache and adventure of leaving an adopted country in order to return to your native land this is a winsome memoir of departure and reversal about the way a series of unknowns accrue into a life Jia Tolentino author of Trick Mirror When the New Yorker writer Rebecca Mead relocated to her birth city London with her family in the summer of 2018 she was both fleeing the political situation in America and seeking to expose her son to a wider world With a keen sense of what she'd given up as she left New York her home of thirty years she tried to knit herself into the fabric of a changed London The move raised poignant questions about place What does it mean to leave the place you have adopted as home and country And what is the value and cost of uprooting yourself In a deft mix of memoir and reportage drawing on literature and art recent and ancient history and the experience of encounters with individuals environments and landscapes in New York City and in England Mead artfully explores themes of identity nationality and inheritance She recounts her time in the coastal town of Weymouth where she grew up her dizzying first years in New York where she broke into journalism the rich process of establishing a new home for her dual national son in London Along the way she gradually reckons with the complex legacy of her parents Home Land is a stirring inquiry into how to be present where we are while never forgetting where we have been
