Globalism, Nationalism, Tribalism Paul James, 2006-04-20 Paul James has written a magnificent account of the world's current condition one that highlights the complexities and contradictions with which people, communities and nations must contend and that does so in a compelling and creative style. Stressing the interaction between global and local forces, his writing style is lively and compelling as well as peppered with a wide range of citations from Woman's Day to the Cambodian Daily on the same page. James N. Rosenau, University Professor of International Affairs, The George Washington University, Globalism, Nationalism, Tribalism establishes a new basis for understanding the changing nature of polity and community and offers unprecedented attention to these dominant trends. Paul James charts the contradictions and tensions we all encounter in an era of increasing globalization, from genocide and terrorism to television and finance capital. Globalism is treated as an uneven and layered process of spatial expansion, not simply one of disorder, fragmentation or rupture. Nor is it simply a force of homogenization. Nationalism is taken seriously as a continuing and important formation of contemporary identity and politics. James rewrites the modernist theories of the nation state without devolving into the postmodernist assertion that all is invention or surface gloss. Tribalism is given the attention it has long warranted and is analyzed as a continuing and changing formation of social life, from the villages of Rwanda to the cities of the West. Theoretically adept and powerfully argued, this is the first comprehensive analysis that brings these crucial themes of contemporary life together.

Environment and Planning, 2000. International interdisciplinary journal discussing the relations between Society and Space. Space is broadly conceived, from landscapes of the body to global geographies, from cyberspace to old growth forests, as metaphorical and material, as theoretical construct and empirical fact. Covers both practical politics and the abstractions of social theory.

X Marks the Spot Megan A. Norcia, 2010-03-30. During the nineteenth century, geography primers shaped the worldviews of Britain's ruling classes and laid the foundation for an increasingly globalized world. Written by middle-class women who mapped the world that they had neither funds nor freedom to traverse, the primers employed rhetorical tropes such as the Family of Man or discussions of food and customs in order to plot other cultures along an imperial hierarchy. Cross-disciplinary in nature, X Marks the Spot is an analysis of previously unknown material that examines the interplay between gender, imperial duty and pedagogy. Megan A. Norcia offers an alternative map for traversing the landscape of nineteenth-century female history by reintroducing the primers into the dominant historical record. This is the first full-length study of the genre as a distinct tradition of writing produced on the fringes of professional geographic discourse before the high imperial period.

Routledge Handbook of the Global South in Sport for Development and Peace Billy Graeff, Simona Šafaříková, Lin Cherurbai Sambili-Gicheha, 2024-07-18. This book explores the field of Sport for Development and Peace (SDP), putting Global South voices and perspectives at the centre of the analysis. Covering a wide range of thematic and methodological areas that inform existing and emerging discourses in SDP, it represents an unparalleled resource for researchers and practitioners working in this area. Arranged into geographical sections covering Africa, Asia, South America, North America and Oceania, the book presents original research in Global South countries or by Global South researchers and practitioners sometimes in collaboration with colleagues from the Global North. It highlights practices and theories created, developed, interpreted and reinterpreted by people who belong to the communities where these sporting experiences have been taking place and whose critical reflections and experiences have yet to gain attention in international academic and practitioner communities in the English language. The book presents the views of diverse stakeholders, programme participants, promoters, coaching staff, volunteers, researchers, teachers, lecturers and other actors that have been difficult to access for researchers who do not usually speak languages other than English. A landmark publication in the field of SDP, this book is essential reading for any advanced student, research practitioner or policy maker with an interest in the value of sport in international development. (In)Hospitable Encounters in Chicanx and Latinx Literature, Culture, and Thought Maria Antònia Oliver-Rotger, Pere Gifra-Adroher, 2024-10-17. This volume addresses the notion of in-hospitality in the culture, literature and thought of Chicanx and Latinx in the United States. It underscores those stranger others against whom nativist fear and state violence are directed: undocumented migrants, refugees and asylum seekers. Critical analyses focus on the topics of immigration and state violence, hospitality in written and visual narratives and the role of hospitality in the translation of academic and literary works. All essays explore the conditional character of hospitality towards Chicanx and Latinx and its attending myths and discourses. Dwelling on the predicament that individuals and groups face as strangers, unwelcome guests and unwilling hosts, the essays also explore the ways in which Chicanx and Latinx writers, artists and filmmakers may or may not challenge the guest-host relationship. The ethical concern that runs through the volume considers material history and the institutional disciplinary regulation of the uncertainty of hospitality acts as factors determining the narratives about foreign others. Keywords for Latina/o Studies Deborah R. Vargas, Nancy Raquel Mirabal, Lawrence La Fountain-Stokes, 2017-12. 2018 Outstanding Academic Title given by CHOICE Magazine. Introduces key terms, concepts, debates and histories for Latinx Studies. Keywords for Latina/o Studies is a generative text that enhances the ongoing dialogue within a rapidly growing and changing field. The keywords included in this collection represent established and emergent terms, categories and concepts that undergird Latina/o studies; they delineate the shifting contours of a field best thought of as an intellectual imaginary and experiential project of social and cultural identities within the US academy. Bringing together 63 essays from humanists, historians, anthropologists, sociologists among others, each focused on a single term, the volume reveals the broad range of the field while also illuminating the tensions and contestations surrounding issues of language, politics and histories of colonization specific to this area of study. From borderlands to migration, from citizenship to mestizaje, this accessible volume will be informative for those who are new to Latina/o studies, providing them with a mapping of the current debates and a trajectory of the development of the field, as well as being a valuable resource for scholars to expand their knowledge and critical engagement with the dynamic transformations in the field. Spatializing the History of Ecology Raf de Bont, Jens Lachmund, 2017-06-26. This book advances a spatial perspective on the history of ecology Intrigued by broader debates in the humanities on the spatial turn the authors contribute to a more explicit and systematic development of spatial thinking in the history of ecology exploring to which extent a spatial perspective can shed new light on the history of ecological science and using ecology as a critical site to gain broader insights into the history of the environment in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries

Habitations of Modernity Dipesh Chakrabarty, 2002-07-15 In Habitations of Modernity Dipesh Chakrabarty explores the complexities of modernism in India and seeks principles of humaneness grounded in everyday life that may elude grand political theories The questions that motivate Chakrabarty are shared by all postcolonial historians and anthropologists How do we think about the legacy of the European Enlightenment in lands far from Europe in geography or history How can we envision ways of being modern that speak to what is shared around the world as well as to cultural diversity How do we resist the tendency to justify the violence accompanying triumphalist moments of modernity Chakrabarty pursues these issues in a series of closely linked essays ranging from a history of the influential Indian series Subaltern Studies to examinations of specific cultural practices in modern India such as the use of khadi Gandhian style of dress by male politicians and the politics of civic consciousness in public spaces He concludes with considerations of the ethical dilemmas that arise when one writes on behalf of social justice projects
