Mapping Environmental Issues In The City Mapping Environmental Issues In The City:

Mapping Environmental Issues in the City Sébastien Caquard, Laurene Vaughan, William Cartwright, 2011-08-19 This book complements the growing body of literature exploring the relationships between arts and cartography It is distinct from the previous ones by its main focus The multiple ways of representing a database In the context of the exponential increase of the volume of geospatial data available addressing this issue becomes critical and has not yet received much attention Furthermore the content of the database environmental issues in the city gives a strong social and political texture to the project The expected audience for this book are academic as well as students interested in the relationships between art and cartography place and technology power and representations This book could serve as an inspiration for local groups and communities dealing with environmental injustice all over the world Finally at a local scale this book could become a major reference for individuals communities and institutions interested in environmental issues in the city of Montreal Literary

Mapping in the Digital Age David Cooper, Christopher Donaldson, Patricia Murrieta-Flores, 2016-05-20 Drawing on the expertise of leading researchers from around the globe this pioneering collection of essays explores how geospatial technologies are revolutionizing the discipline of literary studies The book offers the first intensive examination of digital literary cartography a field whose recent and rapid development has yet to be coherently analysed This collection not only provides an authoritative account of the current state of the field but also informs a new generation of digital humanities scholars about the critical and creative potentials of digital literary mapping The book showcases the work of exemplary literary mapping projects and provides the reader with an overview of the tools techniques and methods those projects employ Mapping the Chemical Environment of Urban Areas Christopher C. Johnson, Alecos Demetriades, Juan

Locutura, Rolf Tore Ottesen, 2011-02-11 This comprehensive text focuses on the increasingly important issues of urban geochemical mapping with key coverage of the distribution and behaviour of chemicals and compounds in the urban environment Clearly structured throughout the first part of the book covers general aspects of urban chemical mapping with an overview of current practice and reviews of different aspects of the component methodologies The second part includes case histories from different urban areas around Europe authored by those national or academic institutions tasked with investigating the chemical environments of their major urban centers Water City Matthew Bradbury, 2020-12-30 Water City offers practical solutions to some of the environmental challenges facing 21st century cities as a result of climate change The dense compact nature of the contemporary city makes it difficult to generate urban resilience to the effects of climate change particularly coastal and pluvial flooding This book describes a design led remediation methodology that draws on catchment planning and GIS mapping and analysis to redefine the city as a series of hydrological and ecological systems Six case studies test the presented methodology two greenfield and four brownfield sites based in the UK USA New Zealand and China Each case study is illustrated with GIS maps and perspectives Specific solutions to the environmental problems that will be intensified by climate change are presented Water City describes adaptation strategies to help practitioners in the urban landscape tackle these issues and make our cities better places to live This practical guide is a key read for professionals and stakeholders in landscape architecture urban design planning and all those interested in how climate change will affect the future of our cities

Environmental Concerns and Sustainable Development Vertika Shukla,Narendra Kumar,2019-07-03 The prevailing global environmental crisis is primarily because of non standardized parameters for environmental regulation Unplanned expansion of economic activities consideration for environmental conservation and several associated problems are emerging due to degradation in quality of ambient environment such as clean air safe drinking water and quality of food particularly in developing nations Due to poor casual execution of EIA protocol newly developing countries are preferred destination for establishing pollution emitting industries which results in degradation and depletion of natural resources Lack of environmental policy intervention is another major attraction for establishing such industries in these nations In order to ensure sustainable development the highest priority issues include the monitoring and eradication of environmental problems which arise due to economic development Initiation of any form of economic development primarily results in loss of forests and thus biodiversity followed by deterioration in quality of air and contamination of natural resources The worst impact of non standardized economic development is the contamination of air water and soil Sustainable development ensures responsible interface with the environment to minimize the depletion or degradation of natural resources and ensure long term environmental quality It involves integrated approaches in understanding the importance of environmental management systems and policy inventions leading to improved environmental performance The present book is proposed to address the environmental concerns associated with economic development and approaches involved to attain sustainable economic development which include monitoring of the quality of air deforestation quality of water resources soil erosion and degradation of the natural environment
