United States Marine Corps Marine Corps Combat Development Command,2011-09-01 1 GAIN ATTENTION There are several fundamentals of the physical discipline of our martial arts that are used throughout any type of confrontation or situation These fundamentals form the basis for all martial arts instruction and techniques Additionally you must prepare your body for the rigors of combat To do so your body must possess the attributes of both toughness and flexibility Like iron you must be able to absorb and give out punishment but have the flexibility to prevent injuries The proper execution of these fundamentals will enable you to effectively perform martial arts techniques that may very well save your life or the lives of fellow Marines one day 2 OVERVIEW This lesson will cover the fundamentals of Marine Corps Martial Arts to include the purpose of close combat ranges of close combat weapons of the body target areas of the body pressure points basic warrior stance and angles of approach and movement and body hardening 3 LESSON PURPOSE The purpose of this period of instruction is to provide an explanation of the martial arts skills taught in the tan belt course A student will teach the material to provide additional practice in instructing close combat skills There are no Terminal Learning Objectives or Enabling Learning Objectives pertaining to this lesson The United States Army and Navy Journal and Gazette of the Regular and Volunteer Forces ,1910 Sustaining the Marine Corps Martial Arts Program ,2005 Close combat is vital to the Marine Corps a service that prides itself on being able to locate close with and destroy the enemy The Marine Corps has adopted many programs designed to dispatch the enemy at close range Unfortunately programs like Close Combat Instruction CCI and the Linear In fighting Neurological override Engagement LINE system did not completely satisfy the Marine Corps needs and were virtually incompatible with other Marine Corps training programs due to their limited focus on unarmed combat only Therefore the Marine Corps Martial Arts Program MCMA was implemented in the summer of 2000 under the direction of General James L Jones 32nd Commandant of the Marine Corps MCMA is an integrated synergistic fighting system incorporating mental character and physical disciplines that apply across the entire spectrum of violence MCMA is a program that offers added value to the Marine Corps both on and off the battlefield It mirrors the Marine Corps ethos and arms Marines with skills knowledge and values that will continue to be useful to them throughout their careers and lives The Martial Arts Center of Excellence should constantly sell the program whether it is to the potential recruit the gunnery sergeant with 15 years of service or the Commandant himself The leaders of the Corps at all levels must be the primary target audience and recognize the value that MCMAP brings to the table Moreover they must require MCMAP participation of themselves and all their Marines Ultimately the Marine Corps needs to reinforce its commitment to this program by implementing requirements that place the program on equal footing as other established programs such as professional military education rifle range and the PFT MCMAP may be short lived unless the Marine Corps does a better job of selling the program to all Marines establishes and enforces overdue requirements and receives the support of senior leadership
