liefdes schijnbewegingen

Remco Campert (1929-1992) was a Dutch poet, writer, and journalist. He is best known for his collection of poems, "Liefdes schijnbewegingen" (Love's Apparent Movements), which was published in 1971. The book is a collection of 100 poems, many of which are love poems. The title "Liefdes schijnbewegingen" is a play on words, as "schijnbewegingen" can also mean "apparent movements" or "decoy movements".

The book is divided into two main sections: "Liefdes schijnbewegingen" and "Liefdes schijnbewegingen". The first section contains 50 poems, and the second section contains 50 poems. The poems are written in a simple, direct style, and they often deal with themes of love, desire, and the human condition. The book is considered one of the most important works of Dutch poetry in the 20th century.

Remco Campert's poetry is characterized by its clarity and its focus on the human experience. He often writes about the complexities of love and the human condition, and he does so in a way that is both accessible and profound. His poetry is a testament to the power of language to explore the deepest aspects of the human soul.
