and his sister Patty who go to live in the house that is the subject of the tale. The house is a solitary house standing in a sadly neglected garden described as stiff cold and formal. It is known to be haunted in particular bells ring without provocation and one of the siblings' servants observes eyes at the residence. The siblings decide to release all their servants save Bottles a deaf stableman and live in the house by themselves. Patty has an idea to invite seven friends to the house to form a Society here for three months and observe the ghostly happenings around the home. Indeed in November friends begin arriving at the house and draw straws to see who gets what room. From these visitors we get the remaining volumes in The Haunted House. Each visitor promises to keep any supernatural occurrences to themselves until the Twelfth Night the last night of holy Christmas when they plan to gather and share their stories. The Middle Stories The stories that come between Dickens' The Mortals in the House and the concluding The Ghost in the Corner Room explain the encounters that each of Jack and Patty's friends have during their stay. These stories include The Ghost in the Clock Room, The Ghost in the Double Room, The Ghost in the Picture Room, The Ghost in the Cupboard Room and The Ghost in the Garden Room. Each story is different from the rest but none of them are truly connected. They function much like vignettes or individual episodes that each guest experiences in the room they drew the lot for. Some of the stories are told by the ghosts while others have out of body type experiences.

five other authors The Haunted House Charles Dickens, 2014-10-23 My health required a temporary residence in the country and a friend of mine who knew that and who had happened to drive past the house had written to me to suggest it as a likely place I had got into the train at midnight and had fallen asleep and had woke up and had sat looking out of window at the brilliant Northern Lights in the sky and had fallen asleep again and had woke up again to find the night gone with the usual discontented conviction on me that I hadn't been to sleep at all upon which question in the first imbecility of that condition I am ashamed to believe that I would have done waver by battle with the man who sat opposite me That opposite man had had through the night as that opposite man always has several legs too many and all of them too long In addition to this unreasonable conduct which was only to be expected of him he had had a pencil and a pocket book and had been perpetually listening and taking notes It had appeared to me that these aggravating notes related to the jolts and bumps of the carriage and I should have resigned myself to his taking them under a general supposition that he was in the civil engineering way of life if he had not sat staring straight over my head whenever he listened He was a goggle eyed gentleman of a perplexed aspect and his demeanour became unbearable
