Harrow Memorials Great War Vol:

Harrow Memorials of the Great War, Vol. 1, 2015-07-09 Excerpt from Harrow Memorials of the Great War Vol 1 August 23rd 1914 to March 20th 1915 It is more than three years since our great Empire rushed to the standard to prevent the absorption of small nations by a Power steeped in Imperialism and Militarism and bent through those instruments on the domination of the world From the first our public schools eagerly came forward to take their part and none have been more prominent than the dear old School on the Hill I have already endeavoured in Harrow's Epic of the War published in December 1916 to depict in all too feeble words the glorious spirit in which Old Harrovians willingly laid down their lives not only for the noblest cause ever submitted to the decision of the battlefield but also in the greatest war the world has ever witnessed Their memories will be kept green in the minds of all who visit the School in years to come by an impressive monument now under consideration where future Harrovians will be able to read the names of the School heroes Naturally they will try to picture to themselves the features of the gallant dead and it will be in the pages of these volumes that they will be enabled to fulfil their wishes It is not possible to say what the number of volumes will be for the end of the war is not yet in sight but already some five hundred have paid the great sacrifice No words are necessary to commend these volumes to the notice of Old Harrovians To them whether they were personally acquainted with the fallen or not the books will form a glorious record of the unselfish patriotism and indescribable bravery of the old School in the cause of honour uprightness and down trodden humanity while to relations and friends they will bring some consolation in that the faces of their dear ones will thus be permanently handed down to posterity About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www forgottenbooks com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Harrow Memorials of the Great War, Vol. 6,2016-07-17 Excerpt from Harrow Memorials of the Great War Vol 6 April 10th 1918 to the End of the War Elder son of Arthur Hubert Bagley b a Barrister at law Indian Judicial Service and of his Wife Helen Sophia Bagley third daughter of John Higginson j p of Leicester About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www forgottenbooks com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works HARROW MEMORIALS OF THE GRT WA made available for future generations to enjoy Aisne 1914 Paul Kendall, 2012-05-01 The Battle of the Aisne fought in September 1914 introduced a new and savage mode of warfare to the soldiers of the British Expeditionary Force their French allies and to the German Army Both officers and men were trained to fight mobile wars When they reached the north bank of the Aisne the Old Contemptibles would be stopped by the Germans entrenched on high ground armed with machine guns and supported by heavy artillery. The British commanders would naively send their troops on futile assaults up slopes devoid of cover to attack the German lines dug in on the ridges along the Chemin des Dames and concealed by woodland The British did not even have grenades The BEF suffered 12 000 casualties Their commanders who were not trained to fight a modern war were lost for a solution or even a strategy It was on the Chemin des Dames that the first trenches of the Western Front were dug and where the line that would stretch from the Swiss frontier to the North Sea began The Battle of the Aisne saw the dawn of trench warfare and a stalemate that would last for the next four years Wide ranging archival research by author Paul Kendall makes this the first in depth study of the battle in print His correspondence with surviving relatives of those who fought brings a human face to the terrible casualty statistics that would come to define the trenches Memorials of the Great War, Vol. 2,2018-03-30 Excerpt from Harrow Memorials of the Great War Vol 2 March 31st 1915 to September 11th 1915 On the outbreak of the War and Lieutenant Alison enlisted in the Royal Berkshire Regiment was at once made lance corporal and shortly afterwards given a Commission About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www forgottenbooks com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Victoria Crosses on the Western Front: August 1914-April 1915 Paul Oldfield, 2014-07-31 The research for this book commenced in 1988 while the author was serving in the Army In the years since numerous sources have been consulted but career imperatives left insufficient time to complete the project until retirement from the military In the past the author spent many days on the First and Second World War battlefields wondering precisely where the Victoria Cross actions took place He resolved to find out The book is designed for the armchair reader as much as the battlefield visitor A detailed account of each VC action sets it in the wider strategic and tactical context Detailed sketch maps show the area today together with the battle lines and movements of the combatants It will allow visitors to stand upon the spot or very close where the VCs were won Photographs of the battle sites illustrate the accounts There is also a comprehensive biography for each VC recipient and photographs The biographies cover every aspect of their lives warts and all parents and siblings education civilian employment military career wife and children death and burial or commemoration There is also a host of other information much published for the first time Some fascinating characters emerge with numerous links to many famous people and events As featured on BBC Radio Wiltshire and in the Daily Record Gloucestershire Echo Canterbury Times and Barking Irish Aces of the RFC and the RAF in the First World War Joe Gleeson, 2017-05-17 The First World War Dagenham Post had an enormous impact on Ireland Over 240 000 Irish men and women volunteered to serve with the Allied forces suffering almost 40 000 casualties. The Irish contribution to the air war remains overlooked not just in Ireland but also by historians generally Although just 6 000 Irish served with the Allied flying services at a cost of 500 casualties their impact was out of all proportion to their numbers The contribution of Irish aces of the RFC and RAF to the Allied cause was enormous just over thirty of whom accounted for 400 enemy aircraft Irishmen such as Mannock McElroy and Hazell were among the highest scoring pilots of the war Some were revered by their men others were controversial figures reckless with their own lives and those under their command but many of their stories remain untold This book seeks to restore all those who were written out of Irish history while also providing for their achievements to be considered in the overall context of the first air war Illustrations 24 black and white photographs Champagne and Shambles Catherine Beale, 2009-10-19 In January 1870 Johnny Arkwright was the largest landowner in Herefordshire From the processions and balls which celebrated his coming of age to facing financial ruin at his own son s birthday and the eventual sale of the estate this book shows through the example of a prominent family the downfall of the landed classes HARROW MEMORIALS OF THE GRT WA Anonymous, 2016-08-26 Proconsul to the Middle East John Townsend, 2010-04-30 Britain's Moment in the Middle East was it an imperial triumph or a decisive staging post in the end of empire story Sir Percy Cox 1864 1937 was a vital figure in the history of the British Empire in the Middle East part of the pantheon with such legends as T E Lawrence and Gertrude Bell As High Commissioner in Iraq from 1920 to 1923 he presided over the birth of modern Iraq the climax of his career but left an infant state fraught with political ethnic and religious problems which have bedeviled Iraq and the Middle East to the present day John Townsend paints a convincing picture of Britain's global empire and brings Cox to life as an archetypal patrician proconsul This is the first major biography of Cox based on extensive research in original sources and long experience in the region It strikingly illustrates the troubled contemporary history of Iraq and the modern Middle East and will become the standard work on Cox
