divine providence it were predestined to be driven toward a certain end how could people adjust their individual lives to the incognizable universal design and react to the obscure future fraught with both luck and failure These questions which have occupied humanity for centuries formed a remarkable element of early modern European thought This collection of essays presents new insights into what shaped and constituted reflections on fate and fortune between roughly 1400 and 1650 both in word and image This volume argues that these ideas were emblematic of a more fundamental argument about the self society and the universe and shows that their influence was more widespread geographically and thematically than hitherto assumed Contributors Damiano Acciarino Ovanes Akopyan Elisabeth Blum Paul Richard Blum Jo Coture Guido Giglioni Dalia Judovitz Sophie Raux Orlando Reade and John Sellars The New York Times Theater Reviews, 1920- ,1973 The Dictionary of Universal Information.
