Boyd,Connie Carter,2014-01-01 Since the late 1990s marijuana grow operations have been identified by media and others as a new and dangerous criminal activity of epidemic proportions With Killer Weed Susan C Boyd and Connie Carter use their analysis of fifteen years of newspaper coverage to show how consensus about the dangerous people and practices associated with marijuana cultivation was created and disseminated by numerous spokespeople including police RCMP and the media in Canada The authors focus on the context of media reports in Canada to show how claims about marijuana cultivation have intensified the perception that this activity poses significant dangers to public safety and thus is an appropriate target for Canada's war on drugs Boyd and Carter carefully show how the media draw on the same spokespeople to tell the same story again and again and how a limited number of messages has led to an expanding anti drug campaign that uses not only police but BC Hydro and local municipalities to crack down on drug production Going beyond the newspapers Killer Weed examines how legal political and civil initiatives that have emerged from the media narrative have troubling consequences for a shrinking Canadian civil society

Medical Marijuana and Marijuana Use Albert T. Johnson, 2009 Twelve states mostly in the West have enacted laws allowing the use of marijuana for medical purposes and many thousands of patients are seeking relief from a variety of serious illnesses by smoking marijuana or using other herbal cannabis preparations Meanwhile the federal Drug Enforcement Administration refuses to recognise these state laws and continues to investigate and arrest under federal statute medical marijuana providers and users in those states and elsewhere Claims and counterclaims about medical marijuana much debated by journalists and academics policymakers at all levels of government and interested citizens include the following Marijuana is harmful and has no medical value marijuana effectively treats the symptoms of certain diseases smoking is an improper route of drug administration marijuana should be rescheduled to permit medical use state medical marijuana laws send the wrong message and lead to increased illicit drug use the medical marijuana movement undermines the war on drugs patients should not be arrested for using medical marijuana the federal government should allow the states to experiment and should not interfere with state medical marijuana programs medical marijuana laws harm the federal drug approval process the medical cannabis movement is a cynical ploy to legalise marijuana and other drugs With strong opinions being expressed on all sides of this complex issue the debate over medical marijuana does not appear to be approaching resolution
